Tonight May Be Colder

Sub-Zero Cold Wave Chills Area With No Relief Seen

A sub-zero cold wave that gripped the district in the wake of winter's heaviest snowstorm may produce still lower temperatures tonight with indications the Arctic-like blasts may last through Christmas.

Biting winds accompanied the sharp drop in temperature to an official 6 below zero in rural Columbiana County.

The Ohio Valley had 2 below and unofficial readings were 8 below at Fredericktown and minus 5 in Glenmoor early today. The downtown had 2 above. Wellsville listed an unofficial 5 below. The Lisbon water works reported 7 below.

At East Palestine, a reading of 5 below was reported, while a 12 below was recorded by a Negley resident.

Dam 7 at Midland recorded the official plunge of the mercury, from a late-afternoon reading of 16 to 5 at midnight, then on down about a degree hourly to the zero mark at 6, with a further drop to 2 below at 8 a. m.

Edwin Copeland, who recorded 6 below this morning for the lowest mark since January 1959, said that for the first time in many years creeks and streams are frozen "to the bottom."

He attributed this to the extended drought conditions and said ordinarily a farmer can chip through surface ice of as much as 18 inches to reach creek water for his stock. But the streams are so shallow from the dry spell that what water remains is frozen solid.

This year may end as the next-to-the-driest in records going back 65 years. There has been 28.93 inches of precipitation so far with about an inch more from Tuesday's snowstorm. The all - time record for a dry year was set in 1908 with a total of 27.58 inches.

The U. S. weather observer at Millport said the most recent previous low was the 12 below of January 1959. December of 1958 had other frigid marks with 17 and 18 below on successive days and zero or below on 11 nights December a year ago had 1 above on the 22nd but that was a relatively mild winter.

There were two other below-zero readings this month—minus 1 on the 1st and minus 2 on the 20th.

The district got by without additional snow—2 to 4 more inches had been forecast—but a skim covered the snow remaining from the earlier storm, and the Ohio weatherman had predicted a possible low of 4 degrees above last night.

Tonight, he expects a low of zero to 5 above and it will continue cold Friday with more snow flurries. Occasional flurries were predicted today, along with the biting winds of 10 to 15-mph.

The frigid wave brought more trouble to motorists already bucking snowy streets and roads. Many were unable to start their cars and service stations had a rush of calls.

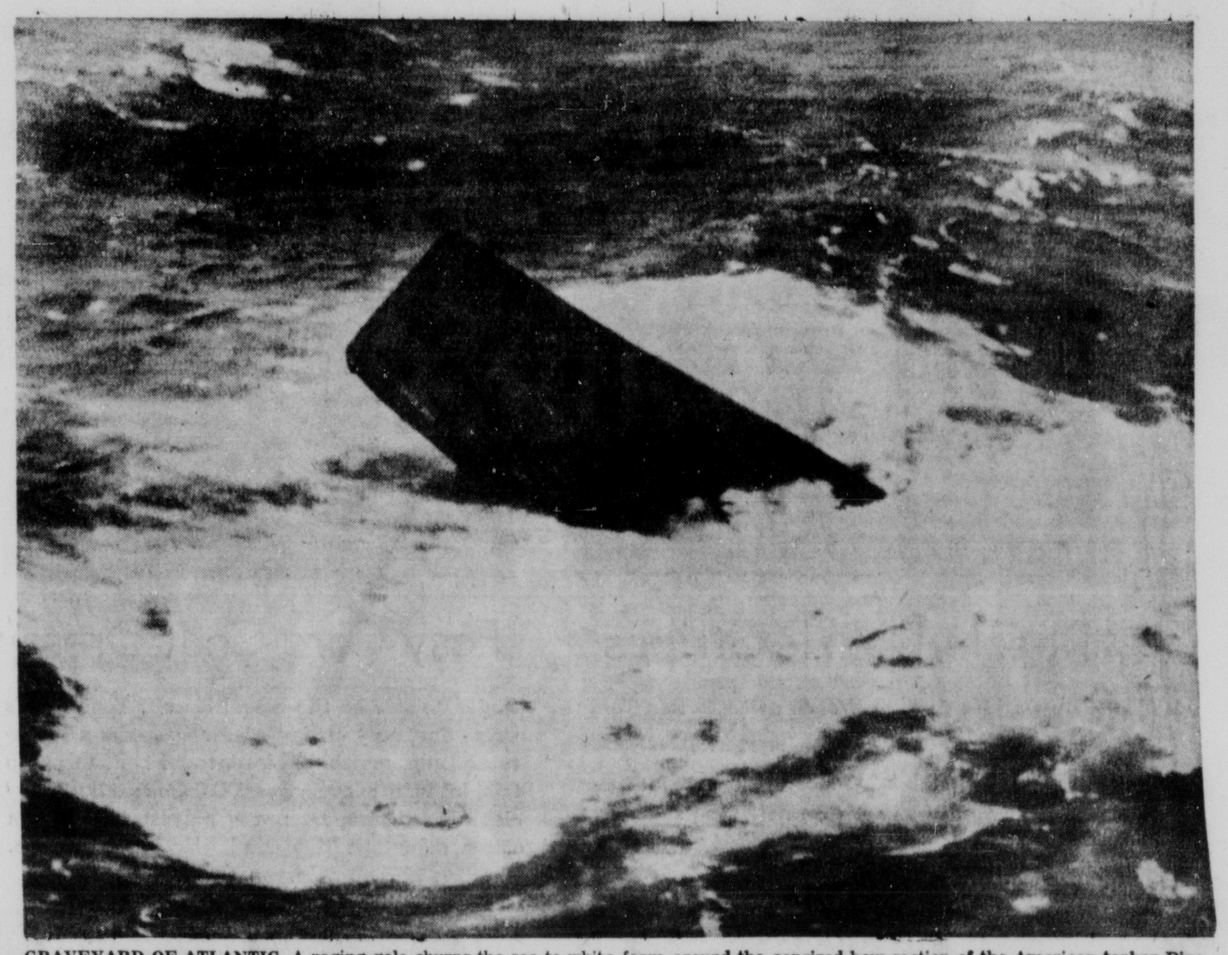
8 From Broken Tanker Rescued By Navy Copters



GRAVEYARD OF ATLANTIC. A raging gale churns the sea to white foam around the capsized bow section of the American tanker Pine Ridge after a storm broke the vessel in half Wednesday morning 100 miles off Cape Hatteras, N. 20 Others Reported In No Danger

Breakup Occurred 100 Miles East Of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Helicopters from the Navy's aircraft carrier Valley Forge today plucked eight crewmen from the stern section of the broken American tanker Pine Ridge.

Twenty other survivors of Wednesday's breakup of the 10,417-ton ship 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C., were reported safe and in no immediate danger aboard the floating afterpart of the vessel.

The Navy at Washington released the names of the rescued men and said the Valley Forge reported rescue operations were continuing. Earlier, however, Atlantic Fleet headquarters here announced the pickup of four men, including an injured crewman, and said the operation had been suspended temporarily because of the hazard.

Aircraft and surface ships searched the area for five men spilled into the sea when the Pine Ridge broke her back in mountainous seas. The Valley Forge said no survivors were found in the water.

The first man removed from the 175-foot long stern section was Everett Bell, Jacksonville, Fla. The Navy reported he suffered "severe lacerations of the right upper arm but his condition is good." Bell was the third assistant engineer.

The Navy listed the other men rescued as fireman Bonnevill Pratt, New York City; oiler James C. Lewis, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Chester Reed, Corpus Christi, Tex.; Robert George Gill, Monterey, Mexico; Frank Albert Borel, Port Arthur, Tex.; I. H. Hulsey, Corpus Christi, Tex., and Jacinto S. Dasilua, a Portuguese.

The Valley Forge reported to the Navy Department that possibly five other men had been picked up by helicopters but not yet ferried to the carrier.

The Valley Forge steamed through surging seas to the scene from off the coast of Florida, a distance of more than 200 miles. Her first helicopter was launched at 6:45 a.m. today, piloted by Comdr. Robert L. Close of Cincinnati, Ohio. He spotted no survivors in the water and then began the ticklish business of picking survivors off the floating stern.

The Coast Guard cutter Chilula reported the stern and capsized

Kennedy Sets Parley On Aid To Education

Also Calls Team Of Talent Scouts About Important Positions

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President - elect John F. Kennedy booked a conference today on federal aid to education.

He also called in his team of talent scouts for discussion of prospective appointees to key government jobs.

The conference Kennedy arranged on education legislation is with Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., a member of the House Committee on Education and Labor.

The president-elect is committed to urge the new Congress, convening Jan. 3, to approve a program combining funds for classroom construction, with legislation to help pay teachers' salaries.

After a meeting here Tuesday with Kennedy, House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas indicated the teachers' salary aspect of the program—opposed by the Eisenhower administration—may meet some influential Democratic opposition at the Capitol next year.

Reflecting the hesitancy, and in some cases outright condemnation by Democrats of a salary-paying policy, Rayburn expressed the view the Kennedy regime should concentrate first on providing more classrooms. He said the

Icy Air Grips Most Of U.S.; 55 Fatalities

By The Associated Press

A huge mass of icy air enveloped much of the country today from the eastern Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. Dixie got its chilliest weather of the year.

The cold came in the wake of a heavy snowstorm on the first day of winter which left a blanket of white across wide areas.

Not much relief from the cold in the eastern half of the country was in prospect immediately.

At least 55 deaths were blamed on the snowy, cold and blustery weather. Ohio alone counted 25 deaths, 24 due to overexertion while shoveling snow. Other storm deaths included 8 in Illinois, 5 in Michigan, 4 each in Kentucky, Missouri, New York and Indiana and 1 in West Virginia.

It was much colder in Atlanta this morning than in Anchorage, Alaska, as the mercury dipped to 13 above in the Georgia metropolis. At the same time it was 28 in Anchorage.

The cold air covered parts of northwest Florida, with a reading of 29 in Gainesville. It was freezing in Daytona Beach and a cool 45 in Miami.

Gale-force winds broke in half the 10,417-ton tanker Pine Ridge about 100 miles east of Cape Hatteras, the storied graveyard of the Atlantic. The tanker carried a crew of 39.

House, Courts Reject Davis' Tax Hike Bid

Louisiana Assembly Leaders Undecided About Next Move

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Administration leaders were undecided today whether to press for a new House vote on a controversial sales tax raise, designed to aid segregated schools, after their efforts were rebuffed in both the legislature and the federal courts.

The House Wednesday turned back the $28 million tax hike, which would lift the statewide sales tax from two to three per cent for the first eight months of 1961. The vote in favor was 65-36, three short of the necessary two-thirds.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis proposed the tax raise to support the state's grant in aid program for private schools.

Speculation was the measure would either be brought up for another vote on reconsideration when the House meets this morning, or it would be held over while the legislature takes a long Christmas and New Year's holiday. The Senate also meets today.

Minutes before the House vote, a three-judge federal panel in New Orleans cited Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock and two other state officials for contempt and ordered New Orleans banks to honor checks of the embattled Orleans Parish School Board.

Car Rebounds Off Berm And Causes Crash

Forced onto the berm by an unidentified motorst, a car rebounded and struck an oncoming auto Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 on St. George St. near Ralstons Crossing, police said.

The mishap involved a 1961 model compact owned by Litten Motor Sales, 520 Broadway, and driven by Don Hull, 66, of Monticello Pl. and a 1957 car operated by Helen Rose Blackburn, 26, of 162 Center St., officers reported.

Hull told police he was driving west on St. George St. when he was forced onto the berm by an unidentified car. Then his auto slid into the eastbound car operated by the woman driver, he said.

There was damage to the left front fender and headlight rim of the 1961 car and the left front fender and door, rear quarter panel and bumper of the 1957 model, police said.

Another collision on E. 3rd St. near Walnut St. at 4:50 p. m. yesterday damaged a 1959 two-door sedan operated by Ronald Jack McDaniel, 34, of 973 Ohio Ave. and a 1958 two-door driven by Laurin Guy Baxter, 58, of Ridge Ave., New Cumberland, police said.

McDaniel said he was halted in a line of traffic when his car was hit from the rear by Baxter's.

Meanwhile, Virginia Kirkbride, 414 E. 4th St.. told police Wednesday the rear of her 1953 two-door sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle Tuesday night or early Wednesday while it was parked on E. 4th St.

Snow Cleanup Work Pushed

Crews Will Resume Hauling Job Tonight

Street department crews removed tons of snow Wednesday night and early today from curbside parking spaces in the business district, then knocked off work when the traffic rush began this morning, scheduled to resume tonight.

Working through the night in temperatures that hovered around zero, the crews cleared the deep mounds of snow along both sides of E. and W. 5th Sts. between Broadway and Jackson St. and started work on the next stage—E. and W. 6th Sts., also between Broadway and Jackson.

Parked cars and traffic brought the major snow removal work to a virtual standstill this morning, but crews continued on other phases of the post-storm cleanup.

Ashes will be spread in many sections where snow has been packed into a hard layer resembling ice, Supt. W. M. Laughlin said. Few ashes were spread yesterday because the snow was so deep they would have had little effect.

Tonight's work, in addition to the section of 6th St. that remains to be cleared, calls for snow removal on sections of Washington St., St. Clair Ave. and Broadway and the Diamond.

The snow removal got under way last night about 11. Two street department scrapers moved along the curb, shoving the heavy accumulation toward the center of the street. Then two high lifts and shovel crews loaded the snow into trucks to be hauled away.

All Hope Given Up For Nine In Bomber Crash

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Hope was abandoned today for all nine men aboard a U. S. Navy bomber after several bodies were recovered near wreckage of the aircraft 17 miles off the southeast tip of Newfoundland.

The P2V Neptune crashed in clear weather Wednesday while taking part in a fleet exercise off Cape Race.

One of those aboard was Aviation Machinist Mate 3.C. Lee C. Ashburn, son of Mrs. Betty P. Ashburn, N. Washington St. Utica, Ohio.

The freighter American Clipper picked up two bodies after finding a wingtank and the tail section of the plane. The bodies were transferred to the Canadian icebreaker Wolfe, which was to bring them to St. John's. They were to be sent to the U.S. Navy base at Argentia for identification.

An empty life raft and a life preserver were found near the wreckage. The Navy said the air-sea search was continuing but there was no hope of survivors in the frigid seas.

Soldier Dies In Cliff Fall

Funeral Is Pending For Hancock Youth

NEW CUMBERLAND — Spec. 4 William C. McQuiston, 22, of New Cumberland, was killed Tuesday night in a 60-foot fall from a cliff near the southeastern Arizona Army post of Ft. Huachuca.

An Army spokesman said Spcl. McQuiston and a companion, Morris Watson, were on a mountain climbing expedition when the victim slipped.

Watson, a civilian technical representative at the fort, reported the accident to police at nearby Sierra Vista and led a search party into the mountains to recover the body.

Spcl. McQuiston was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus C. McQuiston of Ridge Ave.

He was born here April 11, 1938, and was graduated from the New Cumberland High School in 1956. Before enlisting in the Army Sept. 3, 1958, he drove a truck for the Phillips Stamping Co. He was a member of the Point Pleasant Methodist Church of R. D. 1.

Besides his parents, he leaves his paternal grandfather, John Carl McQuiston of Akron.

$500 In VFW Post Receipts In Car Stolen

Case Of Whisky Also Taken As Robber Breaks Into Vehicle

A thief obtained between $400 and $500 in cash and checks early today when he broke into the parked car of an official of a veterans' organization, also obtaining a case of whisky, a carton of Christmas candy and other merchandise.

The money, representing receipts at Pvt. Eddy Post 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was taken between 1:30 and 6:20 from the 1959 station wagon of Harry Simpson, 830 Chester Ave., which was parked in front of his home.

Simpson, quartermaster of the post, said the loot was mostly in cash, representing dues and other receipts. There were three or four checks, he added.

The loot also included a case of whisky valued at $56.22, a carton of holiday candy worth $8, a new speaker which Simpson had purchased for his high fidelity set and a pair of overshoes.

Simpson said the thief broke the left front vent window of his auto and then reached through the opening to unlock the door. Although he parked the car at midnight, Simpson did not go to bed until about 1:30. He said the theft apparently occurred between that time and 6:20 this morning.

The thief also took a night depository bag stamped with the name of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., but it contained only a deposit receipt. The money and checks, along with records, were in a box.

Simpson said he worked on the

Man's Body Recovered In Beaver Falls Blaze

BEAVER FALLS — The body of the elderly owner of the Dillon Building on 7th Ave. was recovered about 10:30 this morning after he perished in a blaze which firemen fought in near zero temperature.

Dallas Dillon, in his mid-70's, died in the fire which started about 6 a. m.. and took 3 hours to quell. Mr. Dillon apparently was trapped after going back into the building for his possession. Occupants of upstairs apartments got out in time.

The two-story brick also housed a dry cleaning store and a photography shop. No estimate was given of damages but they are expected to be several thousand dollars.

Firemen were covered with ice.

In Worst Air Disaster

Jet Off Course, Recordings Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio tapes show that a United Air Lines jet streaked off course just before colliding with a Trans World airliner over Staten Island, but the recordings offer no clue as to why.

The tapes released Wednesday by the Federal Aviation Agency disclose that the La Guardia field controller tried, but failed, to reach the TWA Super Constelation after warning it of the approaching jet.

An instant later came the voice of the radar-scanning La Guardia controller saying: "I think we have trouble here with a TWA Connie. There's something wrong! He's not moving or anything. He might have got hit by another airplane."

Last Friday's crash was the worst in aviation history. The TWA craft went down in flames on Staten Island. The United jet crashed 11 miles away into a crowded Brooklyn area.

In Washington Wednesday night FAA Administrator E. R. Quesada said the Preston holding stack—where planes circle while waiting to land—and the Idlewild radar were working normally at the time of the crash. The jet was headed for Idlewild, while the TWA plane was being brought into La Guardia.

Quesada said Idlewild's approach control was "prepared and ready" to guide the jet into the airport but could not locate the DC8 in or near the pattern to which it had been assigned.

Federal authorities previously had said the jet—Flight 826—was about 11 miles off course when it collided with TWA's Flight 266.

The recordings also disclosed that, with the TWA plane gone from the radarscope, La Guardia called Idlewild: "This is La Guardia. I think we've got an emergency. Nobody declared anything but who is that jet or fast-moving aircraft that went from Preston toward Flatbush (in Brooklyn)?"

"From Preston toward Flatbush?" Idlewild asked.

"Yes, he's at Flatbush right now," said La Guardia.

Chicago Meeting Set Dec. 31

FBI Chief Says U.S. Reds Plan National Youth Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said today that "at this very moment, the Communists are completing final arrangements for a conference to be held in Chicago beginning Dec. 31 . . . to formulate plans for a new national youth organization."

The Communist party, U.S.A., remains the largest subversive organization in the United States, Hoover said in a yearend report on FBI activities to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Hoover did not elaborate on his announcement about the Chicago meeting. But an FBI spokesman said there were indications the session would draw a substantial attendance of representatives from various areas of the Communist party. He declined to give other information on the meeting.

Hoover said that under the leadership of Moscow-trained Gus Hall the U. S. Communist party has strengthened ties with the Soviet Union and with Communists in Cuba and elsewhere.

The new national youth organization, Hoover said, "will be clandestinely directed by party members." He said the U. S. party has started a new publication. New Horizons for Youth, under editorial direction of its national youth director, identified by the FBI as Daniel Rubin of New York.

"In addition," Hoover said, "the Communists hope to repeat the success which they achieved on the West Coast last May in spearheading mob demonstrations by college students and other young people against a committee of Congress."

Chester Man Named Special Police Officer

Council Fills Post Vacated By Cowey For Sheriff Deputy

Audley Campbell of Plutus Ave., Chester, was named a special police office by Chester Council Wednesday night at the City Hall.

Campbell, former special officer, succeeds Rex Cowey, who recently resigned to become a Hancock County sheriff deputy. Campbell will work only in emergencies or when otherwise required and will not have regular duties.

He was one of four applicants. Others were Kenneth Williams, George Cowey and John Owen.

The Chester Hi-Teen requested George Cowey as special officer for the weekly Hi-Teen sessions, agreeing to pay his bond, so Council authorized him to serve.

Council also authorized Police Chief Harold Davis to collect all city police equipment now held by previous special officers.

Davis reported new police department forms were delivered yesterday by the Chester Printing Co. and will be used starting Jan. 1. The new forms — for crime reports, daily reports and arrest forms — will replace the present note and card system in use for many years.

Council established hours for barricading Indiana Ave. between

Hull told police he was driving west on St. George St. when he was forced onto the berm by an unidentified car. Then his auto slid into the eastbound car operated by the woman driver, he said.

There was damage to the left front fender and headlight rim of the 1961 car and the left front fender and door, rear quarter panel and bumper of the 1957 model, police said.

Another collision on E. 3rd St. near Walnut St. at 4:50 p. m. yesterday damaged a 1959 two-door sedan operated by Ronald Jack McDaniel, 34, of 973 Ohio Ave. and a 1958 two-door driven by Laurin Guy Baxter, 58, of Ridge Ave., New Cumberland, police said.

McDaniel said he was halted in a line of traffic when his car was hit from the rear by Baxter's.

Meanwhile, Virginia Kirkbride, 414 E. 4th St., told police Wednesday the rear of her 1953 two-door sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle Tuesday night or early Wednesday while it was parked on E. 4th St.

Snow Cleanup Work Pushed

Crews Will Resume Hauling Job Tonight

Street department crews removed tons of snow Wednesday night and early today from curbside parking spaces in the business district, then knocked off work when the traffic rush began this morning, scheduled to resume tonight.

Working through the night in temperatures that hovered around zero, the crews cleared the deep mounds of snow along both sides of E. and W. 5th Sts. between Broadway and Jackson St. and started work on the next stage—E. and W. 6th Sts., also between Broadway and Jackson.

Parked cars and traffic brought the major snow removal work to a virtual standstill this morning, but crews continued on other phases of the post-storm cleanup.

Ashes will be spread in many sections where snow has been packed into a hard layer resembling ice, Supt. W. M. Laughlin said. Few ashes were spread yesterday because the snow was so deep they would have had little effect.

Tonight's work, in addition to the section of 6th St. that remains to be cleared, calls for snow removal on sections of Washington St., St. Clair Ave. and Broadway and the Diamond.

The snow removal got under way last night about 11. Two street department scrapers moved along the curb, shoving the heavy accumulation toward the center of the street. Then two high lifts and shovel crews loaded the snow into trucks to be hauled away.

All Hope Given Up For Nine In Bomber Crash

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Hope was abandoned today for all nine men aboard a U. S. Navy bomber after several bodies were recovered near wreckage of the aircraft 17 miles off the southeast tip of Newfoundland.

The P2V Neptune crashed in clear weather Wednesday while taking part in a fleet exercise off Cape Race.

One of those aboard was Aviation Machinist Mate 3.C. Lee C. Ashburn, son of Mrs. Betty P. Ashburn, N. Washington St. Utica, Ohio.

The freighter American Clipper picked up two bodies after finding a wingtank and the tail section of the plane. The bodies were transferred to the Canadian icebreaker Wolfe, which was to bring them to St. John's. They were to be sent to the U.S. Navy base at Argentia for identification.

An empty life raft and a life preserver were found near the wreckage. The Navy said the air-sea search was continuing but there was no hope of survivors in the frigid seas.

3 Killed, 20 Injured

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Three persons were killed and more than 20 seriously injured Wednesday night in a train wreck at Jaszczow, near Lublin. The Polish news agency Pap reported a freight crashed into the rear of a passenger train and the two rear passenger coaches were crushed.

Soldier Dies In Cliff Fall

Funeral Is Pending For Hancock Youth

NEW CUMBERLAND — Spec. 4 William C. McQuiston, 22, of New Cumberland, was killed Tuesday night in a 60-foot fall from a cliff near the southeastern Arizona Army post of Ft. Huachuca.

An Army spokesman said Spcl. McQuiston and a companion, Morris Watson, were on a mountain climbing expedition when the victim slipped.

Watson, a civilian technical representative at the fort, reported the accident to police at nearby Sierra Vista and led a search party into the mountains to recover the body.

Spcl. McQuiston was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus C. McQuiston of Ridge Ave.

He was born here April 11, 1938, and was graduated from the New Cumberland High School in 1956. Before enlisting in the Army Sept. 3, 1958, he drove a truck for the Phillips Stamping Co. He was a member of the Point Pleasant Methodist Church of R. D. 1.

Besides his parents, he leaves his paternal grandfather, John Carl McQuiston of Akron.

The Turley Funeral Home is arranging services.

Case Of Whisky Also Taken As Robber Breaks Into Vehicle

A thief obtained between $400 and $500 in cash and checks early today when he broke into the parked car of an official of a veterans' organization, also obtaining a case of whisky, a carton of Christmas candy and other merchandise.

The money, representing receipts at Pvt. Eddy Post 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was taken between 1:30 and 6:20 from the 1959 station wagon of Harry Simpson, 830 Chester Ave., which was parked in front of his home.

Simpson, quartermaster of the post, said the loot was mostly in cash, representing dues and other receipts. There were three or four checks, he added.

The loot also included a case of whisky valued at $56.22, a carton of holiday candy worth $8, a new speaker which Simpson had purchased for his high fidelity set and a pair of overshoes.

Simpson said the thief broke the left front vent window of his auto and then reached through the opening to unlock the door. Although he parked the car at midnight, Simpson did not go to bed until about 1:30. He said the theft apparently occurred between that time and 6:20 this morning.

The thief also took a night depository bag stamped with the name of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., but it contained only a deposit receipt. The money and checks, along with records, were in a box.

Simpson said he worked on the

Man's Body Recovered In Beaver Falls Blaze

BEAVER FALLS — The body of the elderly owner of the Dillon Building on 7th Ave. was recovered about 10:30 this morning after he perished in a blaze which firemen fought in near zero temperature.

Dallas Dillon, in his mid-70's, died in the fire which started about 6 a. m.. and took 3 hours to quell. Mr. Dillon apparently was trapped after going back into the building for his possession. Occupants of upstairs apartments got out in time.

The two-story brick also housed a dry cleaning store and a photography shop. No estimate was given of damages but they are expected to be several thousand dollars.

Firemen were covered with ice.

Jet Off Course, Recordings Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio tapes show that a United Air Lines jet streaked off course just before colliding with a Trans World airliner over Staten Island, but the recordings offer no clue as to why.

The tapes released Wednesday by the Federal Aviation Agency disclose that the La Guardia field controller tried, but failed, to reach the TWA Super Constelation after warning it of the approaching jet.

An instant later came the voice of the radar-scanning La Guardia controller saying: "I think we have trouble here with a TWA Connie. There's something wrong! He's not moving or anything. He might have got hit by another airplane."

Last Friday's crash was the worst in aviation history. The TWA craft went down in flames on Staten Island. The United jet crashed 11 miles away into a crowded Brooklyn area.

In Washington Wednesday night FAA Administrator E. R. Quesada said the Preston holding stack —where planes circle while waiting to land—and the Idlewild radar were working normally at the time of the crash. The jet was headed for Idlewild, while the TWA plane was being brought into La Guardia.

Quesada said Idlewild's approach control was "prepared and ready" to guide the jet into the airport but could not locate the DC8 in or near the pattern to which it had been assigned.

Federal authorities previously had said the jet—Flight 826—was about 11 miles off course when it collided with TWA's Flight 266.

The recordings also disclosed that, with the TWA plane gone from the radarscope, La Guardia called Idlewild: "This is La Guardia. I think we've got an emergency. Nobody declared anything but who is that jet or fast-moving aircraft that went from Preston toward Flatbush (in Brooklyn)?"

"From Preston toward Flatbush?" Idlewild asked.

"Yes, he's at Flatbush right now," said La Guardia.

FBI Chief Says U.S. Reds Plan National Youth Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover said today that "at this very moment, the Communists are completing final arrangements for a conference to be held in Chicago beginning Dec. 31 . . . to formulate plans for a new national youth organization."

The Communist party, U.S.A., remains the largest subversive organization in the United States, Hoover said in a yearend report on FBI activities to Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

Hoover did not elaborate on his announcement about the Chicago meeting. But an FBI spokesman said there were indications the session would draw a substantial attendance of representatives from various areas of the Communist party. He declined to give other information on the meeting.

Hoover said that under the leadership of Moscow-trained Gus Hall the U. S. Communist party has strengthened ties with the Soviet Union and with Communists in Cuba and elsewhere.

The new national youth organization, Hoover said, "will be clandestinely directed by party members." He said the U. S. party has started a new publication. New Horizons for Youth, under editorial direction of its national youth director, identified by the FBI as Daniel Rubin of New York.

"In addition," Hoover said, "the Communists hope to repeat the success which they achieved on the West Coast last May in spearheading mob demonstrations by college students and other young people against a committee of Congress."

Chester Man Named Special Police Officer

Council Fills Post Vacated By Cowey For Sheriff Deputy

Audley Campbell of Plutus Ave., Chester, was named a special police office by Chester Council Wednesday night at the City Hall.

Campbell, former special officer, succeeds Rex Cowey, who recently resigned to become a Hancock County sheriff deputy. Campbell will work only in emergencies or when otherwise required and will not have regular duties.

He was one of four applicants. Others were Kenneth Williams, George Cowey and John Owen.

The Chester Hi-Teen requested George Cowey as special officer for the weekly Hi-Teen sessions, agreeing to pay his bond, so Council authorized him to serve.

Council also authorized Police Chief Harold Davis to collect all city police equipment now held by previous special officers.

Davis reported new police department forms were delivered yesterday by the Chester Printing Co. and will be used starting Jan. 1. The new forms — for crime reports, daily reports and arrest forms — will replace the present note and card system in use for many years.

Council established hours for barricading Indiana Ave. between

Some Mill Departments To Be Down For Week

During the holiday closing at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., the tentative work schedule calls for the open hearth department, melting facilities, blooming and conditioning units to go down Saturday, Christmas Eve, and start up Jan. 3 after New Year's.

The plant's hot strip and cold strip rolling mills and most finishing facilities will go down Friday and start up Tuesday, a spokesman said today, clarifying a previous announcement.

New Approach To Investigative Power

The U. S. Supreme Courts decision upholding the immunity section of the 1956 narcotics law represents a milestone in the rocky road toward effective criminal investigation with simultaneous protection of individual liberty.

The court has put its stamp of approval on a method of getting around the barrier of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which protects an individual from being forced to give testimony that might make him subject to criminal prosecution.

A route around the Fifth Amendment has been sought because no one who supports the constitutional democracy of the United States has been in favor of knocking down the Fifth Amendment. It is an important part of the Bill of Rights and the reasons for its existence go far back in the development of individual liberty in England and this country.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM arose around 1950 when a long list of suspected Communists and criminals were told by their lawyers to rely on the Fifth Amendment to block congressional and grand jury investigations of activities considered hazardous to the national welfare.

While there was general regret that the guilty could hide behind the Fifth Amendment, there was general concern that abolition of its protection could be used indiscriminately against the innocent, which was one of the reasons for its existence in the first place.

The law now upheld by the Supreme Court presents the other side of the Fifth Amendment coin. It provides that an individual may be compelled to testify before a federal grand jury if assured of immunity against either federal or state prosecution on the basis of his testimony.

The decision of which approach to use is left to the investigating body and will be determined by the aim of the investigation. If the probers want to seek the conviction and punishment of a witness for suspected criminal activities, they will have to forego the granting of immunity and permit him to cite the Fifth Amendment if he chooses.

If, on the other hand, the punishment of the witness himself is less important to the investigators than the information he may give them on a bigger problem, they can insist that he testify but forego the right to prosecute him.

THE INVESTIGATORS still are prohibited from forcing him to testify, then bringing him to trial with the testimony he has given, which is what the Fifth Amendment is meant to prohibit.

The case presently involved deals only with narcotics law enforcement, because it arose out of a provision of a specific narcotics law.

But now that the Supreme Court has upheld it, it can be assumed that the new immunity approach will be extended to other fields. It should prove a boon to people charged with fighting crime on the broadest level.

United States Will Protect Itself

Remember the two employes of National Security Agency who ran away to the Soviet Union to betray the United States? Their names were Martin and Mitchell.

They have been heard from again, this time in an interview in Moscow for the Russian press. The United States, they told their new friends in Russia, will continue to spy on the Soviet Union under the Kennedy administration.

They undoubtedly are right about this. If the Kennedy administration did not intend to continue spying on the Soviet Union, it wouldn't have asked Allen W. Dulles to stay on as director of Central Intelligence Agency. Mr. Dulles is a realist and a professional at his job.

It is as certain that the United States will continue to spy on the Soviet Union as it is that the Soviet Union will continue to spy on the United States. But strangely, this turn-about-and-fair-play certainty was too much for partisan critics of the Eisenhower administration to face up to when the Kremlin took the lid off the U2 incident.

These partisans screamed bloody murder. They accused the Eisenhower administration of playing dirty pool. They rent their garments and tore out handfuls of hair. Their yowls and yelps were enough to make the American eagle droop his tail feathers.

The President-elect, himself, made some ill-advised remarks. Chester Bowles, his choice to be undersecretary of State, made some, too. A Year's Work For Sorcerers

The professional sorcerers of Italy have come up with their annual predictions for 1961, and things don't look bad at first glance into the crystal ball.

What with all the hedging the mystics have to go through, however, the picture in depth adds up to some consolations but no real triumphs for humanity in the year ahead.

There will be no world war, the sorcerers say, without commenting on the if, where and when of less-than-world wars.

Nikita Khrushchev, Charles de Gaulle and Fidel Castro are going to have trouble, according to the predictions. Of course, they have been up to their ears in trouble during the past year and the seers don't indicate that the rest of us will have it any easier as a result of that particular trio's woes of 1961.

John F. Kennedy is supposed to have a whirlwind year, which stands to reason, what with his taking over the United States government. The president-elect will also do some things that will cause hostility in conservative circles, which may be the safest of this year's predictions by the Italian crystal-ball gazers.

Old-fashioned as they may seem, the sorcerers indicate they are cognizant of modern developments by saying that progress will continue in the conquest of space. But, courageously putting their reputations for accuracy on the block, they see no chance that anyone will land on the moon in 1961.

One of the nicest aspects of the predictions is that all the prophets are in agreement that some notable people, including a few of the crowned heads of Europe and the Near East, will have babies, and probably boys to boot.

In sum, we can be hopeful about 1961 as long as we don't get too hopeful. As one of the sorcerers said:

"In 1961 peace will endure but there will not be serenity."

What makes this year's predictions distinguishable from other years' predictions is not clear. The suspicion remains that Italian sorcerers have been saying the same sort of thing for centuries.

But a little renewed hope each year never hurt anybody.

"Did you get what you wanted for Christmas?" asked Davie, who was very sleepy. "Not yet," said "Slugs," furtively looking at the loot under the tree. "Did you ask Santa for a gun?" asked the child. "No, but I could have made a mistake," chuckled the thief.

"I asked for a wagon and a toy squad car," said Davie. "You're making me awful nervous," stuttered the burglar.

"I think I hear sleigh bells and reindeer feet away off now," said Davie.

"If the only feet I hear tonight are reindeer's it will be okay by me," groaned "Slugs," whose memory had flashed back to his own boyhood, under the spell of Davie's visit. Suddenly he ignored the loot, and climb out the window, saying, "Shush! I'll go see if it's Santa and speed him up."

Then he scurried across the lawn, exclaiming "On Dancer, on Prancer on Chickenheart, on Softy."

What Is A Presidential Cabinet?

By Raymond Moley

Since President-elect Kennedy has finished his Cabinet making, there is much discussion about what a Cabinet is and what it does. The answers to these questions are in the schoolbooks. The Cabinet as a group advises and informs the president. And the members administer departments with tens of thousands of employes.

But should it be a representative body, and, if so, what should it represent?

This question has never been clearly answered. Nor have presidents and Cabinet members ever given an indication that they are clear about this important question.

The ideal is that Cabinet members represent the United States and all of its people, just as the president and the vice president are supposed to do; but in pactice that ideal has been more and more slighted.

Since the Kennedy regime will be highly practical, the selections now before us move to an extreme never before realized. Party service, regions, and minority groups are represented—especially minority groups.

IT IS TRUE that the growth of the Cabinet since Washington has to a degree invited this sort of representation. In the beginning, there were four members—state, treasury, army, and attorney general. It was a selection of distinguished men: Jefferson, Hamilton, General Henry Knox, and Edmund Randolph. In 1789, there was added navy; in 1829, postmaster general; in 1849, interior, in 1889, agriculture; in 1903, commerce and labor; in 1913, labor; and in 1953, health, education and welfare.

If some zealots have their way, there will be secretaries of peace, culture, senior citizens, urban affairs, and possibly of chiropractors, and auctioneers.

Despite repeated expressions of admiration for Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sen. Kennedy has not followed that President's example. For in the rather below-average Cabinet assembled in 1933 many considerations other than representation of minority groups prevailed. Party service brought the award of the postmaster generalship. That had been a custom before. But the rest hardly represented any pattern at all.

The Eisenhower Cabinet represented party service in two posts, and for Labor a genuine union head was chosen. The latter choice proved to be unfortunate.

IN THE CABINET, labor will be represented by one of its most prominent employes, Arthur J. Goldberg.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman carries to the Department of Agriculture his thorough adherence to the radical farm views of the Farmers' Union.

His intellectual and policy mentor has been Dr. Willard Cochrane of the University of Minnesota, a Kennedy adviser in the campaign and reputed major architect of the Democratic farm program.

Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona rates in the voting score 96 per cent extreme "liberal." This is especially true of his support of public power development. He will be policymaker in the Interior Department.

Eagerly seeking the undersecretaryship in that department is Clyde Ellis, powerful lobbyist for federal power.

Since the great Negro blocs in the large cities played such an important part in the election, they were recognized in the offer of the postmaster generalship to Rep. William L. Dawson, boss of the big First District in Chicago.

The selection of Robert Kennedy for attorney general recognizes not only brotherly love but Robert's capacity as a party organizer and his knowledge of where patronage should go later. There is nothing in his legal career to merit the most important law office in the nation.

Gov. Luther Hodges, having been a businessman but also an ardent Kennedy supporter, is presumably intended to represent business and employers' interests.

If these are to represent some of us, who will represent all of us?

Lot Less Talking, Traveling

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A lot less talking and a lot less traveling.

Those will probably be two basic differences between the way the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles handled foreign affairs and the way Dean Rusk, who will take office as secretary next January, will do his job.

There's another: Rusk appears to be more of a teamplayer than Dulles, who ran a one-man show.

Right at the beginning of 1953 the nation got an early insight—although this wasn't realized at the time—into how President Eisenhower's new secretary, Dulles, would operate.

Rusk, President-elect John F. Kennedy's hand-picked secretary, has already perhaps given an early insight into his ideas on running the State Department. If so, they are quite different from Dulles'.

Only six days after taking office on Jan. 21, 1953, Dulles was making a report on Eisenhower's foreign policy before it had even begun.

It set the pattern for many similar reports and public pronouncements to follow in the next six years before Dulles died May 24, 1959.

Only nine days after taking office he dashed overseas for a 10-day European survey. This set a pattern, too. Dulles made so many overseas trips he became far and away the most traveled secretary of state in history.

But this traveling brought him a lot of criticism on grounds like these:

1. That he should have spent far more time in Washington, thinking about foreign policy and listening to advisors, instead of racing around the world to attend to details and negotiations subordinates could have handled.

2. That his apparent feeling he had to handle everything personally showed little confidence in his ambassadors abroad and his staff at home. Instead of teamwork, the State Department wound up with a one-man operation.

Dulles was a dominant man, and Eisenhower relied on him tremendously. Dulles was already a national figure in the foreign field before he took office. Rusk is hardly known to the public.

Therefore, it would be unusual if Rusk attempted to start out with the same take-charge air that Dulles showed. Rusk doesn't seem to approve of traveling around anyway.

He said "too much personal travel can get to be a bad habit." On Dec. 12, when Kennedy appointed him, Rusk was asked by newsmen if he had any very early travel plans. He said no.

Nor does he seem anxious to start making public pronouncements about foreign policy problems in a hurry.

He told the same reporters on the same day when asked his foreign policy views: "I think it would be wiser for me not to get into specific questions on policy matters. . .at this time."

Rusk, judging from what he reportedly thought before being named secretary, doesn't minimize the role of the secretary of state in foreign policy but considers the role of the president in that field as of the first importance.

This attitude may explain in part why Kennedy picked him after looking over the field of likely prospects for the job. It seems clear from Kennedy's conduct he intends to be boss in both domestic and foreign problems.

Public Notice

In the early part of this century Sir Ernest Shackleton was one of the great explorers of the Antarctic.

In all he made four expeditions to that remote part of the world which was then much less well known than now. He died as a result of hardship suffered on his last trip.

Before leaving on one of his trips, Sir Ernest used an English newspaper to help recruit men for his expedition. The notice read:

MEN WANTED

for hazardous journey, small wages, bitter cold, long months of complete darkness, constant danger, safe return doubtful. Honor and recognition in case of success.

Sir Ernest Shackleton

In its way this was a public notice in that it was an invitation to men with adventurous spirit to sign up for an undertaking that would appeal only to the boldest.

It was similar in purpose and form to the public notices, or legal advertising, to be found in any bona fide newspaper of general circulation. It was, to be sure, more exciting than most such notices.

But public notices, as provided by law, are no less important even though they may be unexciting or even uninteresting.

The underlying principle is one of the most basic in the American way of life: the right of the public to be informed and that of the individual to be given due notice where his rights are concerned. In hundreds of situations this purpose is carried out through the columns of the bona fide newspaper.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Twenty-one baskets, each filled with meat, candy and groceries, were distributed among the needy of Chester by members of the First Church of Christ.

R. D. McGill was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Wellsville China Co. rushed work on a $7,288 contract for chinaware for the War Department.

East Liverpool's alien registration numbered about 500.

Cash refunds amounting to $7,393 were paid to charitable, educational, religious and patriotic organizations in Columbiana County for sales tax stamps returned to the state.

TEN YEARS AGO — More than 1,250 children of the Beaver Local School District enjoyed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings at six buildings.

Dale Finley was retained as president of the Chester Flower and Garden Club.

Conflict Of Interest

By David Lawrence

Another Look At Kennedy Appointment

Critics inside and outside Congress are beginning to cry conflict of interest as they express disapproval of the selection by President - elect Kennedy of his brother Robert to be attorney general. Theoretically, it is being said, the Department of Justice will not be free to expose and prosecute scandals that may arise in the new administration.

David Lawrence

This brings into focus the whole conflict of interest issue, which is one of the most hypocritical that can arise in government. Thus, Robert S. McNamara, the new secretary of defense, has been obliged to sell all his securities in the Ford Motor Car Co., of which he was president.

He and his family are deprived of a valuable investment just because of a suspicion that, if he owned Ford stock, the company might be awarded a government contract that it otherwise wouldn't receive.

The same issue was raised when Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Motors, was named secretary of defense by President Eisenhower about eight years ago and he sold the securities he owned in his company.

But, as was noted in these dispatches in 1953, the assumption that a public official cannot discharge his duties without taking into account the impact on his personal investments is fallacious. If a Cabinet appointee is so lacking in integrity that he would allow any such investments to influence his actions, he would be capable also of showing favoritism to his former business associates, even if he didn't have a dollar invested in the business.

JUSTICES of the Supreme Court of the United States have to invest their savings in something. Often, while on the bench, they hold stocks or bonds in companies that can be affected in a general way by court decisions. If a specific case arises involving a company in which he owns stocks, the justice in question merely disqualifies himself from taking part in that particular case. He doesn't resign his office.

There's an old principle of law which says that a man is to be considered innocent until proven guilty but the present - day concept of conflict of interest, as it affects cabinet officers, is just the reverse — they are presumed to be ready to sacrifice the public interest to their personal interest.

Now, with the appointment of Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general, the argument is being made that he would not take any action in the Department of Justice that might reflect discredit on the administration of his brother. Again, the assumption is that a man can be guilty of wrong doing without any proof that he ever will be.

In an impersonal sense, every attorney general has to decide whether he will follow the letter of the law and prosecute wrongdoers even though such action brings discredit on the administration of which he is a part.

IF HE DOESN'T prosecute, certainly there are congressional investigating committees whose minority members would promptly demand an inquiry and could even bring about impeachment of a Cabinet officer found to be derelict in his duty.

Whether the appointment of the younger Kennedy to be attorney general was wise politically, and whether someone else more capable could have been found in the Democratic party for the post, are questions that will be discussed pro and con for a long time.

There are Democrats of prominence who think the President-elect made a mistake in judgment and they are saying so privately but this isn't the first time a new president has rewarded a man for his yeoman service in a campaign. The President-elect would no doubt have appointed as attorney general a political ally had the latter not been his brother.

If this is the only mistake the next President makes during his term, it will be readily subordinated by the public to the record of good service rendered.

If other errors emerge, then the charges of nepotism will be bandied about and such accusations have been harmful politically in the past, especially when representatives and senators have put members of their respective families on the public payroll.

INEXORABLY the verdict rendered by the voters has been unfavorable, even when the individuals themselves were sufficiently experienced and competent to be chosen over other applicants for the job.

Many members of Congress may argue that, if the President can appoint his brother to be a member of the Cabinet, it is all right now if they appoint their wives or their sons or brothers to public office, too. Voters at a subsequent election may think otherwise.

The real conflict of interest issue that touches every elected official is whether he is beholden to the persons who furnished money and work for his election and who feel themselves entitled to a reward or compensation, or whether such an elected official can rise above personal considerations and do his duty in behalf of the interests of all the people.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I came across a fascinating piece of news today and must tell you about it in time for Christmas.

What I mean is, I must tell you about it before Christmas, so when we are together on Christmas we can have the decks cleared for more important matters.

The news said the most chaotic traffic mess on earth today is in Tokyo, where the Japanese have learned why the automobile is a mixed blessing. They killed one another at a rate of 8,300 deaths and 107,000 injuries in the first nine months this year, with such gusto that the accident rate should keep soaring at the rate of a 20 per cent increase each year.

The news also said that the Japanese government is cracking down with all its might on automobilists. For instance, the fine for a parking violation is going to be the equivalent of $83 from now on. That will make a parking ticket well worth fixing in Tokyo. That will be the beginning.

Worldwide corruption and confusion have followed in the wake of the automobile. Wherever it is worshipped — wherever it is permitted to dominate the human beings who tolerate it — chaos and danger reign. In New York City, the police and the politicians have been waging war over traffic tickets. The auto is king; it's untouchable.

Everything must be cleared from its path. Nothing is too good for it. The greater wonder to me is htat we haven't yet stayed formal sacrificial rites, like the ancients performed, to keep their gods in a happy frame of mind.

It must be permitted to invade and destroy anything that strikes its fancy. It is like a sacred cow in India. It also claims its human sacrifices like the Minostaur, which was given a tribute of seven youths and seven maidens whenever it made a fuss.

No one is permitted to stand in its path when it wants to charge through a playground, a cemetery, or a landmark.

But I am not objecting to the automobile as such. I am objecting to what we are letting the automobile do to us. It wasn't the Minotaur that demanded the human sacrifice. It was the self-servers who had made a good thing for themselves explaining what the Minotaur wanted.

Tokyo now is being thrown to its traffic Minotaur.

It is discovering what every great city learns — that it is at the mercy of a monster that once was a servant and then became a master.

Ultimately, all cities will be killed by automobiles, because they will not know how to make their peace with them.

Ultimately population control will be achieved by this monster, not merely by the numbers it kills directly but by what it does to the human environment and, of course, what it does to the incomes of its slaves.

This is the kind of evidence I like to collect, because it is so easy of access that no one looks for it. Instead, someone makes another traffic study and survey to discover a lot of obscurities and half-truths.

As I write this, I am looking forward to being with you on Christmas day and thinking what pleasant company I will be, sitting in a chimney corner beaming on this wonderful, wonderful world. If I'm lucky, not an automboile will ram into your house. Not a single commercial airplane will burn me to a cinder by dumping itself and umpteen thousand gallons of lighter fluid on me and flicking the flint. It will be a merry Christmas, and I trust you will help me enjoy it to the utmost.

New Approach To Investigative Power

The U. S. Supreme Courts decision upholding the immunity section of the 1956 narcotics law represents a milestone in the rocky road toward effective criminal investigation with simultaneous protection of individual liberty.

The court has put its stamp of approval on a method of getting around the barrier of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which protects an individual from being forced to give testimony that might make him subject to criminal prosecution.

A route around the Fifth Amendment has been sought because no one who supports the constitutional democracy of the United States has been in favor of knocking down the Fifth Amendment. It is an important part of the Bill of Rights and the reasons for its existence go far back in the development of individual liberty in England and this country.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM arose around 1950 when a long list of suspected Communists and criminals were told by their lawyers to rely on the Fifth Amendment to block congressional and grand jury investigations of activities considered hazardous to the national welfare.

While there was general regret that the guilty could hide behind the Fifth Amendment, there was general concern that abolition of its protection could be used indiscriminately against the innocent, which was one of the reasons for its existence in the first place.

The law now upheld by the Supreme Court presents the other side of the Fifth Amendment coin. It provides that an individual may be compelled to testify before a federal grand jury if assured of immunity against either federal or state prosecution on the basis of his testimony.

The decision of which approach to use is left to the investigating body and will be determined by the aim of the investigation. If the probers want to seek the conviction and punishment of a witness for suspected criminal activities, they will have to forego the granting of immunity and permit him to cite the Fifth Amendment if he chooses.

If, on the other hand, the punishment of the witness himself is less important to the investigators than the information he may give them on a bigger problem, they can insist that he testify but forego the right to prosecute him.

THE INVESTIGATORS still are prohibited from forcing him to testify, then bringing him to trial with the testimony he has given, which is what the Fifth Amendment is meant to prohibit.

The case presently involved deals only with narcotics law enforcement, because it arose out of a provision of a specific narcotics law.

But now that the Supreme Court has upheld it, it can be assumed that the new immunity approach will be extended to other fields. It should prove a boon to people charged with fighting crime on the broadest level.

United States Will Protect Itself

Remember the two employes of National Security Agency who ran away to the Soviet Union to betray the United States? Their names were Martin and Mitchell.

They have been heard from again, this time in an interview in Moscow for the Russian press. The United States, they told their new friends in Russia, will continue to spy on the Soviet Union under the Kennedy administration.

They undoubtedly are right about this. If the Kennedy administration did not intend to continue spying on the Soviet Union, it wouldn't have asked Allen W. Dulles to stay on as director of Central Intelligence Agency. Mr. Dulles is a realist and a professional at his job.

It is as certain that the United States will continue to spy on the Soviet Union as it is that the Soviet Union will continue to spy on the United States. But strangely, this turn-about-and-fair-play certainty was too much for partisan critics of the Eisenhower administration to face up to when the Kremlin took the lid off the U2 incident.

These partisans screamed bloody murder. They accused the Eisenhower administration of playing dirty pool. They rent their garments and tore out handfuls of hair. Their yowls and yelps were enough to make the American eagle droop his tail feathers.

The President-elect, himself, made some ill-advised remarks. Chester Bowles, his choice to be undersecretary of State, made some, too. It's good to know they have swung around to the position that the United States did not betray the people's trust by looking after their interests relative to the spying that all governments do to preserve their security.

If there were another U2 incident, they too would be entitled to the benefit of the doubt they failed to give the Eisenhower administration.

If some zealots have their way, there will be secretaries of peace, culture, senior citizens, urban affairs, and possibly of chiropractors, and auctioneers.

Despite repeated expressions of admiration for Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sen. Kennedy has not followed that President's example. For in the rather below-average Cabinet assembled in 1933 many considerations other than representation of minority groups prevailed. Party service brought the award of the postmaster generalship. That had been a custom before. But the rest hardly represented any pattern at all.

The Eisenhower Cabinet represented party service in two posts, and for Labor a genuine union head was chosen. The latter choice proved to be unfortunate.

IN THE CABINET, labor will be represented by one of its most prominent employes, Arthur J. Goldberg.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman carries to the Department of Agriculture his thorough adherence to the radical farm views of the Farmers' Union.

His intellectual and policy mentor has been Dr. Willard Cochrane of the University of Minnesota, a Kennedy adviser in the campaign and reputed major architect of the Democratic farm program.

Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona rates in the voting score 96 per cent extreme "liberal." This is especially true of his support of public power development. He will be policymaker in the Interior Department.

Eagerly seeking the undersecretaryship in that department is Clyde Ellis, powerful lobbyist for federal power.

Since the great Negro blocs in the large cities played such an important part in the election, they were recognized in the offer of the postmaster generalship to Rep. William L. Dawson, boss of the big First District in Chicago.

The selection of Robert Kennedy for attorney general recognizes not only brotherly love but Robert's capacity as a party organizer and his knowledge of where patronage should go later. There is nothing in his legal career to merit the most important law office in the nation.

Gov. Luther Hodges, having been a businessman but also an ardent Kennedy supporter, is presumably intended to represent business and employers' interests.

If these are to represent some of us, who will represent all of us?

Lot Less Talking, Traveling

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A lot less talking and a lot less traveling.

Those will probably be two basic differences between the way the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles handled foreign affairs and the way Dean Rusk, who will take office as secretary next January, will do his job.

There's another: Rusk appears to be more of a teamplayer than Dulles, who ran a one-man show.

Right at the beginning of 1953 the nation got an early insight—although this wasn't realized at the time—into how President Eisenhower's new secretary, Dulles, would operate.

Rusk, President-elect John F. Kennedy's hand-picked secretary, has already perhaps given an early insight into his ideas on running the State Department. If so, they are quite different from Dulles'.

Only six days after taking office on Jan. 21, 1953, Dulles was making a report on Eisenhower's foreign policy before it had even begun.

It set the pattern for many similar reports and public pronouncements to follow in the next six years before Dulles died May 24, 1959.

Only nine days after taking office he dashed overseas for a 10-day European survey. This set a pattern, too. Dulles made so many overseas trips he became far and away the most traveled secretary of state in history.

But this traveling brought him a lot of criticism on grounds like these:

1. That he should have spent far more time in Washington, thinking about foreign policy and listening to advisors, instead of racing around the world to attend to details and negotiations subordinates could have handled.

2. That his apparent feeling he had to handle everything personally showed little confidence in his ambassadors abroad and his staff at home. Instead of teamwork, the State Department wound up with a one-man operation.

Dulles was a dominant man, and Eisenhower relied on him tremendously. Dulles was already a national figure in the foreign field before he took office. Rusk is hardly known to the public.

Therefore, it would be unusual if Rusk attempted to start out with the same take-charge air that Dulles showed. Rusk doesn't seem to approve of traveling around anyway.

He said "too much personal travel can get to be a bad habit." On Dec. 12, when Kennedy appointed him, Rusk was asked by newsmen if he had any very early travel plans. He said no.

Nor does he seem anxious to start making public pronouncements about foreign policy problems in a hurry.

He told the same reporters on the same day when asked his foreign policy views: "I think it would be wiser for me not to get into specific questions on policy matters. . .at this time."

Rusk, judging from what he reportedly thought before being named secretary, doesn't minimize the role of the secretary of state in foreign policy but considers the role of the president in that field as of the first importance.

This attitude may explain in part why Kennedy picked him after looking over the field of likely prospects for the job. It seems clear from Kennedy's conduct he intends to be boss in both domestic and foreign problems.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Twenty-one baskets, each filled with meat, candy and groceries, were distributed among the needy of Chester by members of the First Church of Christ.

R. D. McGill was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The Wellsville China Co. rushed work on a $7,288 contract for chinaware for the War Department.

East Liverpool's alien registration numbered about 500.

Cash refunds amounting to $7,393 were paid to charitable, educational, religious and patriotic organizations in Columbiana County for sales tax stamps returned to the state.

TEN YEARS AGO — More than 1,250 children of the Beaver Local School District enjoyed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings at six buildings.

Dale Finley was retained as president of the Chester Flower and Garden Club.

Public Notice

In the early part of this century Sir Ernest Shackleton was one of the great explorers of the Antarctic.

In all he made four expeditions to that remote part of the world which was then much less well known than now. He died as a result of hardship suffered on his last trip.

Before leaving on one of his trips, Sir Ernest used an English newspaper to help recruit men for his expedition. The notice read:

MEN WANTED

for hazardous journey, small wages, bitter cold, long months of complete darkness, constant danger, safe return doubtful. Honor and recognition in case of success.

Sir Ernest Shackleton

In its way this was a public notice in that it was an invitation to men with adventurous spirit to sign up for an undertaking that would appeal only to the boldest.

It was similar in purpose and form to the public notices, or legal advertising, to be found in any bona fide newspaper of general circulation. It was, to be sure, more exciting than most such notices.

But public notices, as provided by law, are no less important even though they may be unexciting or even uninteresting.

The underlying principle is one of the most basic in the American way of life: the right of the public to be informed and that of the individual to be given due notice where his rights are concerned. In hundreds of situations this purpose is carried out through the columns of the bona fide newspaper.

Conflict Of Interest

By David Lawrence

Another Look At Kennedy Appointment

Critics inside and outside Congress are beginning to cry conflict of interest as they express disapproval of the selection by President-elect Kennedy of his brother Robert to be attorney general. Theoretically, it is being said, the Department of Justice will not be free to expose and prosecute scandals that may arise in the new administration.

David Lawrence

This brings into focus the whole conflict of interest issue, which is one of the most hypocritical that can arise in government. Thus, Robert S. McNamara, the new secretary of defense, has been obliged to sell all his securities in the Ford Motor Car Co., of which he was president.

He and his family are deprived of a valuable investment just because of a suspicion that, if he owned Ford stock, the company might be awarded a government contract that it otherwise wouldn't receive.

The same issue was raised when Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Motors, was named secretary of defense by President Eisenhower about eight years ago and he sold the securities he owned in his company.

But, as was noted in these dispatches in 1953, the assumption that a public official cannot discharge his duties without taking into account the impact on his personal investments is fallacious. If a Cabinet appointee is so lacking in integrity that he would allow any such investments to influence his actions, he would be capable also of showing favoritism to his former business associates, even if he didn't have a dollar invested in the business.

JUSTICES of the Supreme Court of the United States have to invest their savings in something. Often, while on the bench, they hold stocks or bonds in companies that can be affected in a general way by court decisions. If a specific case arises involving a company in which he owns stocks, the justice in question merely disqualifies himself from taking part in that particular case. He doesn't resign his office.

There's an old principle of law which says that a man is to be considered innocent until proven guilty but the present - day concept of conflict of interest, as it affects cabinet officers, is just the reverse — they are presumed to be ready to sacrifice the public interest to their personal interest.

Now, with the appointment of Robert F. Kennedy as attorney general, the argument is being made that he would not take any action in the Department of Justice that might reflect discredit on the administration of his brother. Again, the assumption is that a man can be guilty of wrong doing without any proof that he ever will be.

In an impersonal sense, every attorney general has to decide whether he will follow the letter of the law and prosecute wrongdoers even though such action brings discredit on the administration of which he is a part.

IF HE DOESN'T prosecute, certainly there are congressional investigating committees whose minority members would promptly demand an inquiry and could even bring about impeachment of a Cabinet officer found to be derelict in his duty.

Whether the appointment of the younger Kennedy to be attorney general was wise politically, and whether someone else more capable could have been found in the Democratic party for the post, are questions that will be discussed pro and con for a long time.

There are Democrats of prominence who think the President-elect made a mistake in judgment and they are saying so privately but this isn't the first time a new president has rewarded a man for his yeoman service in a campaign. The President-elect would no doubt have appointed as attorney general a political ally had the latter not been his brother.

If this is the only mistake the next President makes during his term, it will be readily subordinated by the public to the record of good service rendered.

If other errors emerge, then the charges of nepotism will be bandied about and such accusations have been harmful politically in the past, especially when representatives and senators have put members of their respective families on the public payroll.

INEXORABLY the verdict rendered by the voters has been unfavorable, even when the individuals themselves were sufficiently experienced and competent to be chosen over other applicants for the job.

Many members of Congress may argue that, if the President can appoint his brother to be a member of the Cabinet, it is all right now if they appoint their wives or their sons or brothers to public office, too. Voters at a subsequent election may think otherwise.

The real conflict of interest issue that touches every elected official is whether he is beholden to the persons who furnished money and work for his election and who feel themselves entitled to a reward or compensation, or whether such an elected official can rise above personal considerations and do his duty in behalf of the interests of all the people.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I came across a fascinating piece of news today and must tell you about it in time for Christmas.

What I mean is, I must tell you about it before Christmas, so when we are together on Christmas we can have the decks cleared for more important matters.

The news said the most chaotic traffic mess on earth today is in Tokyo, where the Japanese have learned why the automobile is a mixed blessing. They killed one another at a rate of 8,300 deaths and 107,000 injuries in the first nine months this year, with such gusto that the accident rate should keep soaring at the rate of a 20 per cent increase each year.

The news also said that the Japanese government is cracking down with all its might on automobilists. For instance, the fine for a parking violation is going to be the equivalent of $83 from now on. That will make a parking ticket well worth fixing in Tokyo. That will be the beginning.

Worldwide corruption and confusion have followed in the wake of the automobile. Wherever it is worshipped — wherever it is permitted to dominate the human beings who tolerate it — chaos and danger reign. In New York City, the police and the politicians have been waging war over traffic tickets. The auto is king; it's untouchable.

Everything must be cleared from its path. Nothing is too good for it. The greater wonder to me is htat we haven't yet stayed formal sacrificial rites, like the ancients performed, to keep their gods in a happy frame of mind.

It must be permitted to invade and destroy anything that strikes its fancy. It is like a sacred cow in India. It also claims its human sacrifices like the Minostaur, which was given a tribute of seven youths and seven maidens whenever it made a fuss.

No one is permitted to stand in its path when it wants to charge through a playground, a cemetery, or a landmark.

But I am not objecting to the automobile as such. I am objecting to what we are letting the automobile do to us. It wasn't the Minotaur that demanded the human sacrifice. It was the self-servers who had made a good thing for themselves explaining what the Minotaur wanted.

Tokyo now is being thrown to its traffic Minotaur.

It is discovering what every great city learns — that it is at the mercy of a monster that once was a servant and then became a master.

Ultimately, all cities will be killed by automobiles, because they will not know how to make their peace with them.

Ultimately population control will be achieved by this monster, not merely by the numbers it kills directly but by what it does to the human environment and, of course, what it does to the incomes of its slaves.

This is the kind of evidence I like to collect, because it is so easy of access that no one looks for it. Instead, someone makes another traffic study and survey to discover a lot of obscurities and half-truths.

As I write this, I am looking forward to being with you on Christmas day and thinking what pleasant company I will be, sitting in a chimney corner beaming on this wonderful, wonderful world. I'm lucky, not an automboile will ram into your house. Not a single commercial airplane will burn me to a cinder by dumping itself and umpteen thousand gallons of lighter fluid on me and flicking the flint. It will be a merry Christmas, and I trust you will help me enjoy it to the utmost.

Water Board Gets Crucible Right-Of-Way

The Crucible Steel Co. has granted the Midland Municipal Authority a right-of-way to extend a water line over company property to the borough's new sewage plant now under construction.

The authority Wednesday evening approved a resolution for the agreement with the company. Granville Kester, Michael Baker Jr., Inc., engineer for the authority, will notify the contractors, W. Paul Brooks & Sons of Beaver Falls, to begin construction of the 1,000-foot line.

The contractors were awarded the contract on the low bid of $7,661.50 for the job Sept. 21.

Bids from six companies for next year's chemicals were opened and referred to the purchasing committee, headed by Rudolph Presutti, for a report at the next meeting.

Presutti, also labor committee chairman, reported on negotiations for a new contract for water department employes. He said he met with the union's representative Nov. 16 in Pittsburgh and the union requests amount to about 40 cents more an hour.

The union will notify Presutti of the next step. He said the authority is selling water at about 60 per cent and wages are at 100 per cent. He said "it's not good business sense to spend a $100 and take in only $60."

It was brought out that the Midland Works of Crucible Steel will re-circulate more water next year and use some $18,000 less of water.

The possibility of curtailing the water department to a four-day schedule was mentioned and Dr. Zanvel Sigal, president, said a special meeting will be called sometime to discuss it and hear authority members' suggestions.

The need to change the sand in a filter after 15 years of operation was explained by Kester and Donald Craik, manager. A boxcar load of special sand and gravel are needed for it and the work probably will be done in the spring. There are five other filters.

A list of inactive accounts in the amount of $226.52 was approved for exoneration. Mrs. Malena Westlake, secretary, reported $95,067.51 in various accounts as of Nov. 30. Bills were ordered paid.

The authority's reorganization will be Jan. 10 at 7 p. m. and a regular meeting will be held afterwards.

Christmas Missions Service Planned By Adventist Church

A special Christmas missions service will be held during the Sabbath School program at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Cash gifts will be given by the members to help build a nurses' home for the denominations hospital in Nicaragua, a new hospital building for British Guiana, and a boys' dormitory for the church's boarding academy in Puerto Rico, Pastor Lyle G. Euler said.

The topic of the Adult Bible Classes of the Sabbath School will be the "Millenium."

The pastor will speak on "Strangers and Stars" at the 11:30 a. m. worship.

Don Koester of Miami will be the guest soloist and Mrs. Lucille Rigby of Lisbon will be at the organ. Koester, brother-in-law of the pastor, is the Bible teacher of the Miami Seventh-day Adventist Academy.

Christmas carolers will meet at the church at 6 p. m. for the Christmas Eve caroling for the 57th annual medical-mission appeal.

Prayer meeting will be held Wednesday night at 7:30.

Highlandtown Firemen May Change Meetings

A discussion on a proposal to change meeting nights was held by the Highlandtown volunteer firemen Wednesday night at the station.

Firemen now meet the first and third Wednesday of each month. It has been proposed to meet the second and fourth. The firemen will take a vote at the meeting Jan. 4.

Junior Talbott, vice president, presided. Eight were present. Edwin Bettis is president.

It was reported the siren motor is being repaired.

New International Unit Plans Study Of Birth Defects

CINCINNATI (AP) — Birth defects which cause many infant deaths and great difficulties among survivors will be the major object of study for a new international organization known as the Teratology Society, it was announced here today.

The society will be headed by Dr. Josef Warkany, professor of research pediatrics at the University of Cincinnati's College of Medicine.

Teratology is the science concerned with congenital malformations or birth defects. They now are reported to cause more deaths than most common contagious diseases combined.

The society, which will hold its first official meeting in May in Cincinnati, will study fundamental questions of causes of congenital malformations, looking toward future prevention of this great public health problem.

Some of the more common birth defects are found in the heart, nervous system, eye, and kidneys.

Santa Treats Children In Midland District

Santa greeted some 450 Midland Heights and Midcrest children Wednesday evening. He rode around the oval street on a fire truck.

He stopped at the fire station and talked to each child. Treats were distributed and others will be given to children who could not be present or are sick. The event was sponsored by the heights volunteer fire company No. 2.

Firemen will meet Jan. 10. Clyde Sentz is president.

Yule Party Draws 500 Youngsters At Chester

About 500 Chester area youngsters attended the annual Christmas party sponsored Wednesday night at the Chester City Hall by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6450 and American Legion Post 121.

The program included a dance by Ruth Ann Paisley, solos by Ted Cunningham, piano selections by Mrs. Jan Dietz, and a recitation and dance by Peggy Ann Stoddard. Santa Claus distributed gifts. Sayre Graham was chairman.

Smoke Fills Home

LISBON — The home of Gertrude Phillips, 237 Thomas Rd., filled with smoke when a chimney became clogged this morning at 9:15, according to Fire Chief Thirl Flugan, who said firemen burned paper in the furnace to clean out the flue and chimney and air the house. There was no damage except from smoke.

Charges Reduced For Man In Crash

DeMaree E. Burns, 47, of Sherwood Ave., cited on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol after a Lisbon St. traffic mishap Monday night, pleaded guilty today in Municipal Court to a reduced charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance and was fined $50 and costs.

The charge was reduced by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a motion from Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, who told the court he acted after consulting with the arresting officers.

"You are fortunate that the investigation disclosed there was not sufficient evidence to obtain a conviction on a drunken driving charge," the judge told Burns. "In weather like this, especially at this time of the year, anyone who gets behind the wheel with a few drinks is bound to get into trouble."

Burns was taken into custody after his auto struck another in the rear on Lisbon St. near N. Surrey Rd. Monday night at 6:15, police said. Burns was represented by Atty. George A. Aronson.

Gifts Are Distributed For 200 County Wards

LISBON — Columbiana County's some 200 Welfare Department children will have received their most wanted Christmas gift by this evening, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director.

County organizations, churches and individuals have contributed more than $1,800 for the annual program, and welfare workers purchased the children's most wanted gifts.

Distribution of the presents began Wednesday although some of the workers got stuck in the heavy snow trying to reach the foster homes. Vehicles of several had to be pulled out, Bycroft said.

Six Wounded In Wild Gun Fight On Bus

CHICAGO (AP)—A bus loaded with Christmas shoppers was the scene of panic and bloodshed Wednesday night in a wild gunfight between two passengers. Six persons were wounded, one critically.

Police said the battle apparently stemmed from a sudden quarrel near the exit to the crowded bus on the city's west side.

Police gave this account: One man, complaining he was jostled by three others as he moved toward the exit, drew a pistol and threatened: "Either you get out of my way or I'll blast you in the mouth." He then opened fire.

One of the men blocking the exit fired back. About a dozen shots raked the rear of the bus.

In the melee, the man police said fired first fled after pulling an emergency exit lever. The other gunman, identified as Thurston Burgess, 22, was listed in serious condition at a hospital.

Luther Perkins, 18, one of the five passengers hit by bullets, was reported in critical condition. Two others, Otis Porch, 29, and Erniestine Russell, 16, were reported seriously wounded. Two others were less seriously hurt.

The gunmen and the wounded are Negroes.

Yule Party Draws 500 Youngsters At Chester

About 500 Chester area youngsters attended the annual Christmas party sponsored Wednesday night at the Chester City Hall by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6450 and American Legion Post 121.

The program included a dance by Ruth Ann Paisley, solos by Ted Cunningham, piano selections by Mrs. Jan Dietz, and a recitation and dance by Peggy Ann Stoddard. Santa Claus distributed gifts. Sayre Graham was chairman.

Smoke Fills Home

LISBON — The home of Gertrude Phillips, 237 Thomas Rd., filled with smoke when a chimney became clogged this morning at 9:15, according to Fire Chief Thirl Flugan, who said firemen burned paper in the furnace to clean out the flue and chimney and air the house. There was no damage except from smoke.

Camerero, winner of 56 straight races, is buried in the infield at San Juan's El Comandante race track.

Charges Reduced For Man In Crash

DeMaree E. Burns, 47, of Sherwood Ave., cited on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol after a Lisbon St. traffic mishap Monday night, pleaded guilty today in Municipal Court to a reduced charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance and was fined $50 and costs.

The charge was reduced by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a motion from Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, who told the court he acted after consulting with the arresting officers.

"You are fortunate that the investigation disclosed there was not sufficient evidence to obtain a conviction on a drunken driving charge," the judge told Burns. "In weather like this, especially at this time of the year, anyone who gets behind the wheel with a few drinks is bound to get into trouble."

Burns was taken into custody after his auto struck another in the rear on Lisbon St. near N. Surrey Rd. Monday night at 6:15, police said. Burns was represented by Atty. George A. Aronson.

Gifts Are Distributed For 200 County Wards

LISBON — Columbiana County's some 200 Welfare Department children will have received their most wanted Christmas gift by this evening, according to Robert Bycroft, county welfare director.

County organizations, churches and individuals have contributed more than $1,800 for the annual program, and welfare workers purchased the children's most wanted gifts.

Distribution of the presents began Wednesday although some of the workers got stuck in the heavy snow trying to reach the foster homes. Vehicles of several had to be pulled out, Bycroft said.

Six Wounded In Wild Gun Fight On Bus

CHICAGO (AP)—A bus loaded with Christmas shoppers was the scene of panic and bloodshed Wednesday night in a wild gunfight between two passengers. Six persons were wounded, one critically.

Police said the battle apparently stemmed from a sudden quarrel near the exit to the crowded bus on the city's west side.

Police gave this account: One man, complaining he was jostled by three others as he moved toward the exit, drew a pistol and threatened: "Either you get out of my way or I'll blast you in the mouth." He then opened fire.

One of the men blocking the exit fired back. About a dozen shots raked the rear of the bus.

In the melee, the man police said fired first fled after pulling an emergency exit lever. The other gunman, identified as Thurston Burgess, 22, was listed in serious condition at a hospital.

Luther Perkins, 18, one of the five passengers hit by bullets, was reported in critical condition. Two others, Otis Porch, 29, and Erniestine Russell, 16, were reported seriously wounded. Two others were less seriously hurt.

The gunmen and the wounded are Negroes.

Sympathy Extended In Two Air Disasters

BONN, Germany (AP) — The upper house of the West German Parliament extended its "heartfelt sympathy" today to the families of victims of the air disasters in New York and Munich last week and of the fire on the U.S. carrier Constellation.

2 Teenagers Held In Theft

Two 18-year-old youths were arrested on charges of petty larceny in Wellsville Wednesday after allegedly stealing money from the cash register of a drugstore.

Scheduled to receive hearings at 1 p. m. before Mayor William J. Shoub were John Robert Hunt of Steubenville, and Nelson Montier of Toronto.

They are charged with taking $25 from the cash drawer of a register at Hannum's Drugstore, 1301 Main St., yesterday morning about 10:20.

Police said the two entered the store while Mrs. Ann Rutter, a clerk, was alone.

Hunt made a purchase and after paying for it, recalled Mrs. Rutter to the rear of the store, pretending he wanted to buy something else. Montier remained at the front of the store.

Mrs. Rutter apparently just shoved the cash drawer in but did not completely close it. Montier then took the money and the two left, police said.

Both were identified but deny any implication in the robbery, police said.

Hunt was picked up about 11:50 a. m. on Main St., not far from the store, while Montier was not taken into custody until 4:30 p. m., on Main below 14th St.

The two also have been identified as the youths who stole a man's hat from the J. M. Russell Co. store at 1303 Main St. Dec. 8, police said. No charge was filed in this case, police said.

A gun was found in the glove compartment of their car. Montier admitted it is his.

Police said Hunt also is wanted by Steubenville police for burglary but no detainer has been placed on him yet.

Heaviest player in the National Hockey League is Elmer (Moose) Vasko of the Chicago Black Hawks. He weighs 210 pounds.

Tanker

bow of the Pine Ridge now had drifted about 30 miles apart.

The cutter said the bow constituted a serious menace to navigation, had no lights, constituted a poor radar target and recommended a ship be assigned to stand by the wreckage.

Two commercial tugs, one from New York and one from Norfolk, were en route to the scene to salvage both sections of the tanker.

The Pine Ridge, carrying a crew of 39, was traveling in ballast without a cargo from New York to Corpus Christi, Tex.

Waves, whipped by 50-60 knot winds, were running as high as 30 feet and hampered early rescue efforts. Today the waves were reported at 16 feet with winds of 28 knots, still a hindrance to rescuers.

Shortly after midnight the Coast Guard cutter Androscoggin, coordinating vessel of the Coast Guard team, at the scene, reported: "No survivors picked up yet."

At that time, more than 10 ships —headed by the aircraft carrier Valley Forge—carried out search patterns in the hunt for crewmen who might have been tossed into the water.

The Valley Forge, which arrived on the scene shortly after midnight with its screen of destroyers, prepared to send out six helicopters at dawn. Their mission was two-fold: to look for crewmen tossed overboard and to pick up those still clinging to pieces of the shattered ship.

Coast Guard planes from Elizabeth City, N. C., counted 10 crewmen on the stern section, and the Coast Guard said there might be more. The planes also spotted five others—three in a life raft—drifting away from the spot amid debris two miles south-southwest of the bow section.

Life rafts and life jackets for more than 50 men were dropped, but the pilot of one of the planes told of a futile effort to lead the Norwegian tanker Artemis to the five men afloat in water reported warm enough at 74 degrees for survival if they weren't swamped.

It was the Artemis which touched off the latest battle of man against the elements with the terse report Wednesday it had sighted the Pine Ridge, a T2 tanker, broken in half in a severe gale and mountainous seas 100 miles off the North Atlantic coast.

"Impossible to render any assistance under present weather conditions," the master of the Artemis radioed The Associated Press in response to an inquiry.

Bucking winds of up to 50 and 60 miles an hour, planes and surface craft began heading for the scene. The tanker Esso Jamestown arrived shortly after 5 p. m. and sent back the word that those aboard the stern were okay.

As darkness approached, the Esso Jamestown reported lights aboard the stern section. It said the bow section was just visible above the water about 14 miles away.

Heavy seas and high winds prevented any rescue attempts. Aircraft couldn't operate because of the darkness.

The futile rescue attempt from the air was recounted by Lt. Mel J. Hartman, pilot of the first Coast Guard plane to reach the stricken tanker.

"There were four men in the water down near the bow section," Lt. Hartman said. "One of them was in a life ring, another was holding onto it.

"Another man wearing a life jacket was lying on a piece of debris.

"We threw life rafts and life jackets overboard but couldn't do too much good. The trailing line of one of the rafts reached one man and he grabbed it. Then it got away from him and drifted away.

"When we had dropped everything the plane carried we stripped off our own life jackets and threw them down."

The vessel's captain was identified by the Keystone Shipping Co. of Philadelphia, owner of the Pine Ridge, as Clark Snyder of Philadelphia. The company said a crew list, signed aboard the last port from a large group of eligible sailors, was customarily mailed but had not been received.

Eight crewmen were listed in Corpus Christi, Tex., as being from that port. The Pine Ridge had sailed in ballast from New York for Corpus Christi.

'Daddysville' Isn't Haven For Beatniks

ZEBULON, N. C. (AP) — "Daddysville" is the state-erected sign you'll see at a country crossroads near here on U. S. 64—but it's not a haven for beatniks.

Elbert Averett owns the store at the crossroads. When he was a small child he had long curls and his parents, who had wanted a girl, called him Sister. When he was 3 his parents got his hair cut and bought him a pair of long pants.

When Elbert was asked what he wanted for a more suitable nickname, he replied, "Daddy." It stuck. And when Highway Department engineers asked him to name the crossroads, "Daddysville" was the name he chose.

19 Believed Perished As Freighter Cracks Up

SANTANDER, Spain (AP)—An old Spanish freighter making its last voyage home cracked up on the rocks and only one survivor and one body were found today of the 21 crewmen aboard.

Maritime authorities said the missing 19 seamen were believed to have perished when the 9,393-ton Elorrio broke in half off Galisano, on the Bay of Biscay coast.

The empty freighter was en route to Valencia to be broken up after 38 years of service.

Monument To Horse Has Stood 99 Years

GALLION, Ohio (AP) — For 99 years, a beech tree on a farm west of here has marked the spot where a young Union Army volunteer buried his horse before marching off to a Civil War.

The young man's name long has been forgotten, but the inscription "Iron Horse, Died March 1861" can still be read. The present farm owner, Ora Zimmerman, says the term "iron horse" is an unsentimental description of the color of the animal and has nothing to do with its name.

Stork Covers 2 States When Twins Are Born

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Prof. and Mrs. David A. Blaeuer are the proud parents of newly-arrived twins, each born in a different state.

Mrs. Blaeuer gave birth to a boy at Platteville Hospital. Then apparent complications set in. It was decided to transfer the mother to Mercy Hospital at Dubuque, Iowa, for specialized care. There, three hours after birth of the boy, a girl was born.

Each infant weighed in at 4½ pounds.

Shout Saves Professor

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A class yell—which had nothing to do with school spirit — saved Prof. Gertrude Lawrence of Kent State University from possible injury. Her class shouted a warning when a scaffold being raised outside the building knocked a large board onto the spot where she had been seated a moment before.

Plenty Of Clues

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — City police had plenty of clues to go on after 230 light bulbs were stolen from five used car lots here. The thieves stood on the tops of used cars to get at the lights. They left footprints all over the autos.

Everyday Car Be U.N. Day At Used Car Lots

BALTIMORE (AP) — If you know your flags, every day can be United Nations day at used car lots.

One flag student walking along Belair Road one morning identified: national flags of Luxembourg, Monaco (in distress), Indonesia (in distress), Thailand and the Netherlands; the German state flags of Saxony, Hesse (in distress), Thuringen and Schleswig-Holstein, the Swiss city flags of St. Gallen, Unterwalden, Vaud and Solothurn, and the Danish pilot's flag.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I smooth my rough cellar walls before applying paint to them?

A. Use two parts of mortar cement to one part of sand containing some calcium chloride. Add water to get a thin-mud-like consistency. This produces a waterproof cement and may be applied and smoothed over your walls with a large metal mason's trowel.

Q. How can I remove fingerprints from furniture?

A. Use a cloth saturated in olive oil. When applying wax polish, use as little as possible, and rub until the surface is free of film. If you do this, your furniture will increase in attractiveness.

Q. How can I keep eggs fresh for a fairly long time?

A. Rub very fresh eggs with oil, butter, or pure glycerin over the entire surface of the shell.

Q. How can I prevent the curdling, scorching, and stringiness that often occurs in foods made with cheese or milk?

A. By being sure to cook these foods at low, low temperatures, and not overcooking.

Q. How can I shrink colored cottons and linens?

A. Soak in cold water for several hours. Squeeze out the water—don't wring the material. Hang on clothesline, or if you have an automatic dryer, dry it in this machine with several dry turkshi towels that wll buffer the fabric as it tumble-drse. Buy non-shrunk cottons and linens with the foreknowledge that these materials will shrink anywhere from one to three inches per yard.

Q. How can I stop a persistent drainpipe leak?

A. Try the "plumber's poultice." Wrap layers of cloth and wet plaster around the leak, use some strong string to tie the "bandage" into place, and then let it dry hard before using the drain.

Q. How can I remove blood stains from silk?

A. Moisten a few inches of white sewing silk on the tongue, roll into a ball and then rub on the stain gently.

Strike Perils Belgium In Protest Of Austerity

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Strike paralysis threatened all Belgium today as workers in the main cities joined the spreading protest against the conservative government's austerity program.

Six policemen were injured in a clash with strikers the government said were led by Communist agitators in Antwerp. The huge port was at a standstill with 106 ships stranded in the harbor. Thirteen leaders of the walkout were arrested.

Socialist and Communist newspapers hailed the creeping shutdown as a victory in their fight against the government's program calling for new taxes and a cut in state expenditures.

The two also have been identified as the youths who stole a man's hat from the J. M. Russell Co. store at 1303 Main St. Dec. 8, police said. No charge was filed in this case, police said.

A gun was found in the glove compartment of their car. Montier admitted it is his.

Police said Hunt also is wanted by Steubenville police for burglary but no detainer has been placed on him yet.

Daly-Warren Wedding Takes Place Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Virginia Warren, daughter of the Chief Justice of the United States, today becomes the wife of John Daly, the radio and television broadcaster.

The wedding ceremony was scheduled for 4:30 p.m. at Glide Memorial Methodist church, the Rev. Ernest Stilwell Heeren, pastor of the First Congregational church, officiating.

It will be the first marriage for Miss Warren, 32. Daly, 46, is divorced.

Loudspeaker Sought For Dancing Religion

HONOLULU (AP) — The Honolulu City Council has been asked to approve a loud speaker for a new dancing religion.

A letter of application submitted to the council said, in part:

"May I apply for a permit to use a loudspeaker when our fellow members of the dancing religion go out for public sermon on various street corners and parks to convey to them, the public, the good tidings conveyed by the dancing goddess?"

The letter was signed by a former Honolulu doctor.

Tanker

bow of the Pine Ridge now had drifted about 30 miles apart.

The cutter said the bow constituted a serious menace to navigation, had no lights, constituted a poor radar target and recommended a ship be assigned to stand by the wreckage.

Two commercial tugs, one from New York and one from Norfolk, were en route to the scene to salvage both sections of the tanker.

The Pine Ridge, carrying a crew of 39, was traveling in ballast without a cargo from New York to Corpus Christi, Tex.

Waves, whipped by 50-60 knot winds, were running as high as 30 feet and hampered early rescue efforts. Today the waves were reported at 16 feet with winds of 28 knots, still a hindrance to rescuers.

Shortly after midnight the Coast Guard cutter Androscoggin, coordinating vessel of the Coast Guard team, at the scene, reported: "No survivors picked up yet."

At that time, more than 10 ships —headed by the aircraft carrier Valley Forge—carried out search patterns in the hunt for crewmen who might have been tossed into the water.

The Valley Forge, which arrived on the scene shortly after midnight with its screen of destroyers, prepared to send out six helicopters at dawn. Their mission was two-fold: to look for crewmen tossed overboard and to pick up those still clinging to pieces of the shattered ship.

Coast Guard planes from Elizabeth City, N. C., counted 10 crewmen on the stern section, and the Coast Guard said there might be more. The planes also spotted five others—three in a life raft—drifting away from the spot amid debris two miles south-southwest of the bow section.

Life rafts and life jackets for more than 50 men were dropped, but the pilot of one of the planes told of a futile effort to lead the Norwegian tanker Artemis to the five men afloat in water reported warm enough at 74 degrees for survival if they weren't swamped.

It was the Artemis which touched off the latest battle of man against the elements with the terse report Wednesday it had sighted the Pine Ridge, a T2 tanker, broken in half in a severe gale and mountainous seas 100 miles off the North Atlantic coast.

"Impossible to render any assistance under present weather conditions," the master of the Artemis radioed The Associated Press in response to an inquiry.

Bucking winds of up to 50 and 60 miles an hour, planes and surface craft began heading for the scene. The tanker Esso Jamestown arrived shortly after 5 p. m. and sent back the word that those aboard the stern were okay.

As darkness approached, the Esso Jamestown reported lights aboard the stern section. It said the bow section was just visible above the water about 14 miles away.

Heavy seas and high winds prevented any rescue attempts. Aircraft couldn't operate because of the darkness.

The futile rescue attempt from the air was recounted by Lt. Mel J. Hartman, pilot of the first Coast Guard plane to reach the stricken tanker.

"There were four men in the water down near the bow section," Lt. Hartman said. "One of them was in a life ring, another was holding onto it.

"Another man wearing a life jacket was lying on a piece of debris.

"We threw life rafts and life jackets overboard but couldn't do too much good. The trailing line of one of the rafts reached one man and he grabbed it. Then it got away from him and drifted away.

"When we had dropped everything the plane carried we stripped off our own life jackets and threw them down."

The vessel's captain was identified by the Keystone Shipping Co. of Philadelphia, owner of the Pine Ridge, as Clark Snyder of Philadelphia. The company said a crew list, signed aboard the last port from a large group of eligible sailors, was customarily mailed but had not been received.

Eight crewmen were listed in Corpus Christi, Tex., as being from that port. The Pine Ridge had sailed in ballast from New York for Corpus Christi.

'Daddysville' Isn't Haven For Beatniks

ZEBULON, N. C. (AP) — "Daddysville" is the state-erected sign you'll see at a country crossroads near here on U. S. 64—but it's not a haven for beatniks.

Elbert Averett owns the store at the crossroads. When he was a small child he had long curls and his parents, who had wanted a girl, called him Sister. When he was 3 his parents got his hair cut and bought him a pair of long pants.

When Elbert was asked what he wanted for a more suitable nickname, he replied, "Daddy." It stuck. And when Highway Department engineers asked him to name the crossroads, "Daddysville" was the name he chose.

19 Believed Perished As Freighter Cracks Up

SANTANDER, Spain (AP)—An old Spanish freighter making its last voyage home cracked up on the rocks and only one survivor and one body were found today of the 21 crewmen aboard.

Maritime authorities said the missing 19 seamen were believed to have perished when the 9,393-ton Elorrio broke in half off Galisano, on the Bay of Biscay coast.

The empty freighter was en route to Valencia to be broken up after 38 years of service.

Hometown News

BALTIMORE (AP) — When Robert P. McHugh of Columbia, S. C., was visiting Baltimore, a panhandler begged money from him, describing himself as "a poor alcoholic from South Carolina."

Monument To Horse Has Stood 99 Years

GALLION, Ohio (AP) — For 99 years, a beech tree on a farm west of here has marked the spot where a young Union Army volunteer buried his horse before marching off to a Civil War.

The young man's name long has been forgotten, but the inscription "Iron Horse, Died March 1861" can still be read. The present farm owner, Ora Zimmerman, says the term "iron horse" is an unsentimental description of the color of the animal and has nothing to do with its name.

Stork Covers 2 States When Twins Are Born

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Prof. and Mrs. David A. Blaeuer are the proud parents of newly-arrived twins, each born in a different state.

Mrs. Blaeuer gave birth to a boy at Platteville Hospital. Then apparent complications set in. It was decided to transfer the mother to Mercy Hospital at Dubuque, Iowa, for specialized care. There, three hours after birth of the boy, a girl was born.

Each infant weighed in at 4½ pounds.

Shout Saves Professor

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A class yell—which had nothing to do with school spirit — saved Prof. Gertrude Lawrence of Kent State University from possible injury. Her class shouted a warning when a scaffold being raised outside the building knocked a large board onto the spot where she had been seated a moment before.

Plenty Of Clues

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — City police had plenty of clues to go on after 230 light bulbs were stolen from five used car lots here. The thieves stood on the tops of used cars to get at the lights. They left footprints all over the autos.

Everyday Can Be U.N. Day At Used Car Lots

BALTIMORE (AP) — If you know your flags, every day can be United Nations day at used car lots.

One flag student walking along Belair Road one morning identified: national flags of Luxembourg, Monaco (in distress), Indonesia (in distress), Thailand and the Netherlands; the German state flags of Saxony, Hesse (in distress), Thuringen and Schleswig-Holstein, the Swiss city flags of St. Gallen, Unterwalden, Vaud and Solothurn, and the Danish pilot's flag.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I smooth my rough cellar walls before applying paint to them?

A. Use two parts of mortar cement to one part of sand containing some calcium chloride. Add water to get a thin-mud-like consistency. This produces a waterproof cement and may be applied and smoothed over your walls with a large metal mason's trowel.

Q. How can I remove fingerprints from furniture?

A. Use a cloth saturated in olive oil. When applying wax polish, use as little as possible, and rub until the surface is free of film. If you do this, your furniture will increase in attractiveness.

Q. How can I keep eggs fresh for a fairly long time?

A. Rub very fresh eggs with oil, butter, or pure glycerin over the entire surface of the shell.

Q. How can I prevent the curdling, scorching, and stringiness that often occurs in foods made with cheese or milk?

A. By being sure to cook these foods at low, low temperatures, and not overcooking.

Q. How can I shrink colored cottons and linens?

A. Soak in cold water for several hours. Squeeze out the water—don't wring the material. Hang on clothesline, or if you have an automatic dryer, dry it in this machine with several dry turkshi towels that wll buffer the fabric as it tumble-drse. Buy non-shrunk cottons and linens with the foreknowledge that these materials will shrink anywhere from one to three inches per yard.

Q. How can I stop a persistent drainpipe leak?

A. Try the "plumber's poultice." Wrap layers of cloth and wet plaster around the leak, use some strong string to tie the "bandage" into place, and then let it dry hard before using the drain.

Q. How can I remove blood stains from silk?

A. Moisten a few inches of white sewing silk on the tongue, roll into a ball and then rub on the stain gently.

Air Crash

"I don't know," replied La Guardia. "I think he may have —now listen to this! He may have hit one of our aircraft. We're not sure."

A pause, and then La Guardia saying: "All right, now we got troubles, but we're not sure of it. We lost contact with a TWA, 266 I believe his number is. He was on a collision course with an aircraft, an unknown aircraft heading northeast from Preston toward Flatbush.

Later, Idlewild told La Guardia: "He (the jet) was last cleared to 5,000 feet."

"Oh boy!" exclaimed the La Guardia controller. "Our man was at five (5,000 feet), too. We lost one aircraft. I don't know where he is now."

A short time later, from the La Guardia controller: "Hey Joe, we might have a midair collision, so Walt's going up to alert the emergency equipment. It's TWA 266.

The jet was inbound from Chicago, the Constellation from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio.

The tapes included a conversation in which the jet reported passing 14,000 feet over Allentown, Pa., for a descent to 5,000 feet at the Preston holding area. The last word from the jet was that it was approaching Preston at the 5,000 foot altitude.

The Constellation was coming out of another holding area for La Guardia planes at Linden, N.J., about five miles from the Preston pattern. The Constellation had been cleared for landing and was starting its descent toward La Guardia.

The La Guardia controller told the TWA plane: "That appears to be jet traffic off your right, now 3 o'clock at one mile, northeast bound."

No confirmation came back from the Super Constellation. The controller messaged several times again. Still no answer.

The Preston holding stack is in New Jersey about 10 miles west of Red Bank and south of Staten Island. There is no town of Preston —it is a point delineated by the intersection of two radio beams from Colts Neck to the southeast and Robbinsville to the southwest.

In a news conference in Chicago Tuesday, William A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, said Quesada had created an impression that United's ill-fated flight was "carelessly operated."

In his reply to Patterson, Quesada said the latter phrase was Patterson's, "not mine."

Concerning Patterson's statement that it was improper for Quesada to comment publicly until all facts are known, the FAA head replied that no one involved could or should suppress "elemental facts as to which there can be little or no dispute, particularly where there is such a legitimate basis for public interest and press inquiry."

Patterson had asked Quesada: Was the Preston radio signal operating normally and did FAA have a report from other pilots, who flew in the area two hours later, reporting malfunction?

Quesada said, "The answer is 'yes,'" the Preston radio system was operating normally. As for the question of malfunction, he said: "We have no verified pilot report, direct or otherwise, which indicates a malfunction at Preston."

Patterson also wanted to know whether the general area radar control center dropped surveillance of the DC8 and, in so doing, did the Idlewild approach control pick up the plane at that time?

Quesada replied that the area traffic control center at Idlewild did discontinue its radar tracking of the DC8 "in accordance with standard procedures," when the flight approached the Preston area where it was due to go into a holding pattern until ordered in for landing at Idlewild.

The Idlewild approach control was ready to instruct the DC8 pilot, who had been told to contact the field for further orders to move in, Quesada said, but control "could not locate the jet in or near the Preston holding pattern and obviously did not track it."

"Established procedures do not provide for radar surveillance to be accomplished in a holding pattern, due to the obvious problem of the inability to identify (on a radarscope) the constantly merging targets," Quesada said.

"Radar service is resumed when the target departs from the holding pattern on the prescribed track assigned by the controller."

He Was Only Sleeping

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A emergency call sent a patrol car racing through the streets looking for a small boy lying unconscious on the sidewalk. When the officers reached him and raised him, they asked what was wrong.

"I was sleeping," he said.

"Why on the sidewalk?"

"That's where I was when I got tired," he replied.

This referred to a demonstration in San Francisco at a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Hoover's claim that demonstrators were goaded by Communists, echoed by committee Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., was denied by a group of students involved.

Riot charges against 62 of the student demonstrators were dismissed by Municipal Judge Albert A. Axelrod, who said they were merely trying to protest what they believed to be an undemocratic hearing. Axelrod added, "I am convinced they were not engaged in subversive activity."

In his report to Rogers, Hoover said the FBI's activities in 1960 were highlighted by actions against Soviet espionage, as well as with important criminal arrests for kidnapings and other major crimes.

"During this period of grave international tension, America cannot afford to relax her internal defenses even momentarily," Hoover said.

"FBI investigators during 1960 disclosed that an alarming number of Soviet and satellite diplomatic personnel have intelligence assignments in this country."

He noted last summer two secretaries in the Soviet Embassy here were declared persona non grata and that two persons were arrested in October and another in November on spy charges.

Beaver School Thief Leaves Empty-Handed

Thieves who paid an overnight visit to Beaver Local High School and neatly rifled desks and files in the office of Principal Lee Kirkland apparently left empty-handed.

Entry was made through a back door, which was pried open, and by removing wood stripping from the doorframe of the office, according to Kirkland and Deputy Sheriff James Miller.

Items removed from the desk of Mrs. Phyllis Ross, secretary, were placed in the middle of the desk top, and no scattering of papers or damage was found except to the doors. A few pennies remained in the desk.

No money is ordinarily kept in the building because of previous entries, and no safe has been in the office since a burglary in 1959.

Hammondsville Post Will Treat Children

HAMMONDSVILLE — American Legion Post 742 will hold a Christmas party for children of the community tonight at 7:30.

Santa Claus will distribute treats. Cookies and refreshments will be served. Plans for the party were outlined at a meeting of the post Tuesday night.

Thirteen were present. Bill Burton, commander, presided. Frank Gruszecki, acting chaplain, conducted devotions.

The next meeting is Jan. 3.

Four Servicemen Injured In Crash

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Four servicemen stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., were hurt today in a two-car collision on the West Virginia Turnpike.

Pfc. John P. Graham, 25, of Sewickley, Pa., was hospitalized for treatment of a head cut. The others were treated for minor bruises and released.

They are Pfc. John R. Tholkes, 17, Minneapolis, Minn.; Clarence Scollon, 22, Morrisce, Mich., and Pvt. Michael J. Dawson, 20, Logansport, Ind.

State Trooper N. G. McNeill said Scollon, the driver, told him he fell asleep. Their car struck an auto that had stopped along the side of the toll road because of engine trouble.

The driver of the stalled car, Jawad Thanoon Agha, 27, a college student who gave only his school address at Raleigh, N. C., escaped injury. He went on his way to near Indianapolis, Ind.

The accident occurred near the Mossy Interchange, 30 miles southeast of here.

Santa Visits Newell But Parade's Canceled

Thriving on the cold, snowy weather, Santa Claus arrived at the Newell fire station Wednesday night to distribute treats to children up to 12.

But he made it on his own—a parade the Wells High School band was to lead was canceled because of the weather.

The sponsoring organizations had prepared for 500 children, but the weather cut into the attendance. The remaining treats were distributed to shut-ins and to the Hancock County Children's Home.

The annual event is sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary, volunteer firemen and auxiliary, Women's Club, Business & Professional Women's Club and the Boosters Club.

Main highways in the district are clear, but have snow piled at the edges and in the center in some places, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported today.

Public Schools Open; Parochial Still Closed

Dismissed Wednesday because of the heavy snow, city schools resumed today for the final day before the start of the Christmas vacation. Classes will resume Jan. 3.

However, St. Aloysius Parochial School students got an earlier start on their vacation. The school was closed yesterday and remained closed today. It was scheduled to be dismissed this afternoon for the holidays, also resuming Jan. 3.

Secondary roads generally are snow-covered and in some places clogged so that only vehicles with chains can get through.

County highways were reported open but slippery in places by John (Dick) Neill, supervisor, who said ashing crews were out on regular schedule again today.

Firemen of the district repeated warnings to householders to use caution with heating plants running full blast against the worst cold of the season and in thawing water pipe with open flames. Winter arrived Wednesday.

Rural schools that closed Wednesday as the heavy snow blocked secondary roads to school buses remained suspended today with the start of yearend Christmas vacations. Heating might have presented a problem in many rural buildings had they attempted to reopen today.

Snow Shoveling Causes 24 Deaths In Ohio

By The Associated Press

Sub-zero temperatures were general over Ohio early this morning as a high pressure system pushed extremely cold air into the state.

The extreme cold came in the wake of Tuesday's heavy snowfall which amounted to as much as 12 inches in parts of Ohio.

The low temperatures dashed any hopes the high drifts and snow that clogged roads might melt away quickly.

Dayton and Canton hit 7 below zero this morning, the Weather Bureau reported. It was 6 below at Columbus—a record there for Dec. 22—and Zanesville, 5 below at Toledo, 4 below at Cleveland—the coldest it has been there since Jan. 5, 1959—and 3 below at Cincinnati.

In Marion, a reading of 11 below was reported at the city's pumping station.

The state labored all day Wednesday into the night to dig itself out of the heavy snows which blocked city and rural roads, closed schools, postponed athletic events and was blamed for at least 24 deaths brought on by snow shoveling.

By midnight, the Highway Patrol was able to report that all highways were open, with traffic moving fairly normally on main thoroughfares, although secondary roads were still snow-covered and slippery.

Some schools were expected to reopen today, although others decided to give the pupils two extra days of vacation because of the weather.

Such was the case in Cleveland, where 136,000 public school children received the lengthened holiday sabbatical.

Many of the 80 closed Cincinnati schools were expected to reopen today. Middleton and Franklin schools stayed closed.

60 Attend Yule Dinner Of First National Bank

Some 60 employes of the First National Bank and guests attended the annual dinner party Tuesday night at the American Legion home in Chester.

Roy Wilson, toastmaster, introduced 5 retired employes with long service, J. W. Smith and J. Wilbur Newman, 49 years each; Albert Pittenger, 46; Miss Marie Wolf, 40, and Ira Brown, custodian for 12 years.

Bob Hall's orchestra provided music for dancing. The committee assisting Wilson, chairman, included Collin Neal, entertainment; Mrs. Erma Rambo, program, and Frank Richmond and John Allison, decorations.

Members of the auxiliary of the Hancock County 8 & 40 Society served the dinner.

Air Crash

"I don't know," replied La Guardia. "I think he may have —now listen to this! He may have hit one of our aircraft. We're not sure."

A pause, and then La Guardia saying: "All right, now we got troubles, but we're not sure of it. We lost contact with a TWA, 266 I believe his number is. He was on a collision course with an aircraft, an unknown aircraft heading northeast from Preston toward Flatbush.

Later, Idlewild told La Guardia: "He (the jet) was last cleared to 5,000 feet."

"Oh boy!" exclaimed the La Guardia controller. "Our man was at five (5,000 feet), too. We lost one aircraft. I don't know where he is now."

A short time later, from the La Guardia controller: "Hey Joe, we might have a midair collision, so Walt's going up to alert the emergency equipment. It's TWA 266.

The jet was inbound from Chicago, the Constellation from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio.

The tapes included a conversation in which the jet reported passing 14,000 feet over Allentown, Pa., for a descent to 5,000 feet at the Preston holding area. The last word from the jet was that it was approaching Preston at the 5,000 foot altitude.

The Constellation was coming out of another holding area for La Guardia planes at Linden, N.J., about five miles from the Preston pattern. The Constellation had been cleared for landing and was starting its descent toward La Guardia.

The La Guardia controller told the TWA plane: "That appears to be jet traffic off your right, now 3 o'clock at one mile, northeast bound."

No confirmation came back from the Super Constellation. The controller messaged several times again. Still no answer.

The Preston holding stack is in New Jersey about 10 miles west of Red Bank and south of Staten Island. There is no town of Preston —it is a point delineated by the intersection of two radio beams from Colts Neck to the southeast and Robbinsville to the southwest.

In a news conference in Chicago Tuesday, William A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, said Quesada had created an impression that United's ill-fated flight was "carelessly operated."

In his reply to Patterson, Quesada said the latter phrase was Patterson's, "not mine."

Concerning Patterson's statement that it was improper for Quesada to comment publicly until all facts are known, the FAA head replied that no one involved could or should suppress "elemental facts as to which there can be little or no dispute, particularly where there is such a legitimate basis for public interest and press inquiry."

Patterson had asked Quesada: Was the Preston radio signal operating normally and did FAA have a report from other pilots, who flew in the area two hours later, reporting malfunction?

Quesada said, "The answer is 'yes,'" the Preston radio system was operating normally. As for the question of malfunction, he said: "We have no verified pilot report, direct or otherwise, which indicates a malfunction at Preston."

Patterson also wanted to know whether the general area radar control center dropped surveillance of the DC8 and, in so doing, did the Idlewild approach control pick up the plane at that time?

Quesada replied that the area traffic control center at Idlewild did discontinue its radar tracking of the DC8 "in accordance with standard procedures," when the flight approached the Preston area where it was due to go into a holding pattern until ordered in for landing at Idlewild.

The Idlewild approach control was ready to instruct the DC8 pilot, who had been told to contact the field for further orders to move in, Quesada said, but control "could not locate the jet in or near the Preston holding pattern and obviously did not track it."

"Established procedures do not provide for radar surveillance to be accomplished in a holding pattern, due to the obvious problem of the inability to identify (on a radarscope) the constantly merging targets," Quesada said.

"Radar service is resumed when the target departs from the holding pattern on the prescribed track assigned by the controller."

Bishop said installation of a new fence at the reservoir has been delayed this week because of the snow.

He Was Only Sleeping

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A emergency call sent a patrol car racing through the streets looking for a small boy lying unconscious on the sidewalk. When the officers reached him and raised him, they asked what was wrong.

"I was sleeping," he said.

"Why on the sidewalk?"

"That's where I was when I got tired," he replied.

This referred to a demonstration in San Francisco at a hearing of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Hoover's claim that demonstrators were goaded by Communists, echoed by committee Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., was denied by a group of students involved.

Riot charges against 62 of the student demonstrators were dismissed by Municipal Judge Albert A. Axelrod, who said they were merely trying to protest what they believed to be an undemocratic hearing. Axelrod added, "I am convinced they were not engaged in subversive activity."

In his report to Rogers, Hoover said the FBI's activities in 1960 were highlighted by actions against Soviet espionage, as well as with important criminal arrests for kidnapings and other major crimes.

"During this period of grave international tension, America cannot afford to relax her internal defenses even momentarily," Hoover said.

"FBI investigators during 1960 disclosed that an alarming number of Soviet and satellite diplomatic personnel have intelligence assignments in this country."

He noted last summer two secretaries in the Soviet Embassy here were declared persona non grata and that two persons were arrested in October and another in November on spy charges.

Beaver School Thief Leaves Empty-Handed

Thieves who paid an overnight visit to Beaver Local High School and neatly rifled desks and files in the office of Principal Lee Kirkland apparently left empty-handed.

Entry was made through a back door, which was pried open, and by removing wood stripping from the doorframe of the office, according to Kirkland and Deputy Sheriff James Miller.

Items removed from the desk of Mrs. Phyllis Ross, secretary, were placed in the middle of the desk top, and no scattering of papers or damage was found except to the doors. A few pennies remained in the desk.

No money is ordinarily kept in the building because of previous entries, and no safe has been in the office since a burglary in 1959.

Hammondsville Post Will Treat Children

HAMMONDSVILLE — American Legion Post 742 will hold a Christmas party for children of the community tonight at 7:30.

Santa Claus will distribute treats. Cookies and refreshments will be served. Plans for the party were outlined at a meeting of the post Tuesday night.

Thirteen were present. Bill Burton, commander, presided. Frank Gruszecki, acting chaplain, conducted devotions.

Four Servicemen Injured In Crash

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Four servicemen stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., were hurt today in a two-car collision on the West Virginia Turnpike.

Pfc. John P. Graham, 25, of Sewickley, Pa., was hospitalized for treatment of a head cut. The others were treated for minor bruises and released.

They are Pfc. John R. Tholkes, 17, Minneapolis, Minn.; Clarence Scollon, 22, Morrisce, Mich., and Pvt. Michael J. Dawson, 20, Logansport, Ind.

State Trooper N. G. McNeill said Scollon, the driver, told him he fell asleep. Their car struck an auto that had stopped along the side of the toll road because of engine trouble.

The driver of the stalled car, Jawad Thanoon Agha, 27, a college student who gave only his school address at Raleigh, N. C., escaped injury. He went on his way to near Indianapolis, Ind.

The accident occurred near the Mossy Interchange, 30 miles southeast of here.

Santa Visits Newell But Parade's Canceled

Thriving on the cold, snowy weather, Santa Claus arrived at the Newell fire station Wednesday night to distribute treats to children up to 12.

But he made it on his own—a parade the Wells High School band was to lead was canceled because of the weather.

The sponsoring organizations had prepared for 500 children, but the weather cut into the attendance. The remaining treats were distributed to shut-ins and to the Hancock County Children's Home.

The annual event is sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary, volunteer firemen and auxiliary, Women's Club, Business & Professional Women's Club and the Boosters Club.

Blessed Art Thou, Mary . . .

Joseph Learns Mary Is With Child; His Love For Her Is Put To Test

Even the great human love story of the Gospels had its moments of tribulation. Here, based on ancient but non-canonical accounts, is a reconstruction of the greatest and unique trial of Mary and Joseph.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

"Why hast thou, who has been so much favored of God thus debased thy soul?"

Back from his building expedition, Joseph entered the house and found Mary standing alone before the hearth. Her back was toward him. She did not move. Quickly he hooked the door curtain aside to admit more light.

He started toward her, s w e p t with eager devotion. He had not seen her for six months.

She turned about, facing him. An armload of firewood she held crashed to the floor at her feet.

He stopped.

Beneath the gray cowl, her face was pale and drawn and her eyes burned with anguish. Her palms spread imploringly, defenselessly, at her sides. Her body bulged. She was full, meleah, with child!

BREATH FAILED him, and his countenance s a g g e d in disbelief and dismay. He took a step or two, and halted again, staring at her in shattered incredulity.

She seemed to shrink from him, her fingers twisting at the folds of her cloak. She lowered her head, and then, clenching her lips, bent and began rapidly picking up the kindling and stacking it in a heap.

He opened his mouth to speak, but no words came. A wave of helpless compassion came over him, an urge to take her in his arms and console her. Yet he re-m a i n e d rooted, sick at heart, shocked and confounded.

Abruptly he turned and plunged out of the house into his carpentry shed. He flung himself down on a pile of sackcloth.

"Oh Lord, my God," he moaned. "What shall I say concerning her?"

He wept bitterly.

"For I received her a virgin out of the Temple of the Lord, and have not preserved her such."

Rage boiled in him.

"Who has thus deceived me? Who has committed this evil in my house? Who hath defiled her?"

—:—

IN THE very dawn of matrimony had come betrayal. At the beginning of paradise, it was lost.

"Is not the history of Adam repeated in me? For at the very hour of his giving thanks, the serpent came and found Eve alone, and decieved her."

His fingers dug in his face.

"So hath it befallen me also."

Angrily he lurched to his feet. With a stroke of his arm, he sent a rack of boards smashing against the wall. He strode outside and into the grove. He walked until h i s bones ached along with his heart, and then returned to confront her.

Now it was night, and a lamp flamed on the sideboard. He called to her, and she emerged from an inner chamber, looking on him with swollen, defiant eyes. He drew himself up determinedly, and said:

"Why hast thou done this?"

Her lips parted and her throat muscles moved in little spasms, but speech eluded her. He could see the veins purpling beneath her translucent skin, and sorrow shook him.

All his senses insisted that she could not have done this thing, she who was so prudent and full of grace, she who was schooled in the very Temple itself, yet here stood her unfaithfulness a taunt to his face.

"Why...? He shook his head. "Why hast thou, who has been so much favored of God, thus debased thy soul?"

SUDDENLY, tears burst f r o m her in a flood, and she clasped her hands to her face, crying o u t shrilly:

"I am innocent, and have known no man!"

He stood there, dumbstruck, pitying her, loving her, detesting her, believing her, doubting her.

"Then," he said unsteadily, "how comes it to pass you are w i t h child?"

A new burst of tears convulsed her.

"As the Lord my God liveth, I know not by what means."

She bent almost double, covering her face in her arms, and whirling, rushed from the room.

For a time, he stood there, abashed, deadened, hearing h e r rending sobs from the blackness of the inner chamber. Then, his shoulders slumped, he went out again into the night.

An edge of fear formed in him, along with his shame and grief.

"I am innocent..."

She had been under strict covenant to him, and any breach in it was adultery. Mosaic law said, "If a damsel that is virgin be betrothed...and another man lie with her...then ye shall stone them with stones until they die."

Yet he could not see her slain.

His head throbbed. He could put her away privately. Yea, so he could, without trial or clamor. He would deliver her to kinsmen in Judea, away from the prattling tongues of Nazareth. He was a just man, and had loved her greatly.

He stumbled on in darkness, oblivious to the limbs that whipped his face.

OH GOD, the day star is fallen and hope is become despair. It would not have been unlawful, even thought unseemly, if he himself had known her before. Jealousy consumed him, and her cry haunted him like some wraith of Sheol.

"I am innocent!...innocent!"

If only, within reason, he could believe her, or pardon—for a good man is long-suffering, and unafraid of scorn — but he could not.

Somewhere in the night, somewhere in the gulf past purpose or return, he dropped to his knees, bitter tears mingling with his supplications. He could not say how long he prayed there, and finally he fell to the ground and slept a tumid and teeming sleep.

Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son...He shall save His people from their sins.

He jerked erect, his heart beating wildly, his eyes feverish and exultant. It was true! A mystery unveiled! It was their Maker's doing, and the Lord of Hosts is his name. For this cause had the Lord wrought and kept her. He got up, his body stiff, his mind aflame.

HE RAN, dodging and leaping, as the sun shot silver through the trees. He came to the house and found her waiting. His arms went around her, and with these two, all was well.

But t h e r e was suspicion and glowering looks in Nazareth. After Mary's state was known, women pointed and whispered. J o s e p h found himself shunned. His salutes went ignored.

For, while cohabitation was not illegal for the betrothed, it was considered a violation of decorum. The case was especially notorious in regard to Mary, for her merit and rectitude had been especially acclaimed.

Joseph also had been credited as a temperate and judicious man. Thus the community was scandalized, and Joseph, along with Mary, was summoned before the elders to confess the deed or denounce her.

"Bear no false witness but speak the truth," the beetle-browed rabbi demanded. "Thou hast married her by stealth...and has not bowed thy head under the mighty hand of God that thy seed should be blessed."

Joseph stood silently, yielding to t h e indictment. For to have resisted it would have subjected Mary to a capital offense. He walked out of the synagogue, a silent Psalm of fortitude in his soul.

"For a good man sheweth favor, and lendeth...He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord. H i s heart is established, he shall not be afraid."

At the quiet, unpublished ceremony of marriage, the ancient words before entry into the chuppah, the canopied, symbolic tent of the bride, were repeated.

"Therefore shall a man...cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh."

At that moment, it is said, a couple's name is proclaimed in heaven. And they were not ashamed nor confounded, and none could remove their peace.

About that time, it was decreed by the provincial Roman legate that all citizens should register at the cities of their birth to be taxed. Since Joseph was of Bethlehem, he journeyed there, taking Mary with him, even though this was not required, for he would not leave her among the mockers of Nazareth.

Involves Trumbull Couple

High Court Orders New Trial In Adoption Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has ordered a new trial in an adoption case involving a Trumbull County couple.

The high court Wednesday decided to return the case to probate court for further proceedings. Richard E. Williams, of Rt. 1, Vienna, and his wife, Rita Jean, seek to adopt the woman's 6-year old- son, Phillip, by a previous marriage.

They started adoption proceedings Dec. 5, 1958, over the objection of Oscar Cassada of Albuquerque, N.M., the natural father of the boy.

Williams contended that Cascada's permission was unnecessary under Ohio law because of a provision for adoption of a child whose natural father fails to provide support for more than two years.

Originally, probate court granted the adoption but an appellate court reversed the decision. The supreme court, in turn, reversed that verdict and said the sole function of an appellate court is to order a new trial when it reverses a lower court decision on the weight of evidence.

In other decisions, the high court:

Reversed, 5-1, lower court decisions awarding Eldon M. Osborn of Akron 5,000 damages for physical discomfort from a neighboring land fill into which the city began dumping 200,000 pounds of garbage a day in 1955. T h e supreme court said a city is not liable to adjacent land owners for an alleged nuisance arising from operation of a land fill for disposal of garbage and refuse.

Upheld, 4-2, the right of an individual to inspect state driver license and vehicle registration records in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. The high court modified a writ of mandamus obtained by Paul B. Patterson of near Columbus against the registrar of motor vehicles to limit inspection to records of the one individual he named. The registrar had refused Patterson permission to inspect the records.

Agreed to review an appeal by the mayor of Eastlake in Lake County to uphold dismissal of Acting Police Chief Richard H. Taylor on charges of neglect of duty and nonfeasance. The civil service commission upheld the removal but common pleas court reversed that decision and an appellate court dismissed the mayor's appeal. The mayor then asked the high court to overturn the lower court rulings.

Mrs. Homer Paul, devotion and program chairman, presented the topic, "Self-Righteous Person," in the program entitled, "Christmas Headlines". Scripture verses were read by Mrs. Charles Newcomb, Mrs. Robert Cowan, Mrs. James Servey, Mrs. Ed Kramer, M r s. John Madish and Mrs. Don Berkebile. Mrs. Paul Brucker accompanied group singing.

Mrs. Brucker, president, presided for business and announced that members will receive coin cards to be used for future church needs.

Mrs. Charles Henderson, Christian service chairman, led a discussion on future club projects.

Mrs. Paul, chairman of "World Day of Prayer," announced plans are being made for the affair with the Ohio View group hostess unit Feb. 17 in the church hall.

The public thank-offering p r o gram for next year was discussed. Mrs. Kramer is chairman.

A white elephant gift exchange was held as the group sang "Jingle Bells."

Mrs. Brucker said the next meeting is Jan. 17 at 8:15 p. m. in the hall with Mrs. Joseph Fiediga program chairman and Mrs. Servey devotional chairman.

The altar care committee for January includes Mrs. Harold Brobek, chairman, Mrs. Alex Frederick, Mrs. Dwight Stall, Mrs. Eugene George and Miss Marilyn Cowan.

Benediction concluded the meeting.

The refreshment table was decorated with a white church steeple centered between two angels on a C h r i s t m a s cloth. Evergreen boughs, hanging silver ornaments and Christmas murals completed decorations.

Mrs. Fiediga and Mrs. Brucker assisted Mrs. Paul in serving.

Ex-Democratic National Committeewoman Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Mildred R. Jaster, 70, who was Democratic national committeewoman for Ohio from 1936 to 1944, died Wednesday. She succumbed in the Osborn B u i l d i n g in downtown Cleveland while on the way to visit her dentist.

Mrs. Jaster was elected committeewoman at the 1936 Democratic convention in Philadelphia and was re-elected in 1940 at Chicago. In 1942 she ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 22nd District.

Reported Recovering

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard Colopy, 23, is reported recovering from injuries he suffered Wednesday while helping fight a fire in northwest Licking County. University Hospital lists Colopy in satisfactory condition. He was hurt when shotgun shells exploded in a burning house, striking him in the head and eye.

Blessed Art Thou, Mary . . .

Joseph Learns Mary Is With Child; His Love For Her Is Put To Test

Even the great human love story of the Gospels had its moments of tribulation. Here, based on ancient but non-canonical accounts, is a reconstruction of the greatest and unique trial of Mary and Joseph.

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

"Why hast thou, who has been so much favored of God thus debased thy soul?"

Back from his building expedition, Joseph entered the house and found Mary standing alone before the hearth. Her back was toward him. She did not move. Quickly he hooked the door curtain aside to admit more light.

He started toward her, swept with eager devotion. He had not seen her for six months.

She turned about, facing him. An armload of firewood she held crashed to the floor at her feet.

He stopped.

Beneath the gray cowl, her face was pale and drawn and her eyes burned with anguish. Her palms spread imploringly, defenselessly, at her sides. Her body bulged. She was full, meleah, with child!

BREATH FAILED him, and his countenance sagged in disbelief and dismay. He took a step or two, and halted again, staring at her in shattered incredulity.

She seemed to shrink from him, her fingers twisting at the folds of her cloak. She lowered her head, and then, clenching her lips, bent and began rapidly picking up the kindling and stacking it in a heap.

He opened his mouth to speak, but no words came. A wave of helpless compassion came over him, an urge to take her in his arms and console her. Yet he remained rooted, sick at heart, shocked and confounded.

Abruptly he turned and plunged out of the house into his carpentry shed. He flung himself down on a pile of sackcloth.

"Oh Lord, my God," he moaned. "What shall I say concerning her?"

He wept bitterly.

"For I received her a virgin out of the Temple of the Lord, and have not preserved her such."

Rage boiled in him.

"Who has thus deceived me? Who has committed this evil in my house? Who hath defiled her?"

—:—

IN THE very dawn of matrimony had come betrayal. At the beginning of paradise, it was lost.

"Is not the history of Adam repeated in me? For at the very hour of his giving thanks, the serpent came and found Eve alone, and decieved her."

His fingers dug in his face.

"So hath it befallen me also."

Angrily he lurched to his feet. With a stroke of his arm, he sent a rack of boards smashing against the wall. He strode outside and into the grove. He walked until his bones ached along with his heart, and then returned to confront her.

Now it was night, and a lamp flamed on the sideboard. He called to her, and she emerged from an inner chamber, looking on him with swollen, defiant eyes. He drew himself up determinedly, and said:

"Why hast thou done this?"

Her lips parted and her throat muscles moved in little spasms, but speech eluded her. He could see the veins purpling beneath her translucent skin, and sorrow shook him.

All his senses insisted that she could not have done this thing, she who was so prudent and full of grace, she who was schooled in the very Temple itself, yet here stood her unfaithfulness a taunt to his face.

"Why...? He shook his head. "Why hast thou, who has been so much favored of God, thus debased thy soul?"

SUDDENLY, tears burst from her in a flood, and she clasped her hands to her face, crying out shrilly:

"I am innocent, and have known no man!"

He stood there, dumbstruck, pitying her, loving her, detesting her, believing her, doubting her.

"Then," he said unsteadily, "how comes it to pass you are with child?"

A new burst of tears convulsed her.

"As the Lord my God liveth, I know not by what means."

She bent almost double, covering her face in her arms, and whirling, rushed from the room.

For a time, he stood there, abashed, deadened, hearing her rending sobs from the blackness of the inner chamber. Then, his shoulders slumped, he went out again into the night.

An edge of fear formed in him, along with his shame and grief.

"I am innocent..."

She had been under strict covenant to him, and any breach in it was adultery. Mosaic law said, "If a damsel that is virgin be betrothed...and another man lie with her...then ye shall stone them with stones until they die."

Yet he could not see her slain.

His head throbbed. He could put her away privately. Yea, so he could, without trial or clamor. He would deliver her to kinsmen in Judea, away from the prattling tongues of Nazareth. He was a just man, and had loved her greatly.

He stumbled on in darkness, oblivious to the limbs that whipped his face.

OH GOD, the day star is fallen and hope is become despair. It would not have been unlawful, even thought unseemly, if he himself had known her before. Jealousy consumed him, and her cry haunted him like some wraith of Sheol.

"I am innocent!...innocent!"

If only, within reason, he could believe her, or pardon—for a good man is long-suffering, and unafraid of scorn — but he could not.

Somewhere in the night, somewhere in the gulf past purpose or return, he dropped to his knees, bitter tears mingling with his supplications. He could not say how long he prayed there, and finally he fell to the ground and slept a tumid and teeming sleep.

Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son...He shall save His people from their sins.

He jerked erect, his heart beating wildly, his eyes feverish and exultant. It was true! A mystery unveiled! It was their Maker's doing, and the Lord of Hosts is his name. For this cause had the Lord wrought and kept her. He got up, his body stiff, his mind aflame.

HE RAN, dodging and leaping, as the sun shot silver through the trees. He came to the house and found her waiting. His arms went around her, and with these two, all was well.

But there was suspicion and glowering looks in Nazareth. After Mary's state was known, women pointed and whispered. Joseph found himself shunned. His salutes went ignored.

For, while cohabitation was not illegal for the betrothed, it was considered a violation of decorum. The case was especially notorious in regard to Mary, for her merit and rectitude had been especially acclaimed.

Joseph also had been credited as a temperate and judicious man. Thus the community was scandalized, and Joseph, along with Mary, was summoned before the elders to confess the deed or denounce her.

"Bear no false witness but speak the truth," the beetle-browed rabbi demanded. "Thou hast married her by stealth...and has not bowed thy head under the mighty hand of God that thy seed should be blessed."

Joseph stood silently, yielding to the indictment. For to have resisted it would have subjected Mary to a capital offense. He walked out of the synagogue, a silent Psalm of fortitude in his soul.

"For a good man sheweth favor, and lendeth...He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord. His heart is established, he shall not be afraid."

At the quiet, unpublished ceremony of marriage, the ancient words before entry into the chuppah, the canopied, symbolic tent of the bride, were repeated.

"Therefore shall a man...cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh."

At that moment, it is said, a couple's name is proclaimed in heaven. And they were not ashamed nor confounded, and none could remove their peace.

About that time, it was decreed by the provincial Roman legate that all citizens should register at the cities of their birth to be taxed. Since Joseph was of Bethlehem, he journeyed there, taking Mary with him, even though this was not required, for he would not leave her among the mockers of Nazareth.

Involves Trumbull Couple

High Court Orders New Trial In Adoption Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has ordered a new trial in an adoption case involving a Trumbull County couple.

The high court Wednesday decided to return the case to probate court for further proceedings. Richard E. Williams, of Rt. 1, Vienna, and his wife, Rita Jean, seek to adopt the woman's 6-year old- son, Phillip, by a previous marriage.

They started adoption proceedings Dec. 5, 1958, over the objection of Oscar Cassada of Albuquerque, N.M., the natural father of the boy.

Williams contended that Cascada's permission was unnecessary under Ohio law because of a provision for adoption of a child whose natural father fails to provide support for more than two years.

Originally, probate court granted the adoption but an appellate court reversed the decision. The supreme court, in turn, reversed that verdict and said the sole function of an appellate court is to order a new trial when it reverses a lower court decision on the weight of evidence.

In other decisions, the high court:

Reversed, 5-1, lower court decisions awarding Eldon M. Osborn of Akron 5,000 damages for physical discomfort from a neighboring land fill into which the city began dumping 200,000 pounds of garbage a day in 1955. The supreme court said a city is not liable to adjacent land owners for an alleged nuisance arising from operation of a land fill for disposal of garbage and refuse.

Upheld, 4-2, the right of an individual to inspect state driver license and vehicle registration records in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. The high court modified a writ of mandamus obtained by Paul B. Patterson of near Columbus against the registrar of motor vehicles to limit inspection to records of the one individual he named. The registrar had refused Patterson permission to inspect the records.

Agreed to review an appeal by the mayor of Eastlake in Lake County to uphold dismissal of Acting Police Chief Richard H. Taylor on charges of neglect of duty and nonfeasance. The civil service commission upheld the removal but common pleas court reversed that decision and an appellate court dismissed the mayor's appeal. The mayor then asked the high court to overturn the lower court rulings.

Ike Appoints Mitchell In Labor Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today named Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell to head a 15-member commission to investigate the dispute between railroads and the operating unions over work rules and practices.

The President selected Mitchell upon the recommendation of the railroads and the five railway labor organizations involved in the controversy over what the railroads call the featherbedding problem.

In announcing the membership of the commission, Eisenhower said the group represents "a major and constructive innovation that will prove to be a significant achievement in the progress of labor-management relations toward greater maturity and stability."

In addition to Mitchell, Eisenhower named four other public members of the commission.

He also approved the recommendations of the carriers nominating five members and the recommendation of the operating unions selecting five others.

Mitchell in mid-October hammered out an agreement between the railroads and the operating unions which resulted in setting up the commission.

As public members, in addition to Mitchell, Eisenhower named the following:

John T. Dunlop of Belmont, Mass., professor of economics of Harvard University; Charles A. Myers, of Weston, Mass., member of the staff of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Francis J. Robertson of Washington, D.C., attorney and arbitrator, and Russell A. Smith of Ann Arbor, Mich., arbitrator.

Injunction Filed To Halt Picketing

CLEVELAND (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board today filed an injunction in Federal Court to prevent a union from picketing the Ford Motor Co. in Lorain, where a loading dock was being built at the New York Central Railroad tracks.

The union—Laborers Local 758 of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America (AFL-CIO)—and its agents must show cause in a hearing before a federal judge why the injunction should not be granted.

The petition alleges the union and its members have "threatened, forced and coerced" Ford from doing business with the construction firm, the Gillmore-Olson Co. since Nov. 23. The picketing began Dec. 14, and it was charged that the union has "induced members of Gillmore-Olson to strike or refuse to construct" the loading dock by its actions.

Woman Fatally Stabbed, Mother Knifed, Beaten

MADISON,Wis. (AP)—The body of a woman, fatally stabbed, was found Wednesday night in the blood-stained bathroom of an empty house shortly after police had found her mother, stabbed and beaten and in serious condition in her home.

Police said the mother, Frances Gallagher, 78, told them she had been attacked by "a tall man about 38 years old."

Police said Mrs. Gallagher's daughter, Hazel Williams, 50, had been stabbed 40 or 50 times ~~either~~ with an ice pick, a large nail or a small knife. They said she probably had been dead since Tuesday.

Her mother was found in a nearby home, suffering from a skull fracture, bruises and similar stab wounds. Mrs. Williams' body was found by police after Mrs. Gallagher pleaded that they look for her daughter.

Mrs. Gallagher was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

WEST ACTON, Mass. (AP) — Jack Onslow, 72, veteran baseball figure who once managed the Chicago White Sox, died early today.

Onslow, noted for his humor as well as his baseball ability, had been scout for the Boston Red Sox since 1951.

Onslow piloted Waterloo in the Three-Eye League and Memphis in the Southern Association before taking the helm of the White Sox.

Onslow was born at Scottsdale, Pa., Oct. 13, 1888.

The widow survives.

Pipe Thawing Causes Blaze

With near-zero temperatures freezing water lines, Chief Charles Bryan today urged residents not to use paper torches to thaw them.

Bryan issued the appeal after firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Virginia Spooner, 846 Fairview St., at 9:18 a. m. to quell a fire started when a relative used a paper torch in an attempt to open frozen lines.

"It would have been a dandy in about five more minutes," Bryan said.

Bryan suggested the use of an electric iron.

He also urged residents not to place hot ashes from coal furnaces in cardboard or wooden boxes, which easily can be set afire.

Firemen were called back to Fairview St. at 10:25 a. m. to investigate leaking gas at the home of Alberta Wolfe. A pilot light on a furnace had gone out, firemen said, and they turned off the gas.

The chief said the department has been checking all fire hydrants to dig them out of snow. "If you know of one still buried, call Central Station (FU 5-1117) and tell us and we will remove the snow," he said.

Safest Safe Is Opened For That 'First Dollar'

BROADUS, Mont. (AP) — For sentiment's sake the state's safest safe is open.

For 20 years after Ashton Jones put the little black safe in the Powder River Examiner newspaper offices no one knew the combination.

Owners Hardie J. Sickles and Aubrey Larson left it locked.

Then Jones came back and had a locksmith open it — to get the first dollar he earned.

Ex-Titanium Aide Elevated

A former official with the Midland Works titanium development has been promoted by the Crucible Steel Co. at Pittsburgh.

W. E. Gregg, who has been vice president of technology, has been appointed vice president of operations. He succeeds J. D. Dickerson who has been assigned new administrative responsibilities.

Joel Hunter, president, also announced that E. A. March, formerly director of metallurgy and technical developemnt, becomes director of technology.

Gregg began his professional career in 1936 when he joined the Remington Arms Co., Inc. In 1945 he became associated with E. I. duPont deNemours & Co. engineering department.

He returned to Remington Arms in 1949 to work on the titanium development program. The following year he was named assistant treasurer and manager of services for Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., then jointly owned by Remington Arms and Crucible at Midland. In 1953 he was appointed assistant director of operations at Rem-Cru and in 1954 he was elected vice president and assistant general manager.

When Crucible acquired full ownership of Rem-Cru, Gregg was named works manager of the titanium operations.

In 1958 he was transferred to Crucible's General Offices.

Cuban Diplomat Says U.S. Harbors Criminals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban diplomat angrily charges that the United States is harboring "criminals, assassins and traitors" in taking in refugees from the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Carlos M. Lechuga made the charge Wednesday in an angry speech before the Council of the Organization of American States. Lechuga is the Cuban ambassador to the OAS.

He also said a million-dollar fund made available for Cuban refugee aid by President Eisenhower is being used to wage psychological warfare against Cuba and to "incite Cubans to leave their homes. Now the United States pretends this is an act of humanitarianism."

Airlines To Add 16 New Toledo Flights

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Lake Central Airlines will add 16 new flights through Toledo by May 1.

The airlines announced here Wednesday that four new flights will be in operation by Feb. 1 they include daily round trips between Columbus and Mansfield, Ohio, and Grand Rapids and Jackson, Mich. At present there is no direct service from Toledo to Mansfield, Grand Rapids and Jackson.

Later, flights will be added out of Toledo Express Airport to Findlay, Lima, Dayton, Cincinnati, Akron, Canton, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Wheeling and Charleston, W. Va.

Syndicate Buys Reno Game Spot For $16 Million

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Harolds Club, the pioneer among Nevada's ornate, bustling legal gambling halls, was sold to syndicate Wednesday for $16 million by the family that founded in it 1935.

The syndicate includes Oliver Kahle, owner of Oliver's Club at Lake Tahoe, and Ben Jaffe, Kahle's Lake Tahoe associate and landlord of the big Tropicana Casino in Las Vegas.

The sale requires approval by the Nevada Gaming Commission.

The club was owned by Raymond I. (Pappy) Smith and his sons, Raymond A. and Harold.

Pappy, with 30 years experience in carnivals, sent young Harold to Reno in 1935 to set up a legal gambling business with a carnival wheel. The whole family arrived in 1937. All worked as dealers and croupiers until the operation boomed and they had to hire help. The Smiths were the first to hire women as dealers.

Cashiers Think Holdup Man Paid Return Visit

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cashiers at the Guardian Loan Co. office in suburban Cheviot believe a man who staged an $800 holdup there on Sept. 3 paid them a return visit.

A man who kept one hand in his jacket pocket held up two cashiers just before closing time Wednesday and fled with $300 to $500. The cashiers, Judy Hoffrogge, 17, and Carolyn Weisbrodt, 17, said they believed it was the man who staged the holdup in September.

You can prepare a delicious quick relish by running a couple of green peppers and an onion through the food chopper and seasoning with vinegar, sugar and salt. Refrigerate for several hours to allow flavors to blend. Particularly attractive if you use one green and one red pepper.

WEST ACTON, Mass. (AP) — Jack Onslow, 72, veteran baseball figure who once managed the Chicago White Sox, died early today.

Onslow, noted for his humor as well as his baseball ability, had been scout for the Boston Red Sox since 1951.

Onslow piloted Waterloo in the Three-Eye League and Memphis in the Southern Association before taking the helm of the White Sox.

Onslow was born at Scottsdale, Pa., Oct. 13, 1888.

The widow survives.

Pipe Thawing Causes Blaze

With near-zero temperatures freezing water lines, Chief Charles Bryan today urged residents not to use paper torches to thaw them.

Bryan issued the appeal after firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Virginia Spooner, 846 Fairview St., at 9:18 a. m. to quell a fire started when a relative used a paper torch in an attempt to open frozen lines.

"It would have been a dandy in about five more minutes," Bryan said.

Bryan suggested the use of an electric iron.

He also urged residents not to place hot ashes from coal furnaces in cardboard or wooden boxes, which easily can be set afire.

Firemen were called back to Fairview St. at 10:25 a. m. to investigate leaking gas at the home of Alberta Wolfe. A pilot light on a furnace had gone out, firemen said, and they turned off the gas.

The chief said the department has been checking all fire hydrants to dig them out of snow. "If you know of one still buried, call Central Station (FU 5-1117) and tell us and we will remove the snow," he said.

Safest Safe Is Opened For That 'First Dollar'

BROADUS, Mont. (AP) — For sentiment's sake the state's safest safe is open.

For 20 years after Ashton Jones put the little black safe in the Powder River Examiner newspaper offices no one knew the combination.

Owners Hardie J. Sickles and Aubrey Larson left it locked.

Then Jones came back and had a locksmith open it — to get the first dollar he earned.

Ex-Titanium Aide Elevated

A former official with the Midland Works titanium development has been promoted by the Crucible Steel Co. at Pittsburgh.

W. E. Gregg, who has been vice president of technology, has been appointed vice president of operations. He succeeds J. D. Dickerson who has been assigned new administrative responsibilities.

Joel Hunter, president, also announced that E. A. March, formerly director of metallurgy and technical developemnt, becomes director of technology.

Gregg began his professional career in 1936 when he joined the Remington Arms Co., Inc. In 1945 he became associated with E. I. duPont deNemours & Co. engineering department.

He returned to Remington Arms in 1949 to work on the titanium development program. The following year he was named assistant treasurer and manager of services for Rem-Cru Titanium, Inc., then jointly owned by Remington Arms and Crucible at Midland. In 1953 he was appointed assistant director of operations at Rem-Cru and in 1954 he was elected vice president and assistant general manager.

When Crucible acquired full ownership of Rem-Cru, Gregg was named works manager of the titanium operations.

In 1958 he was transferred to Crucible's General Offices.

Cuban Diplomat Says U.S. Harbors Criminals

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cuban diplomat angrily charges that the United States is harboring "criminals, assassins and traitors" in taking in refugees from the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Carlos M. Lechuga made the charge Wednesday in an angry speech before the Council of the Organization of American States. Lechuga is the Cuban ambassador to the OAS.

He also said a million-dollar fund made available for Cuban refugee aid by President Eisenhower is being used to wage psychological warfare against Cuba and to "incite Cubans to leave their homes. Now the United States pretends this is an act of humanitarianism."

Airlines To Add 16 New Toledo Flights

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Lake Central Airlines will add 16 new flights through Toledo by May 1.

The airlines announced here Wednesday that four new flights will be in operation by Feb. 1 they include daily round trips between Columbus and Mansfield, Ohio, and Grand Rapids and Jackson, Mich. At present there is no direct service from Toledo to Mansfield, Grand Rapids and Jackson.

Later, flights will be added out of Toledo Express Airport to Findlay, Lima, Dayton, Cincinnati, Akron, Canton, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Wheeling and Charleston, W. Va.

Syndicate Buys Reno Game Spot For $16 Million

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Harolds Club, the pioneer among Nevada's ornate, bustling legal gambling halls, was sold to syndicate Wednesday for $16 million by the family that founded in it 1935.

The syndicate includes Oliver Kahle, owner of Oliver's Club at Lake Tahoe, and Ben Jaffe, Kahle's Lake Tahoe associate and landlord of the big Tropicana Casino in Las Vegas.

The sale requires approval by the Nevada Gaming Commission.

The club was owned by Raymond I. (Pappy) Smith and his sons, Raymond A. and Harold.

Pappy, with 30 years experience in carnivals, sent young Harold to Reno in 1935 to set up a legal gambling business with a carnival wheel. The whole family arrived in 1937. All worked as dealers and croupiers until the operation boomed and they had to hire help. The Smiths were the first to hire women as dealers.

Cashiers Think Holdup Man Paid Return Visit

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cashiers at the Guardian Loan Co. office in suburban Cheviot believe a man who staged an $800 holdup there on Sept. 3 paid them a return visit.

A man who kept one hand in his jacket pocket held up two cashiers just before closing time Wednesday and fled with $300 to $500. The cashiers, Judy Hoffrogge, 17, and Carolyn Weisbrodt, 17, said they believed it was the man who staged the holdup in September.

Meeting Canceled

SALINEVILLE — A meeting of the Band Boosters slated Wednesday night was canceled because of the weather Mrs. Kathleeen Griffith, president, announced.

A Matter Of Maturity

New Wrinkle In Painting

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Met an interesting fellow the other night at a cocktail party. He wasn't on a diet.

Was going to retire soon, though. Wasn't worried about it either. Had it all figured out.

"I've decided on an unusual hobby," he said, reaching for a third martini. "I'm going to spend the rest of my life trying to make maturity—mainly human maturity—respectable.

"I've decided the best way to do this is through art, so I'm going to teach painting."

"Yes, sir. Painting what?"

"Why painting human maturity, of course," he said. "It's the most neglected field on earth.

"The accent on living for too long a time has been on that most perishable of all experiences—youth. We worship youth with the passion of a blind ignorance.

"Actually, youth is not the whole House of Life. It is merely the foyer, something you pass through to get into the living room."

"Yes, sir."

"We age a good steak before we eat it, don't we?" the old fellow continued. "Yes, we do indeed.

"We also admire reasonable antiquity in a good whisky, a fine piece of furniture, a stout piece of cheese.

"Almost anything you can name of value is mellowed into greater appreciation by the passage of time except mankind itself. I hope to correct that."

"How, sir?"

"Why, confound it, by founding a new school of portraiture dedicated to picturing maturity at its best.

"Artists too often have taken the easy way out. They paint and immemorialize things easy to draw — empty-faced things like children and kittens and still-life groupings of fresh peaches and firm plums.

"Why don't they paint pictures of prunes, which, after all, are only sophisticated plums? Don't tell me. I'll tell you. Because prunes are full of wrinkles, and it takes a really serious artist to draw an honest wrinkle."

The old fellow reached out with an expert hand and speared a fourth martini from a passing tray.

"Now, in my school of painting, he went on, "nobody will be allowed to take the easy way out. He won't be permitted to draw anything that doesn't show the wrinkles of experience."

"We will make age a virtue instead of a crime. We will cease to grovel before the false and temporary idol of feckless youth. We will—."

Just then a waiter paused with another platter of martinis and inquired, "another, sir?"

The old fellow hesitated and said, "Well, no. I'm not as young as I used to be."

He put his empty glass on the tray and turned and said, "What was that you were saying? You'll have to excuse me, sir. I don't hear very well."

The annual Christmas meeting of the Fairview Grange was held Tuesday night in the Grange Hall in Ohio Township.

Mrs. Paul Dawson, lecturer, was in charge and the program included entertainment by juvenile grangers under the direction of Mrs. Charles Richards, matron, and Mrs. George Mastrovich.

Mrs. Paul McGaffick was accompanist for carols. "The Christmas Story" was read by Barry Dawson and Melenie Engle gave a poem. James Walsh played the accordion for juvenile group singing.

"Christmas In Other Lands" and a Santa Claus drill preceded the presentation of Christmas symbols and recitations.

Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Richards closed the program with a duet.

Santa Claus distributed the grab-bag gifts and gave candy and popcorn to the youngsters.

Paul Dawson, master, presided for business.

Mrs. Earl Scheel received third and fourth degrees.

Sam McKinney, hospital patient, was reported improved and Mrs. Harry Doughty, former Fairview resident, is hospitalized in Kissimmee, Fla.

The home economics committee sent cookies to aged persons in the community.

It was announced that juvenile grangers donated their prize money from the Midland Christmas parade to the Western Beaver County Schools for a dental fund. Mrs. Tom Beardshaw donated the tree for the float and the juveniles will present the tree to a needy family in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John Smyda were host and hostess chairmen.

Mrs. Keith Hammond won the mystery package.

The next meeting is held Jan. 3.

Lady's Phone Number Also Spells S-A-N-T-A

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Children asking to speak to Santa Claus have been calling Mrs. George W. Potts for three weeks.

She went along with the small fry until Wednesday when her curiosity prompted her to ask the boy on the telephone why he had chosen her number—7-2682.

A bakery's Christmas decorations include a dummy telephone which young visitors are encouraged to use in talking to Santa. All they have to do is dial the letters S-A-N-T-A (that's 72682 in numerals).

Mrs. Potts surmised the youngsters were trying to call Santa from their home.

Tow Truck Operator Crushed. Helper Hurt

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A Newark tow truck operator was crushed to death Wedesday and his companion was injured critically when they were pinned between their truck and a car they were trying to pull out of snow. Killed was Ivan Jones, 24. Critically injured was Raymond Johnson, 35, of Newark.

The Highway Patrol said Jones and Johnson had parked their truck in front of the stalled car and were between the two vehicles when an oncoming car struck the truck. The truck slammed into the stalled car, crushing Jones and Johnson in between.

Faces Murder Trial

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 34-year-old Zanesville woman was expected to be returned here today from Lima State Hospital to go on trial on a second-degree murder charge in the slaying of her husband. Mrs. Audrey Galla was under 30-day observation at the hospital, where officials said she was sane and could stand trial.

C&O Expected To Put Okay On Stock Deal With B&O

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. directors were expected to approve today an exchange of C&O stock for about 55 per cent of the outstanding Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. stock.

C&O president Walter J. Tuohy, who campaigned vigorously to acquire a controlling interest in B&O, as a step toward eventual merger, called today's meeting specifically to take up the proposed exchange of stock.

The C&O said more than 1.7 million B&O shares had been tendered for exchange on the basis of one share of C&O common for 1.75 shares of B&O common and one share of C&O common for each share of B&O preferred.

Approval by the board will not automatically give C&O control of B&O, however. The Interstate Commerce Commission must approve the transaction, and the New York Central, which also seeks to merge with B&O, undoubtedly will present its case to the ICC.

Also, the B&O shareholders have 30 days in which to withdraw from the C&O exchange, if they so desire. Then the C&O can take another 30 days to reconsider after seeing how many B&O shareholders withdraw. Although B&O share holders will not enjoy the tax benefits they would have enjoyed had Tuohy reached his objective of getting 80 per cent of B&O stock, a C&O spokesman said few withdrawals are anticipated.

Tuohy reiterated his opposition Wednesday night to a three-way merger of C&O, B&O and NYC. He issued a statement to clarify his position after being quoted in Chicago as saying that once a C&O-B&O merger is completed the C&O will engage in studies on a possible merger with Central.

Tuohy said that while C&O would not accept the three-way merger, it was willing, after B&O-C&O merger had been effect, to talk with Central about the possibility of merger studies.

He emphasized that in making this statement he was merely repeating a former offer and was not expressing interest in a new approach to NYC.

Polio Victims Plan Christmas Eve Wedding

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —For Lila Latham, 23, and Don Harper, 24, both in wheel chairs, are to be married Christmas Eve.

Paralytic polio struck down both while they were teen-agers. They met in 1955 while under treatment at Texas' Warm Springs Foundation Center. They were engaged by Christmas of 1957, but college came first.

Now Harper has finished at North Texas State College, Lila is through with studies at Del Mar College here and they're proudly ready to strike out on their own.

Finger Serves As Gun Until Police Arrive

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jesus Gonzales, 60, watchman for a dry cleaning plant, spotted an intruder slipping through a window.

He slipped up behind him and jabbed a finger in his back, saying "Freeze. This is a gun." And the man froze until police arrived.

Balance Of Payments Deficit Under Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said today the U. S. balance of payments deficit in July, August and September was not quite as big as esimated earlier.

The Commerce Department said the deficit, which has led to heavy sales of gold to foreigners, was at an annual rate of $4.1 billion in tre third quarter. The preliminary estimate had been $4.3 billion.

In any event, the amount was up sharply from the second quarter rate of $2.8 billion.

A heavy flow of American capital to Europe, to take advantage of higher short-term interest rates there, was largely responsible for the quarterly increase. In addition, foreigners sold American stocks in the third quarter whereas they were buying in June, July and August.

Eyes Refinery Unit

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A refinery unit to produce about 15 million gallons of benzene annually is being considered by Ashland Oil & Refining Co. It would be an expansion of facilities near Catlettsburg, and would probably cost several million dollars.

Prizes at 500 were won by Mrs. Marian Morris and Mrs. Lydia Burnip. An exchange of gifts was enjoyed and lunch served.

The next meeting is Jan. 3 with Mrs. Dessie Williams of N. Market St.

The auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post met Tuesday night. Mrs. Marie Cosma, president, presided.

Mrs. Agnes Ford reported that 13 boys were given auxiliary kits when leaving for the service.

The Past Templars Club held a gift exchange when Mrs. Brice Barton of Prospect St. entertained Tuesday night.

Prizes Awarded Two

Mrs. Willam Burton and Mrs. Gertrude Chamberlain won prizes at games. The hostess served a Christmas supper.

Mrs. Leona McDevitt of Thomas Rd. will receive the club Jan. 23.

Mrs. Winfield Morris of N. Market St. has returned from a 10-week trip with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand and Saudi Arabia. Her son, who is affiliated with an oil firm in Saudi Arabia, and wife and daughter had visited here and his mother accompanied them on the roundabout trip home.

Mrs. W. J. Potts of N. Market St. has returned from Baltimore, where she visited the past six weeks with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steele, and family.

Mrs. Raymond Glausser of the Lisbon-Leetonia Rd. has returned after a visit with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Thorne, and family of South Bend, Ind.

Miss Sandy Kennedy, a sophomore at Muskingum College at New Concord, Miss Karen Lewton, a freshman at Bowling Green State University, and Charles Browne, student at Ohio University at Athens, have arrived home for the holidays.

48 Attend Annual Party Of City Official Family

Forty-eight municipal employes and officials and members of their families attended the annual City Hall Christmas party Wednesday afternoon at Tice's Restaurant.

A brief program of carols and a gift exchange followed a turkey dinner. Fred Kane, city electrician, was master of ceremonies.

Brief remarks were made by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver, Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, W. O. Schneider, chairman of the Board of Public Utilities, and Donald T. Duke, superintendent of the water department.

Poinsettia plants were presented to Mrs. Dorothy Goodballet, wife of the mayor, and Copenhaver. The Rev. Kenneth Birch gave the invocation.

Testimony Scheduled Today In Murder Trial

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Three judges were to begin hearing testimony today in the murder trial of Mrs. Kathleen King, 40, of Xenia. She is charged with slaying her three children in their home April 12, 1958.

Chief Justice Carl F. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday named common pleas judges Otis R. Hess of Hamilton County, Warren E. Young of Warren County and Dan M. Aultman of Greene County to hear the case.

Grange Holds Yule Program

The annual Christmas meeting of the Fairview Grange was held Tuesday night in the Grange Hall in Ohio Township.

Mrs. Paul Dawson, lecturer, was in charge and the program included entertainment by juvenile grangers under the direction of Mrs. Charles Richards, matron, and Mrs. George Mastrovich.

Mrs. Paul McGaffick was accompanist for carols. "The Christmas Story" was read by Barry Dawson and Melenie Engle gave a poem. James Welsh played the accordion for juvenile group singing.

"Christmas In Other Lands" and a Santa Claus drill preceded the presentation of Christmas symbols and recitations.

Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Richards closed the program with a duet.

Santa Claus distributed the grab-bag gifts and gave candy and popcorn to the youngsters.

Paul Dawson, master, presided for business.

Mrs. Earl Scheel received third and fourth degrees.

Sam McKinney, hospital patient, was reported improved and Mrs. Harry Doughty, former Fairview resident, is hospitalized in Kissimmee, Fla.

The home economics committee sent cookies to aged persons in the community.

It was announced that juvenile grangers donated their prize money from the Midland Christmas parade to the Western Beaver County Schools for a dental fund. Mrs. Tom Beardshaw donated the tree for the float and the juveniles will present the tree to a needy family in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John Smyda were host and hostess chairmen.

Mrs. Keith Hammond won the mystery package.

The next meeting is held Jan. 3.

Lady's Phone Number Also Spells S-A-N-T-A

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Children asking to speak to Santa Claus have been calling Mrs. George W. Potts for three weeks.

She went along with the small fry until Wednesday when her curiosity prompted her to ask the boy on the telephone why he had chosen her number—7-2682.

A bakery's Christmas decorations include a dummy telephone which young visitors are encouraged to use in talking to Santa. All they have to do is dial the letters S-A-N-T-A (that's 72682 in numerals).

Mrs. Potts surmised the youngsters were trying to call Santa from their home.

Tow Truck Operator Crushed, Helper Hurt

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A Newark tow truck operator was crushed to death Wedesday and his companion was injured critically when they were pinned between their truck and a car they were trying to pull out of snow. Killed was Ivan Jones, 24. Critically injured was Raymond Johnson, 35, of Newark.

The Highway Patrol said Jones and Johnson had parked their truck in front of the stalled car and were between the two vehicles when an oncoming car struck the truck. The truck slammed into the stalled car, crushing Jones and Johnson in between.

Faces Murder Trial

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 34-year-old Zanesville woman was expected to be returned here today from Lima State Hospital to go on trial on a second-degree murder charge in the slaying of her husband. Mrs. Audrey Galla was under 30-day observation at the hospital, where officials said she was sane and could stand trial.

C&O Expected To Put Okay On Stock Deal With B&O

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. directors were expected to approve today an exchange of C&O stock for about 55 per cent of the outstanding Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. stock.

C&O president Walter J. Tuohy, who campaigned vigorously to acquire a controlling interest in B&O, as a step toward eventual merger, called today's meeting specifically to take up the proposed exchange of stock.

The C&O said more than 1.7 million B&O shares had been tendered for exchange on the basis of one share of C&O common for 1.75 shares of B&O common and one share of C&O common for each share of B&O preferred.

Approval by the board will not automatically give C&O control of B&O, however. The Interstate Commerce Commission must approve the transaction, and the New York Central, which also seeks to merge with B&O, undoubtedly will present its case to the ICC.

Also, the B&O shareholders have 30 days in which to withdraw from the C&O exchange, if they so desire. Then the C&O can take another 30 days to reconsider after seeing how many B&O shareholders withdraw. Although B&O share holders will not enjoy the tax benefits they would have enjoyed had Tuohy reached his objective of getting 80 per cent of B&O stock, a C&O spokesman said few withdrawals are anticipated.

Tuohy reiterated his opposition Wednesday night to a three-way merger of C&O, B&O and NYC. He issued a statement to clarify his position after being quoted in Chicago as saying that once a C&O-B&O merger is completed the C&O will engage in studies on a possible merger with Central.

Tuohy said that while C&O would not accept the three-way merger, it was willing, after B&O-C&O merger had been effect, to talk with Central about the possibility of merger studies.

He emphasized that in making this statement he was merely repeating a former offer and was not expressing interest in a new approach to NYC.

Polio Victims Plan Christmas Eve Wedding

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —For Lila Latham, 23, and Don Harper, 24, both in wheel chairs, are to be married Christmas Eve.

Paralytic polio struck down both while they were teen-agers. They met in 1955 while under treatment at Texas' Warm Springs Foundation Center. They were engaged by Christmas of 1957, but college came first.

Now Harper has finished at North Texas State College. Lila is through with studies at Del Mar College here and they're proudly ready to strike out on their own.

Finger Serves As Gun Until Police Arrive

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jesus Gonzales, 60, watchman for a dry cleaning plant, spotted an intruder slipping through a window.

He slipped up behind him and jabbed a finger in his back, saying "Freeze. This is a gun." And the man froze until police arrived.

Balance Of Payments Deficit Under Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said today the U. S. balance of payments deficit in July, August and September was not quite as big as esimated earlier.

The Commerce Department said the deficit, which has led to heavy sales of gold to foreigners, was at an annual rate of $4.1 billion in tre third quarter. The preliminary estimate had been $4.3 billion.

In any event, the amount was up sharply from the second quarter rate of $2.8 billion.

A heavy flow of American capital to Europe, to take advantage of higher short-term interest rates there, was largely responsible for the quarterly increase. In addition, foreigners sold American stocks in the third quarter whereas they were buying in June, July and August.

Eyes Refinery Unit

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A refinery unit to produce about 15 million gallons of benzene annually is being considered by Ashland Oil & Refining Co. It would be an expansion of facilities near Catlettsburg, and would probably cost several million dollars.

Harpo Will Talk When Garbo Does

Though the advent of a talking Harpo Marx easily would rank with "Garbo Talks!" it's somewhat reassuring to see that at least one showman upholds the idea that silence is golden. Particularly in this TV era of much chatter, much foolishness, and the light effusions of heedless men! Ever since economy-minded TV producers discovered that talk really is cheap, the industry has turned comedians into conversationalists, actors into orators, singers into magpies and authors into windbags.

Marie Torre

It's as Harpo Marx says, "Everybody else in TV talks. Why should I start now, after all these years of silence?"

-:-

THE STATEMENT wasn't made only to us. It was made recently also to the publisher of Marx' autobiography, titled, ironically, "Harpo Speaks!" after the mute clown of Marx Brothers renown was asked to promote the book by talking about it on television shows.

He rejected the idea, just as he has rejected all offers, even those from high-ranking movie interests, to break his silence.

"Groucho keeps telling me that I ought to talk, but I can't see what good that would do," says Harpo. "If I did, I think it would detract from my routines with the harp and clarinet.

"Am I afraid of its killing my career if I talked? No, it's not that. I really haven't got much of a career. Every time I finish one of my infrequent performances, I say, 'That's it!' my swan song! Then somebody comes along with a script I like and I'm in business again."

-:-

LAST TIME Harpo promised to make good his retirement was when he completed the coming Christmas program (tonight) on "The June Allyson Show." In this he plays a mechanical man in a department store window who witnesses a murder.

"I neither talk nor make faces in this one," said Harpo. "I practically do nothing but stand there, all of which makes me feel a little guilty. It's almost like stealing money."

Be assured that Harpo's financial status is such that he never will have to.

Now that his children are of college age, Harpo lives in the sunny solitude of Palm Springs, Calif., where he spends most of his time playing the harp, golfing and painting.

Nobody has succeeded in pulling him away from the comforts of home for long periods — not even the noted Billy Wilder, who made a recent attempt to cast all four Marx Brothers in a movie.

"I have great respect for Wilder," said Harpo, "but why take on a movie and leave home for as long as a year? Who wants to work? Who wants to talk? I'll tell you when I'll talk — when they get me Garbo as my co-star."

-:-

NBC CHAIRMAN Robert Sarnoff and CBS president Frank Stanton made recommendations last week to the special House Committee Investigating Campaign Expenditures, of which Rep. Clifford Davis is chairman.

Chairman Davis asked the networks to give their views on the length of time between national conventions and the general election and on the costs of campaigning — particularly in light of the extensive use of television in the recent campaign.

Sarnoff offered a double-barreled method to bring down the high cost of running for office: (1) Shorten future campaigns by at least six weeks and (2) free the nation's broadcasters from restrictions in presenting the candidates.

STANTON offered his views in a letter which referred to a speech made in 1953 by CBS chairman William S. Paley. CBS and NBC are in accord on what ought to be done in 1964.

An excerpt from Paley's speech: "I would like to present for the earnest consideration of the two major political parties the proposal that the national conventions should start around Sept. 1.

"Allowing three weeks for the completion of the nominating process, this would leave six to seven weeks for the two candidates to present their cases to the people.

"The effective use of television and other media of communication, combined with the basic minimum traveling demands required by political necessity, in my judgment would enable the candidates to register a deep and pervasive impact on the electorate during this seven-week period."

Ohio Nixon-Lodge Volunteers List $78,525 Expenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A report filed with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown shows that the Ohio Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge collected $79,337 during the presidential election campaign.

In the report, filed Wednesday, the organization listed expenditures of $78,525 and a balance of $812 to apply on unpaid bills. The political group worked for the Republican ticket of Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Another report stated that Earl R. Hoover of Cleveland received no contributions and spent $165 of his own money in an unsuccessful campaign for Ohio Supreme Court judge. His committee listed receipts and expenditures of $12,917.

Supreme Court Judge Kingsley A. Taft of Columbus received no contributions and spent $422 in his successful campaign for re-election, he reported.

Deadline for filing campaign expense statements with Brown and county election boards is Friday at 4 p.m. Those who fail to file cannot be candidates again for five years under Ohio law.

Yale and Princeton first met in football in 1873. Yale leads, 42-31. Ten games were ties.

Fire Threat Cited In Thawing Lines

The Columbiana County Firemen's Association today warned residents to use extreme caution in operating all heating appliances and in thawing frozen water lines.

The association pointed out that with the heavy snow and drifting and more snow predicted, the departments will be greatly hampered in reaching rural homes.

If any fires develop in rural homes of any major proportion, it probably will amount to a total loss because of the time it would take firemen to reach the area.

The problem of obtaining water also presents another problem. Residents are cautioned against overheating furnaces and of flooding oil appliances in an effort to keep the homes warm. No open flame should be used in thawing frozen lines.

The association said town residents should not pile snow around fire hydrants but should keep them clear so firemen can find them if called.

The association is made up of various town, village and township departments in the county.

Due Liquor Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported that the fourth quarterly distribution of liquor license money collected by the state would go out today to 688 municipalities and townships with licensed taverns. Rhodes said Wednesday the Christmas week distribution will total $1,694,628 and that total distributions for 1960 will reach $9,048,912, some $262,568 larger than last year.

Couple Plans Christmas For 2 Adopted Girls; Will Lose One

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Dyar are going ahead with plans for Christmas with their two adopted daughters. But Mrs. Dyar says, "what good is Christmas now?"

On Dec. 27 the Dyars will have to yield custody of 5 - year - old Vickie Sue Michie, one of the foster daughters, to her natural mother, Mrs. Barbara Michie Early, 21, of Oakland, Calif.

The Dyars have had Vickie most of the time for the last four years and adopted her last May. Then they adopted another 1-year-old girl because "we didn't want to have Vickie raised all by herself."

Wednesday, however, Probate Judge Chase M. Davies upheld a claim by Mrs. Early that she never was legally notified of the adoption. The Dyars are grand-uncle and grandaunt of Vickie.

They said Mrs. Early brought Vickie to their home in 1956 and then divorced the child's father. Later, they said, she married James J. Early Jr., and went to California without leaving any forwarding address.

They said they tried to reach her through a newspaper ad at the time of the adoption.

Mrs. Early denied, however, that her whereabouts were unknown. She presented evidence to show she sent Vickie a telegraphed birthday money order from California in 1959.

Although he granted the mother custody of the child, Judge Davies said he would not enter an official ruling until Dec. 27.

"I'm not going to upset this little girl's Christmas," he said. "He has planned parties and the Christmas tree is up. I'm not going to disturb that."

In a side angle of the case, Mrs. Early's second husband filed suit for divorce, charging her with gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

Parties Will Be Rescheduled For Hancock Children's Home

Snow forced postponement of two Christmas parties scheduled Tuesday night by organizations for the Hancock County Children's Home's youngsters but they are expected to be held during the holidays at the Pughtown institution.

The 19 wards — 12 girls and 7 boys — were feted at a dinner Saturday by the Weirton Elks and given clothing and games as Christmas gifts.

The postponed parties were those of American Legion Post 10 of Weirton and a Boy Scout Troop from Newell.

The auxiliary of Newell American Legion Post 114 plans to present Christmas gifts to the children. Most of the wards are teenagers, with the oldest 18. An 18-year-old boy will graduate this year from Chester High School.

The youngsters will be served a roast turkey dinner and all the trimmings Christmas Day. Dinner will be served at 5 p. m., according to Mrs. Lorraine Henderson, supervisor.

The 16 men in the County Infirmary in Pughtown have been given Christmas gifts by the Newell Women's Club. The aged patients will be served Christmas dinner Sunday afternoon at 1, with roast turkey and all the trimmings on the menu, according to Mrs. Shields Mayhew, supervisor.

Visiting hours will be observed anytime during the Christmas holidays.

Judges Due Pay Loss Because Of Population Drop

CHARLESTON (AP) — Several circuit court judges will get smaller pay checks next year because of West Virginia's loss in population.

Judges are paid on a four-step scale according to the populations of the areas in which they preside. Judges in circuits of more than 100,000 get $12,200 a year in state money. In addition, law provides that the counties can supplement this to a maximum of $18,200 a year.

The pay of judges in these circuits will decrease because of population declines: 8th (McDowell); 10th (Raleigh); 11th (Greenbrier, Monroe, Pocahontas and Summers); 14th (Braxton, Clay, Gilmer, Webster); 15th (Harrison); 17th (Monongalia), and 24th (Mingo and Wayne).

Statutory reorganization of some circuits will also cause a cut in pay. Removal of Nicholas County from the 12th Circuit, which also has included Fayette, will drop the state portion of that judge's salary from $12,200 to $10,700.

Removal of Mason County from the 5th Circuit will cut the salary there from $10,700 to $10,000. The circuit still includes Calhoun, Jackson and Roane counties.

Population increases will mean a $500 raise for judges of the 4th (Wood and Wirt counties) and 23rd (Berkeley, Jefferson and Morgan) circuits.

Man Wants Christmas With Friends—In Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If things go right for Wendell Johnson today, he'll be with his friends in time for Christmas dinner—at Ohio Penitentiary.

Johnson, 38, from Franklin in Warren County, was arrested Dec. 4 on a charge of breaking a Columbus jewelry store window and making off with jewelry valued at $256. He has asked the prosecutor to speed things along so he can be in the penitentiary—where he has been before—by Dec. 25. He's to be arraigned today, and could make it, if sentenced immediately on a guilty plea.

'Fighting Earp' Dies

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — George Washington Earp, 96, known as the last of the "fighting Earps" and a first cousin of Marshal Wyatt Earp of frontier fame, died Wednesday of a stroke. He once served briefly as a deputy marshal under Wyatt at Dodge City, Kan. He had been a land dealer, lawyer, U. S. marshal, Internal Revenue man and merchant.

Veteran Fireman Spared Sentence In Burglary Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — William H. Cunningham, 46, who served 22 years on the Cincinnati Fire Department, has been spared a prison sentence because, a judge said, he never had received a probation report "so favorable to a defendant."

Cunningham pleaded guilty last April to charges of housebreaking and burglary of an inhabited dwelling. Police said he stole thousands of dollars worth of goods, largely guns, cameras and other luxury items.

They said his thefts apparently stemmed from his hobby of collecting guns.

Cunningham's case has been under advisement since his pleas of guilty. Wednesday Common Pleas Judge Simon Leis gave him a 1 to 5 year suspended sentence on one of the housebreaking charges, placed him on probation for five years and deferred action on all other charges.

Telling Cunningham he believed the veteran fireman had learned his lesson, Judge Leis said:

"I have never seen so many fine people come foward as they did to aid this man."

Cunningham was arrested when he tried to sell a camera to a man from whom it had been stolen. The man had had an ad inserted in a newspaper offering to buy a camera of that type.

Donations Set At Salineville

Donations for Veterans Administration Hospitals were authorized by the auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5306 of Salineville at a meeting Tuesday night at the post home.

A Christmas gift exchange was held, and lunch was served. The next meeting is Jan. 12.

Gifts of clothing for needy children were authorized by the auxiliary of the American Legion post at a meeting Monday night at the post home.

A gift exchange was held and lunch was served. The next meeting is Jan. 2.

Jerry Strabley, Kent State University student, spoke on "Speech Therapy" at a meeting of the Ladies Civic Club Tuesday night in the American Legion home.

A Christmas gift exchange was conducted. Lunch was served. The next meeting is Jan. 12.

Collection Of Taxes Suspended In Hancock

Tax collections in Hancock County have been suspended until Jan. 3, Edgar Mayhew, chief deputy in the tax department of the sheriff's office, reminded residents today.

No taxes will be collected at the office in the Courthouse in New Cumberland until clerks complete a check of the books kept under the four-year term of Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs.

Compiling new figures is a task that occurs every four years with each change in administration. Joseph H. Manypenny will succeed Hobbs as sheriff Jan. 1.

Harpo Will Talk When Garbo Does

Though the advent of a talking Harpo Marx easily would rank with "Garbo Talks!" it's somewhat reassuring to see that at least one showman upholds the idea that silence is golden. Particularly in this TV era of much chatter, much foolishness, and the light effusions of heedless men! Ever since economy-minded TV producers discovered that talk really is cheap, the industry has turned comedians into conversationalists, actors into orators, singers into magpies and authors into windbags.

Marie Torre

It's as Harpo Marx says, "Everybody else in TV talks. Why should I start now, after all these years of silence?"

-:-

THE STATEMENT wasn't made only to us. It was made recently also to the publisher of Marx' autobiography, titled, ironically, "Harpo Speaks!" after the mute clown of Marx Brothers renown was asked to promote the book by talking about it on television shows.

He rejected the idea, just as he has rejected all offers, even those from high-ranking movie interests, to break his silence.

"Groucho keeps telling me that I ought to talk, but I can't see what good that would do," says Harpo. "If I did, I think it would detract from my routines with the harp and clarinet.

"Am I afraid of its killing my career if I talked? No, it's not that. I really haven't got much of a career. Every time I finish one of my infrequent performances, I say, 'That's it!' my swan song! Then somebody comes along with a script I like and I'm in business again."

-:-

LAST TIME Harpo promised to make good his retirement was when he completed the coming Christmas program (tonight) on "The June Allyson Show." In this he plays a mechanical man in a department store window who witnesses a murder.

"I neither talk nor make faces in this one," said Harpo. "I practically do nothing but stand there, all of which makes me feel a little guilty. It's almost like stealing money."

Be assured that Harpo's financial status is such that he never will have to.

Now that his children are of college age, Harpo lives in the sunny solitude of Palm Springs, Calif., where he spends most of his time playing the harp, golfing and painting.

Nobody has succeeded in pulling him away from the comforts of home for long periods — not even the noted Billy Wilder, who made a recent attempt to cast all four Marx Brothers in a movie.

"I have great respect for Wilder," said Harpo, "but why take on a movie and leave home for as long as a year? Who wants to work? Who wants to talk? I'll tell you when I'll talk — when they get me Garbo as my co-star."

-:-

NBC CHAIRMAN Robert Sarnoff and CBS president Frank Stanton made recommendations last week to the special House Committee Investigating Campaign Expenditures, of which Rep. Clifford Davis is chairman.

Chairman Davis asked the networks to give their views on the length of time between national conventions and the general election and on the costs of campaigning — particularly in light of the extensive use of television in the recent campaign.

Sarnoff offered a double-barreled method to bring down the high cost of running for office: (1) Shorten future campaigns by at least six weeks and (2) free the nation's broadcasters from restrictions in presenting the candidates.

STANTON offered his views in a letter which referred to a speech made in 1953 by CBS chairman William S. Paley. CBS and NBC are in accord on what ought to be done in 1964.

An excerpt from Paley's speech: "I would like to present for the earnest consideration of the two major political parties the proposal that the national conventions should start around Sept. 1.

"Allowing three weeks for the completion of the nominating process, this would leave six to seven weeks for the two candidates to present their cases to the people.

"The effective use of television and other media of communication, combined with the basic minimum traveling demands required by political necessity, in my judgment would enable the candidates to register a deep and pervasive impact on the electorate during this seven-week period."

Ohio Nixon-Lodge Volunteers List $78,525 Expenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A report filed with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown shows that the Ohio Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge collected $79,337 during the presidential election campaign.

In the report, filed Wednesday, the organization listed expenditures of $78,525 and a balance of $812 to apply on unpaid bills. The political group worked for the Republican ticket of Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Another report stated that Earl R. Hoover of Cleveland received no contributions and spent $165 of his own money in an unsuccessful campaign for Ohio Supreme Court judge. His committee listed receipts and expenditures of $12,917.

Supreme Court Judge Kingsley A. Taft of Columbus received no contributions and spent $422 in his successful campaign for re-election, he reported.

Deadline for filing campaign expense statements with Brown and county election boards is Friday at 4 p.m. Those who fail to file cannot be candidates again for five years under Ohio law.

Yale and Princeton first met in football in 1873. Yale leads, 42-31. Ten games were ties.

Fire Threat Cited In Thawing Lines

The Columbiana County Firemen's Association today warned residents to use extreme caution in operating all heating appliances and in thawing frozen water lines.

The association pointed out that with the heavy snow and drifting and more snow predicted, the departments will be greatly hampered in reaching rural homes.

If any fires develop in rural homes of any major proportion, it probably will amount to a total loss because of the time it would take firemen to reach the area.

The problem of obtaining water also presents another problem. Residents are cautioned against overheating furnaces and of flooding oil appliances in an effort to keep the homes warm. No open flame should be used in thawing frozen lines.

The association said town residents should not pile snow around fire hydrants but should keep them clear so firemen can find them if called.

The association is made up of various town, village and township departments in the county.

Due Liquor Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported that the fourth quarterly distribution of liquor license money collected by the state would go out today to 688 municipalities and townships with licensed taverns. Rhodes said Wednesday the Christmas week distribution will total $1,694,628 and that total distributions for 1960 will reach $9,048,912, some $262,568 larger than last year.

Couple Plans Christmas For 2 Adopted Girls; Will Lose One

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Dyar are going ahead with plans for Christmas with their two adopted daughters. But Mrs. Dyar says, "what good is Christmas now?"

On Dec. 27 the Dyars will have to yield custody of 5 - year - old Vickie Sue Michie, one of the foster daughters, to her natural mother, Mrs. Barbara Michie Early, 21, of Oakland, Calif.

The Dyars have had Vickie most of the time for the last four years and adopted her last May. Then they adopted another 1-year-old girl because "we didn't want to have Vickie raised all by herself."

Wednesday, however, Probate Judge Chase M. Davies upheld a claim by Mrs. Early that she never was legally notified of the adoption. The Dyars are grand-uncle and grandaunt of Vickie.

They said Mrs. Early brought Vickie to their home in 1956 and then divorced the child's father. Later, they said, she married James J. Early Jr., and went to California without leaving any forwarding address.

They said they tried to reach her through a newspaper ad at the time of the adoption.

Mrs. Early denied, however, that her whereabouts were unknown. She presented evidence to show she sent Vickie a telegraphed birthday money order from California in 1959.

Although he granted the mother custody of the child, Judge Davies said he would not enter an official ruling until Dec. 27.

"I'm not going to upset this little girl's Christmas," he said. "He has planned parties and the Christmas tree is up. I'm not going to disturb that."

In a side angle of the case, Mrs. Early's second husband filed suit for divorce, charging her with gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

Parties Will Be Rescheduled For Hancock Children's Home

Snow forced postponement of two Christmas parties scheduled Tuesday night by organizations for the Hancock County Children's Home's youngsters but they are expected to be held during the holidays at the Pughtown institution.

The 19 wards — 12 girls and 7 boys — were feted at a dinner Saturday by the Weirton Elks and given clothing and games as Christmas gifts.

The postponed parties were those of American Legion Post 10 of Weirton and a Boy Scout Troop from Newell.

The auxiliary of Newell American Legion Post 114 plans to present Christmas gifts to the children. Most of the wards are teenagers, with the oldest 18. An 18-year-old boy will graduate this year from Chester High School.

The youngsters will be served a roast turkey dinner and all the trimmings Christmas Day. Dinner will be served at 5 p. m., according to Mrs. Lorraine Henderson, supervisor.

The 16 men in the County Infirmary in Pughtown have been given Christmas gifts by the Newell Women's Club. The aged patients will be served Christmas dinner Sunday afternoon at 1, with roast turkey and all the trimmings on the menu, according to Mrs. Shields Mayhew, supervisor.

Visiting hours will be observed anytime during the Christmas holidays.

Judges Due Pay Loss Because Of Population Drop

CHARLESTON (AP) — Several circuit court judges will get smaller pay checks next year because of West Virginia's loss in population.

Judges are paid on a four-step scale according to the populations of the areas in which they preside. Judges in circuits of more than 100,000 get $12,200 a year in state money. In addition, law provides that the counties can supplement this to a maximum of $18,200 a year.

The pay of judges in these circuits will decrease because of population declines: 8th (McDowell); 10th (Raleigh); 11th (Greenbrier, Monroe, Pocahontas and Summers); 14th (Braxton, Clay, Gilmer, Webster); 15th (Harrison); 17th (Monongalia), and 24th (Mingo and Wayne).

Statutory reorganization of some circuits will also cause a cut in pay. Removal of Nicholas County from the 12th Circuit, which also has included Fayette, will drop the state portion of that judge's salary from $12,200 to $10,700.

Removal of Mason County from the 5th Circuit will cut the salary there from $10,700 to $10,000. The circuit still includes Calhoun, Jackson and Roane counties.

Population increases will mean a $500 raise for judges of the 4th (Wood and Wirt counties) and 23rd (Berkeley, Jefferson and Morgan) circuits.

Man Wants Christmas With Friends—In Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If things go right for Wendell Johnson today, he'll be with his friends in time for Christmas dinner—at Ohio Penitentiary.

Johnson, 38, from Franklin in Warren County, was arrested Dec. 4 on a charge of breaking a Columbus jewelry store window and making off with jewelry valued at $256. He has asked the prosecutor to speed things along so he can be in the penitentiary—where he has been before—by Dec. 25. He's to be arraigned today, and could make it, if sentenced immediately on a guilty plea.

'Fighting Earp' Dies

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — George Washington Earp, 96, known as the last of the "fighting Earps" and a first cousin of Marshal Wyatt Earp of frontier fame, died Wednesday of a stroke. He once served briefly as a deputy marshal under Wyatt at Dodge City, Kan. He had been a land dealer, lawyer, U. S. marshal, Internal Revenue man and merchant.

Veteran Fireman Spared Sentence In Burglary Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — William H. Cunningham, 46, who served 22 years on the Cincinnati Fire Department, has been spared a prison sentence because, a judge said, he never had received a probation report "so favorable to a defendant."

Cunningham pleaded guilty last April to charges of housebreaking and burglary of an inhabited dwelling. Police said he stole thousands of dollars worth of goods, largely guns, cameras and other luxury items.

They said his thefts apparently stemmed from his hobby of collecting guns.

Cunningham's case has been under advisement since his pleas of guilty. Wednesday Common Pleas Judge Simon Leis gave him a 1 to 5 year suspended sentence on one of the housebreaking charges, placed him on probation for five years and deferred action on all other charges.

Telling Cunningham he believed the veteran fireman had learned his lesson, Judge Leis said:

"I have never seen so many fine people come foward as they did to aid this man."

Cunningham was arrested when he tried to sell a camera to a man from whom it had been stolen. The man had had an ad inserted in a newspaper offering to buy a camera of that type.

Collection Of Taxes Suspended In Hancock

Tax collections in Hancock County have been suspended until Jan. 3, Edgar Mayhew, chief deputy in the tax department of the sheriff's office, reminded residents today.

No taxes will be collected at the office in the Courthouse in New Cumberland until clerks complete a check of the books kept under the four-year term of Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs.

Compiling new figures is a task that occurs every four years with each change in administration. Joseph H. Manypenny will succeed Hobbs as sheriff Jan. 1.

Two Pirates Pace League In Fielding

CINCINNATI (AP) — The pennant-winning Pittsburgh Pirates and the seventh-place Chicago Cubs each had two individual fielding champions in the National League in the 1960 season.

But official averages, released Wednesday, showed the team fielding title again went to the Los Angeles Dodgers in a neck and neck race with the Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds.

Pittsburgh's individual champions were second baseman Bill Mazeroski and catcher Smoky Burgess. The Cubs' winners were shortstop Ernie Banks and pitcher Dick Ellsworth.

Ellsworth was one of a number of pitchers with perfect fielding averages but he got the title on the basis of having handled the most chances.

Around the infield the individual champions were Joe Adcock of Milwaukee at first base; Mazeroski; Banks and Jim Davenport of San Francisco at third base. Banks and Davenport were repeaters from 1959.

The top fielding outfielder was Curtis Flood of the St. Louis Cardinals.

On a team basis, the Dodgers finished with a mark of .9791 to .9790 for both the Pirates and the Reds.

Akron U. Grid Coach Quits, Takes New Job

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Joseph H. McMullen, Akron University football coach since 1954, gave up his gridiron duties Wednesday to become assistant to the school's financial vice president, Leslie P. Hardy.

Norman P. Auburn, university president, authorized the athletic committee to make recommendations on a new football coach. Regarding McMullen's promotion, Dr. Auburn commented:

"McMullen is well equipped to take on this important new position. He is a fully prepared civil engineer with construction experience and was graduated first in his class at Brown University in 1945."

Indians To Play 26 Exhibition Contests

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will play 26 exhibition baseball games next spring, starting March 11-12 against San Francisco's Giants in Arizona and concluding April 8-9 against the Giants in Salt Lake City.

Only four open dates are booked, and all but five of the games will be in Arizona where the Indians will train again at Tucson.

This shortest exhibition game schedule in many years includes nine games with San Francisco; five each with the Chicago Cubs, Los Angeles Angels and Boston Red Sox; and two with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Billikens Top California In Overtime Tilt

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Billikens, in the past always willing to slug it out point for point on a basketball court, have the new look of a fine defensive team this year. This may be the formula they'll need to beat Kentucky tonight for the title in the Wildcats' own tourney.

The Bills' 54-53 overtime victory over California, one of the best ball control and defensive outfits in college basketball, Wednesday night also must have driven home the point to Coach Adolph Rupp's team, which won over Illinois 83-78 in the other tourney game.

The victory was St. Louis' sixth in seven starts, during which they have allowed an average of only 49 points a game. This compares with Kentucky's scoring average of 63 for a 4-2 mark. Offensively, the Bills, whose only loss was 81-66 to top-ranked Ohio State, have averaged 64 points compared to Kentucky's 62 points allowed six opponents.

Duke's Blue Devils, seventh-ranked in the current Associated Press poll, got another fine performance from soph Art Heyman and breezed past Florida 83-64. North Carolina State (No. 10) held off LaSalle's late rush for a 71-68 win, after which Temple handed Penn its first loss 72-58.

Louisville, unbeaten in nine starts, won over Louisiana State 72-53 and Vanderbilt, also undefeated, beat New Mexico 66-59. Kansas State won its fifth in a row, 63-56 over Colorado State, while Colorado lost its first in eight starts, 64-54 to Wichita and Dayton handed Seton Hall its first defeat 66-45.

In other games, Cornell Green scored 22 points as Utah State broke open Kent State's ball control tactics for an 83-62 victory. Arkansas beat Alabama 83-76, and Texas Christian won over Tennessee 77-73 as the Southwest Conference swept the Southeast Conference in the first Aluminum Bowl at Little Rock, Ark. The teams switch partners tonight.

Denver knocked off Michigan 68-59, and Washington State handed Stanford its second one-point loss in as many nights 51-50. Loyola of Chicago bombed Loyola of New Orleans 78-66, Nebraska trimmed Arizona 79-55, Army defeated DePauw 78-68, Creighton bounced Grinnell 75-53 and Rutgers conquered Boston U. 79-77.

Can Bucks Repeat?

How Good Is Ohio State's Cage Forces This Season?

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Now hold on there—just how good is this Ohio State basketball team?

Good enough to win a second straight national championship?

Good enough to go through an unbeaten season?

Well—maybe.

The No. 1 rated Buckeyes have romped to five straight victories and most veteran courtside observers agree on one thing:

"They've got a heck of a good ball club."

After Ohio State demolished a fine California team last March to cop the NCAA title, not many people thought such a near-perfect performance could be improved upon.

Even Coach Fred Taylor voiced some compliants.

"We don't have the size or depth we had last year. Physically, we can't be as strong," the youthful Taylor commented in a preseason sizeup of his squad.

So what happens? Ohio State runs through five straight opponents like a tornado leveling a Texas town. And even Taylor is ready to admit that this team is as good as last season's kingpins.

"Our defense has done a fine job and our offense should do better," says Taylor. "But we'll know more about the team in the next week or so," he continued, adding:

"The way everyone is gunning for us, we just have to take them one at a time. Look what's ahead. We have to play a good Detroit club tonight and then next week in the Holiday Festival in New York there are teams like St. John's, Seton Hall, Providence and St. Bonaventure. Thiss will be our most severe test of the season. Ask me how good Ohio State is after those games and I might be able to tell you."

The Ohioans are sparked by All - America and Olympic ace Jerry Lucas. But the former Middletown High School flash gets considerable help from such notables as Larry Siegfried, John Havlicek and Mel Nowell.

And even Taylor says the Buckeye bench has been a "pleasant surprise" providing excellent depth.

Cold statistics disclose this interesting information:

In their five victories against Ohio University, St. Louis, Army, Wichita and Loyola (Chicago), the Buckeyes shot 51 per cent from the field, 80 per cent from the foul line and grabbed 251 rebounds to 176 for their opponents.

Boiled down, it's tough beating a team that averages 90 points a game, connects on half of its shots and captures 50 rebounds a contest.

Too, Ohio's defensive prowess might even warm the heart of Oklahoma State's Hank Iba, the country's top exponent of defensive basketball. The Bucks, using a tight man-to-man defense, have permitted their foes only 66 points a game.

Not since San Francisco turned the trick in 1955 and 1956 has a school repeated as national champions. And not since the 1955-56 season has a team gone through a complete schedule without a setback. Bill Russell and his Frisco mates were in control then as the Dons won 60 straight games over a three-year period.

What's Ohio State's chance of coming through unscathed?

Taylor refused to even consider such a rarity but admits "it would be quite an accomplishment."

Frick Looks For 3 Loops Or 24 Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball could expand to 24 teams and perhaps three leagues by 1964 with further changes as close as 1962, Commissioner Ford Frick predicts.

"You know how these baseball fellows are," the commissioner was quoted by Dick Young of the Daily News in today's edition. "It takes them a long time to get moving, but when they do, they want to keep moving.

"The only thing I'm afraid of is they may try to do it too fast."

Frick said he personally favors expansion that will get away from the 10-club setup the American League will have next year and the National League in 1962 when Houston and New York are taken in.

Under a 10-club setup there are two objections he believes: The idea of teams finishing ninth and tenth, and a 162-game schedule which destroys the long-time structure based on 154 games.

Expansion to 24 teams by 1962 either as three eight-team leagues or with two 12 team leagues split into six-team divisions, he pointed out, could mean a return to a 154-game season schedule.

Frick said he had heard the American League has a faction which favors expansion to two six-team leagues in 1962.

Ohio Hunters Hit 4 Million In State Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sportsmen paid nearly $4 million for the privilege of hunting and fishing in Ohio during the bookkeeping year ended last June 30, an annual report by State Auditor James A. Rhodes showed today.

The Division of Wildlife audit showed total revenues of $3.9 million, compared with more than $4.1 million for the previous fiscal year.

Decreased receipts from fishing licenses accounted for most of the drop. They totaled $1.7 million compared with $1.9 million during 1958-59. Another $27,614 was realized from licenses, fines and other revenue from Lake Erie fishing operations.

Hunting and trapping activities for the year yielded $2.13 million against $2.12 million during the previous period.

The number of $5 deer hunting permits showed a slight decrease. A total of 38,428 deer hunters paid $192,140 for licenses during the year, compared with $214,455 from 42,891 hunters in 1958-59.

Violators of fish and game laws paid fines of $55,493 with the penalties about equally divided between fishermen and those who hunt and trap.

Over-all expenditures last year exceeded $3.9 million, with nearly $.9 million of that going for personal service.

Statute limits spending for administration and enforcement purposes to not more than 35 per cent of hunting and trapping fees and 25 per cent of fishing license money. Balances go for propagation and preservation of game.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The 1960 deer season is now a thing of the past, but the tales of good luck, disappointments and amusements linger on.

The deer kill seems to compare with last year's, although the season was shortened one day. The weather was ideal for deer hunting. Thursday, opening day, there was a good tracking snow. Thursday night there was a light snowfall that covered the old tracks and any deer tracks seen on Friday were those of a deer on the move.

As far as I have been able to learn, Gerald Weinstock of Lisbon has earned the "championship crown" by bagging an 11 - point buck along Cream Ridge Rd. He admits shooting two rounds of amunition at the big buck before it was downed for keeps. Five slugs penetrated the deer from front end to back.

The head will be mounted. It will make a fine trophy. The venison will be butchered and placed in the deep freeze. Vincent Judge and other members of the hunting party are licking their chops and making plans for a venison banquet in the near future. I heard 'em talking.

CHARLES MILLIKIN of Salem bagged a small doe with a head shot. I complimented the nimrod on being an expert marksman. Charles explained, "Actually, I am not a good shot. There were two deer, one a large doe and the other one a smaller doe standing just in front the bigger one. I fired at the big one and brought down the little one."

A hunter from Pleasant Hill, Pa., "Pee-wee" Tyson, took home a 6-point buck. This gave him the fourth buck in the last four hunting seasons. Cy Wellman of Lisbon got a doe and Melvin Adams of Ludlow Falls bagged a button buck.

James Miller, one of our deputy sheriffs, came back to camp dragging a small doe while his buddies "poured it on" with such remarks as, "What did you do, chase it into a groundhog hole and dig it out" and "Put it in your hunting coat, don't drag it."

Arlen Flowers of East Liverpool, shot a big buck with a skimpy 5-point set of antlers.

I HEARD OF another buck and two does being taken in the Pancake-Fredericktown area known as "Hells Half-Acre" and of three others taken near Salineville.

Many others have $5 deer permits, brand new and unused, not worth a nickel. Even so, that beats the daylights out of paying $20 for a non-resident hunting license to hunt in Pennsylvania, plus travel expenses, and then come home skunked.

The hunting season has not ended. Rabbit hunting goes on through Jan. 2. The split duck season opens at noon Dec. 23 and continues through Dec. 31. There won't be many ducks taken if our lakes remain frozen. Ruffed grouse may be taken through Feb. 25.

Rabbits and cock pheasants are still legal quarry on state public hunting areas through Jan. 14. Raccoon, skunk and Opossum may be taken until Jan. 14. After then comes ice fishing, which is already under way at Westville Lake. Bluegills, a few crappies, perch and an occasional bass are being taken. Fishing is legal the year 'round.

Key Clubbers To Hold Cage Tournament

The first annual Key Club basketball tournament will be held Tuesday, Dec. 27 at 7 p. m. in Beacom Memorial gymnasium with the Wellsville club as host entry.

Other teams participating in the one-night event will be from high schools in East Liverpool, Salem, Chester, and Lisbon.

The opening game pits Wellsville against Chester. East Liverpool will battle Lisbon in the second game. Salem drew a bye and will meet one of the two winners.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up, according to the Wellsville club. Keith Tipton is president.

Tickets may be purchased from any key club member of the participating schools. The tickets also may be purchased at the door and are 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Firm Seeks To Break Pact With Big Leagues

NEW YORK (AP) — A.G. Spaulding Bros., which has been suppling the National and American leagues with official baseballs since they were organized, wants to break a 10-year contract that runs through 1967.

Edwin L. Parker, head of the company, says they have been losing money on the deal. He suggested a price boost, and decrease in number of free balls given each team. Parker said, however, the suggestions were turned down. He asks that the contract be ending no later than Dec. 1, 1961.

It is estimated that a team uses about 850 dozen balls per season, with only about 25 per cent paid for. They sell for $21 per dozen wholesale, and retail for $3.25 apiece.

Unitas, Packer Star Top List For Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts and halfback Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers head a list of seven players each from their respective teams on the West squad of the National Football League's annual Pro Bowl game.

The stars of the Western Conference of the NFL battle quarterback Norman Von Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles and his representatives from the East in the postseason affair in Memorial Coliseum Jan. 15.

The West squad, announced today by managing director Paul J. Schissler, includes six players from the Detroit Lions, five from San Francisco, four each from Los Angeles and Chicago and one from the Dallas Cowboys.

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers, winner of the Western Conference, opposes the Eagles' Eastern Division title team coach, Buck Shaw.

The squad was selected by the seven Western Division coaches. None could vote for his own players.

Bowler Rolls Perfect Game And 805 Series

CLEVELAND (AP) — Even the country's top bowlers would consider an 805 series a pretty good night's work—but Frank Matejka threw in a perfect game for good measure.

Matejka, who carries a 192 average, followed his 300 game with games of 268 and 237 Wednesday night.

It was Matejka's first perfect game in 25 years of bowling.

"I really felt good," said Matejka. "I knew I was going to get the 300 game."

Packers Drill Despite Intense Cold Weather

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The temperature dropped to near zero in this hotbed of professional football Wednesday, but there was no rest for the Green Bay Packers as they ran through another spirited drill on frozen turf.

"This intense cold makes it tough to keep the players sharp in practice," Coach Vince Lombardi said. "But we've got to play Monday regardless how cold it is and we may as well get used to it."

The Packer coach relented, however, after his players had braved the near-zero weather and sharp northwest winds for about a half hour. He herded them indoors for a 'long chalk talk' in preparation for their National Football League championship game against the Eagles at Philadelphia Monday.

Lombardi said injuries may prove a factor in the game with the Eagles.

"I'm sure everyone will play," Lombardi said, "But at the moment Jim Taylor, Jesse Whittenton and Jim Ringo are not well."

Taylor, who has gained more than half of the Packers total ground yardage with 1,101, is hampered with leg and shoulder bruises that give him considerable pain.

Whittenton, one of the team's top men on pass defense, suffered a pulled leg muscle last Saturday while the Packers were beating the Los Angeles Rams for the Western Division title.

All-pro center Ringo has a Charley horse and still is bothered with a sore hand that was spiked in the San Francisco game Dec. 10 when Taylor stepped on it.

Celtics Owe Lead To Mastery Over St. Louis Hawks

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics owe their Eastern Division lead in the National Basketball Association today to their mastery over the St. Louis Hawks.

Boston's defending world champions led all the way to down St. Louis 120-108 Wednesday night and keep a half-game margin over Philadelphia in the hectic division struggle.

Philadelphia edged New York 122-117 in the opener of the doubleheader, the only two games played Wednesday. No games are scheduled tonight.

Boston has a 3-0 series margin on the Hawks this season.

The twin bill was delayed an hour when Referee Dick Powers missed travel connections.

Rookie center Bob Scholtz of the Detroit Lions is a licensed pilot and a graduate electrical engineer.

Beaver Local Adds Two New Opponents For '61

Two new opponents have been added to Beaver Local's 1961 football schedule.

Leetonia one of the new faces on the schedule, will appear at Beaver Local for the opener on Saturday Sept. 9. Carrollton is the other foe and that game is also set for Beaver Local on Oct. 21.

Another 10-game schedule has been set up with five at home. Other home attractions are with Stanton Local Sept. 23; Goshen Union Oct. 28 and Wellsville Nov. 4.

For three weeks in succession, Beaver Local will be on the road visiting Salineville Sept. 30, United Oct. 7 and South Side Oct. 13.

The 1960 schedule follows:

Eagles Must Gang Up To Stop Packers Attack

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Defensive end Marion Campbell says the Philadelphia Eagles must pursue the ball carrier and gang tackle to stop the hard-running attack of Green Bay in the National Football League championship game here Monday.

"If we do I'm sure we can come out the winner," said the 6-3, 250-pound first string lineman. "It will take 60 minutes of hard head-knocking."

Campbell said Green Bay has powerful runners in Jim Taylor, who finished second in the league in ground gaining and Paul Hornung, who was seventh, but that the club wasn't any more of a running threat than Cleveland. He didn't think Taylor and Hornung were as elusive as Bobby Mitchell of the Browns.

Two Pirates Pace League In Fielding

CINCINNATI (AP) — The pennant-winning Pittsburgh Pirates and the seventh-place Chicago Cubs each had two individual fielding champions in the National League in the 1960 season.

But official averages, released Wednesday, showed the team fielding title again went to the Los Angeles Dodgers in a neck and neck race with the Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds.

Pittsburgh's individual champions were second baseman Bill Mazeroski and catcher Smoky Burgess. The Cubs' winners were shortstop Ernie Banks and pitcher Dick Ellsworth.

Ellsworth was one of a number of pitchers with perfect fielding averages but he got the title on the basis of having handled the most chances.

Around the infield the individual champions were Joe Adcock of Milwaukee at first base; Mazeroski; Banks and Jim Davenport of San Francisco at third base. Banks and Davenport were repeaters from 1959.

The top fielding outfielder was Curtis Flood of the St. Louis Cardinals.

On a team basis, the Dodgers finished with a mark of .9791 to .9790 for both the Pirates and the Reds.

Akron U. Grid Coach Quits, Takes New Job

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Joseph H. McMullen, Akron University football coach since 1954, gave up his gridiron duties Wednesday to become assistant to the school's financial vice president, Leslie P. Hardy.

Norman P. Auburn, university president, authorized the athletic committee to make recommendations on a new football coach. Regarding McMullen's promotion, Dr. Auburn commented:

"McMullen is well equipped to take on this important new position. He is a fully prepared civil engineer with construction experience and was graduated first in his class at Brown University in 1945."

Indians To Play 26 Exhibition Contests

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will play 26 exhibition baseball games next spring, starting March 11-12 against San Francisco's Giants in Arizona and concluding April 8-9 against the Giants in Salt Lake City.

Only four open dates are booked, and all but five of the games will be in Arizona where the Indians will train again at Tucson.

This shortest exhibition game schedule in many years includes nine games with San Francisco; five each with the Chicago Cubs, Los Angeles Angels and Boston Red Sox; and two with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jim Stahopoulos, Michigan State freshman tackle, is from Sparta, Greece.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The 1960 deer season is now a thing of the past, but the tales of good luck, disappointments and amusements linger on.

The deer kill seems to compare with last year's, although the season was shortened one day. The weather was ideal for deer hunting. Thursday, opening day, there was a good tracking snow. Thursday night there was a light snowfall that covered the old tracks and any deer tracks seen on Friday were those of a deer on the move.

As far as I have been able to learn, Gerald Weinstock of Lisbon has earned the "championship crown" by bagging an 11 - point buck along Cream Ridge Rd. He admits shooting two rounds of amunition at the big buck before it was downed for keeps. Five slugs penetrated the deer from front end to back.

The head will be mounted. It will make a fine trophy. The venison will be butchered and placed in the deep freeze. Vincent Judge and other members of the hunting party are licking their chops and making plans for a venison banquet in the near future. I heard 'em talking.

CHARLES MILLIKIN of Salem bagged a small doe with a head shot. I complimented the nimrod on being an expert marksman. Charles explained, "Actually, I am not a good shot. There were two deer, one a large doe and the other one a smaller doe standing just in front the bigger one. I fired at the big one and brought down the little one."

A hunter from Pleasant Hill, Pa., "Pee-wee" Tyson, took home a 6-point buck. This gave him the fourth buck in the last four hunting seasons. Cy Wellman of Lisbon got a doe and Melvin Adams of Ludlow Falls bagged a button buck.

James Miller, one of our deputy sheriffs, came back to camp dragging a small doe while his buddies "poured it on" with such remarks as, "What did you do, chase it into a groundhog hole and dig it out" and "Put it in your hunting coat, don't drag it."

Arlen Flowers of East Liverpool, shot a big buck with a skimpy 5-point set of antlers.

I HEARD OF another buck and two does being taken in the Pancake-Fredericktown area known as "Hells Half-Acre" and of three others taken near Salineville.

Many others have $5 deer permits, brand new and unused, not worth a nickel. Even so, that beats the daylights out of paying $20 for a non-resident hunting license to hunt in Pennsylvania, plus travel expenses, and then come home skunked.

The hunting season has not ended. Rabbit hunting goes on through Jan. 2. The split duck season opens at noon Dec. 23 and continues through Dec. 31. There won't be many ducks taken if our lakes remain frozen. Ruffed grouse may be taken through Feb. 25.

Rabbits and cock pheasants are still legal quarry on state public hunting areas through Jan. 14. Raccoon, skunk and Opossum may be taken until Jan. 14. After then comes ice fishing, which is already under way at Westville Lake. Bluegills, a few crappies, perch and an occasional bass are being taken. Fishing is legal the year 'round.

Beaver Local Adds Two New Opponents For '61

Two new opponents have been added to Beaver Local's 1961 football schedule.

Leetonia one of the new faces on the schedule, will appear at Beaver Local for the opener on Saturday Sept. 9. Carrollton is the other foe and that game is also set for Beaver Local on Oct. 21.

Another 10-game schedule has been set up with five at home. Other home attractions are with Stanton Local Sept. 23; Goshen Union Oct. 28 and Wellsville Nov. 4.

For three weeks in succession, Beaver Local will be on the road visiting Salineville Sept. 30, United Oct. 7 and South Side Oct. 13.

The 1960 schedule follows:

Sept. 9	Leetonia	here
Sept. 15	Chester	there
Sept. 23	Stanton Local	here
Sept. 30	Salineville	there
Oct. 7	United Local	there
Oct. 13	Southside	there
Oct. 21	Carrollton	here
Oct. 28	Goshen Union	here
Nov. 4	Wellsville	here
Nov. 11	Springfield	there

Eagles Must Gang Up To Stop Packers Attack

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Defensive end Marion Campbell says the Philadelphia Eagles must pursue the ball carrier and gang tackle to stop the hard-running attack of Green Bay in the National Football League championship game here Monday.

"If we do I'm sure we can come out the winner," said the 6-3, 250-pound first string lineman. "It will take 60 minutes of hard headknocking."

Campbell said Green Bay has powerful runners in Jim Taylor, who finished second in the league in ground gaining and Paul Hornung, who was seventh, but that the club wasn't any more of a running threat than Cleveland. He didn't think Taylor and Hornung were as elusive as Bobby Mitchell of the Browns.

Billikens Top California In Overtime Tilt

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Billikens, in the past always willing to slug it out point for point on a basketball court, have the new look of a fine defensive team this year. This may be the formula they'll need to beat Kentucky tonight for the title in the Wildcats' own tourney.

The Bills' 54-53 overtime victory over California, one of the best ball control and defensive outfits in college basketball, Wednesday night also must have driven home the point to Coach Adolph Rupp's team, which won over Illinois 83-78 in the other tourney game.

The victory was St. Louis' sixth in seven starts, during which they have allowed an average of only 49 points a game. This compares with Kentucky's scoring average of 63 for a 4-2 mark. Offensively, the Bills, whose only loss was 81-66 to top-ranked Ohio State, have averaged 64 points compared to Kentucky's 62 points allowed six opponents.

Duke's Blue Devils, seventh-ranked in the current Associated Press poll, got another fine performance from soph Art Heyman and breezed past Florida 83-64. North Carolina State (No. 10) held off LaSalle's late rush for a 71-68 win, after which Temple handed Penn its first loss 72-58.

Louisville, unbeaten in nine starts, won over Louisiana State 72-53 and Vanderbilt, also undefeated, beat New Mexico 66-59. Kansas State won its fifth in a row, 63-56 over Colorado State, while Colorado lost its first in eight starts, 64-54 to Wichita and Dayton handed Seton Hall its first defeat 66-45.

In other games, Cornell Green scored 22 points as Utah State broke open Kent State's ball control tactics for an 83-62 victory. Arkansas beat Alabama 83-76, and Texas Christian won over Tennessee 77-73 as the Southwest Conference swept the Southeast Conference in the first Aluminum Bowl at Little Rock, Ark. The teams switch partners tonight.

Denver knocked off Michigan 68-59, and Washington State handed Stanford its second one-point loss in as many nights 51-50. Loyola of Chicago bombed Loyola of New Orleans 78-66, Nebraska trimmed Arizona 79-55, Army defeated DePauw 78-68, Creighton bounced Grinnell 75-53 and Rutgers conquered Boston U. 79-77.

Key Clubbers To Hold Cage Tournament

The first annual Key Club basketball tournament will be held Tuesday, Dec. 27 at 7 p. m. in Beacom Memorial gymnasium with the Wellsville club as host entry.

Other teams participating in the one-night event will be from high schools in East Liverpool, Salem, Chester, and Lisbon.

The opening game pits Wellsville against Chester. East Liverpool will battle Lisbon in the second game. Salem drew a bye and will meet one of the two winners.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up, according to the Wellsville club. Keith Tipton is president.

Tickets may be purchased from any key club member of the participating schools. The tickets also may be purchased at the door and are 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Firm Seeks To Break Pact With Big Leagues

NEW YORK (AP) — A.G. Spaulding Bros., which has been suppling the National and American leagues with official baseballs since they were organized, wants to break a 10-year contract that runs through 1967.

Edwin L. Parker, head of the company, says they have been losing money on the deal. He suggested a price boost, and decrease in number of free balls given each team. Parker said, however, the suggestions were turned down. He asks that the contract be ending no later than Dec. 1, 1961.

It is estimated that a team uses about 850 dozen balls per season, with only about 25 per cent paid for. They sell for $21 per dozen wholesale, and retail for $3.25 apiece.

Can Bucks Repeat?

How Good Is Ohio State's Cage Forces This Season?

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Now hold on there—just how good is this Ohio State basketball team?

Good enough to win a second straight national championship?

Good enough to go through an unbeaten season?

Well—maybe.

The No. 1 rated Buckeyes have romped to five straight victories and most veteran courtside observers agree on one thing:

"They've got a heck of a good ball club."

After Ohio State demolished a fine California team last March to cop the NCAA title, not many people thought such a near-perfect performance could be improved upon.

Even Coach Fred Taylor voiced some compliants.

"We don't have the size or depth we had last year. Physically, we can't be as strong," the youthful Taylor commented in a preseason sizeup of his squad.

So what happens? Ohio State runs through five straight opponents like a tornado leveling a Texas town. And even Taylor is ready to admit that this team is as good as last season's kingpins.

"Our defense has done a fine job and our offense should do better," says Taylor. "But we'll know more about the team in the next week or so," he continued, adding:

"The way everyone is gunning for us, we just have to take them one at a time. Look what's ahead. We have to play a good Detroit club tonight and then next week in the Holiday Festival in New York there are teams like St. John's, Seton Hall, Providence and St. Bonaventure. Thiss will be our most severe test of the season. Ask me how good Ohio State is after those games and I might be able to tell you."

The Ohioans are sparked by All - America and Olympic ace Jerry Lucas. But the former Middletown High School flash gets considerable help from such notables as Larry Siegfried, John Havlicek and Mel Nowell.

And even Taylor says the Buckeye bench has been a "pleasant surprise" providing excellent depth.

Cold statistics disclose this interesting information:

In their five victories against Ohio University, St. Louis, Army, Wichita and Loyola (Chicago), the Buckeyes shot 51 per cent from the field, 80 per cent from the foul line and grabbed 251 rebounds to 176 for their opponents.

Boiled down, it's tough beating a team that averages 90 points a game, connects on half of its shots and captures 50 rebounds a contest.

Too, Ohio's defensive prowess might even warm the heart of Oklahoma State's Hank Iba, the country's top exponent of defensive basketball. The Bucks, using a tight man-to-man defense, have permitted their foes only 66 points a game.

Not since San Francisco turned the trick in 1955 and 1956 has a school repeated as national champions. And not since the 1955-56 season has a team gone through a complete schedule without a setback. Bill Russell and his Frisco mates were in control then as the Dons won 60 straight games over a three-year period.

What's Ohio State's chance of coming through unscathed?

Unitas, Packer Star Top List For Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts and halfback Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers head a list of seven players each from their respective teams on the West squad of the National Football League's annual Pro Bowl game.

The stars of the Western Conference of the NFL battle quarterback Norman Von Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles and his representatives from the East in the postseason affair in Memorial Coliseum Jan. 15.

The West squad, announced today by managing director Paul J. Schissler, includes six players from the Detroit Lions, five from San Francisco, four each from Los Angeles and Chicago and one from the Dallas Cowboys.

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers, winner of the Western Conference, opposes the Eagles' Eastern Division title team coach, Buck Shaw.

The squad was selected by the seven Western Division coaches. None could vote for his own players.

Bowler Rolls Perfect Game And 805 Series

CLEVELAND (AP) — Even the country's top bowlers would consider an 805 series a pretty good night's work—but Frank Matejka threw in a perfect game for good measure.

Matejka, who carries a 192 average, followed his 300 game with games of 268 and 237 Wednesday night.

It was Matejka's first perfect game in 25 years of bowling.

"I really felt good," said Matejka. "I knew I was going to get the 300 game."

Packers Drill Despite Intense Cold Weather

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The temperature dropped to near zero in this hotbed of professional football Wednesday, but there was no rest for the Green Bay Packers as they ran through another spirited drill on frozen turf.

"This intense cold makes it tough to keep the players sharp in practice," Coach Vince Lombardi said. "But we've got to play Monday regardless how cold it is and we may as well get used to it."

The Packer coach relented, however, after his players had braved the near-zero weather and sharp northwest winds for about a half hour. He herded them indoors for a 'long chalk talk' in preparation for their National Football League championship game against the Eagles at Philadelphia Monday.

Lombardi said injuries may prove a factor in the game with the Eagles.

"I'm sure everyone will play," Lombardi said, "But at the moment Jim Taylor, Jesse Whittenton and Jim Ringo are not well."

Taylor, who has gained more than half of the Packers total ground yardage with 1,101, is hampered with leg and shoulder bruises that give him considerable pain.

Whittenton, one of the team's top men on pass defense, suffered a pulled leg muscle last Saturday while the Packers were beating the Los Angeles Rams for the Western Division title.

All-pro center Ringo has a Charley horse and still is bothered with a sore hand that was spiked in the San Francisco game Dec. 10 when Taylor stepped on it.

Celtics Owe Lead To Mastery Over St. Louis Hawks

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics owe their Eastern Division lead in the National Basketball Association today to their mastery over the St. Louis Hawks.

Boston's defending world champions led all the way to down St. Louis 120-108 Wednesday night and keep a half-game margin over Philadelphia in the hectic division struggle.

Philadelphia edged New York 122-117 in the opener of the doubleheader, the only two games played Wednesday. No games are scheduled tonight.

Boston has a 3-0 series margin on the Hawks this season.

The twin bill was delayed an hour when Referee Dick Powers missed travel connections.

Rookie center Bob Scholtz of the Detroit Lions is a licensed pilot and a graduate electrical engineer.

Frick Looks For 3 Loops Or 24 Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball could expand to 24 teams and perhaps three leagues by 1964 with further changes as close as 1962, Commissioner Ford Frick predicts.

"You know how these baseball fellows are," the commissioner was quoted by Dick Young of the Daily News in today's edition. "It takes them a long time to get moving, but when they do, they want to keep moving.

"The only thing I'm afraid of is they may try to do it too fast."

Frick said he personally favors expansion that will get away from the 10-club setup the American League will have next year and the National League in 1962 when Houston and New York are taken in.

Under a 10-club setup there are two objections he believes: The idea of teams finishing ninth and tenth, and a 162-game schedule which destroys the long-time structure based on 154 games.

Expansion to 24 teams by 1962 either as three eight-team leagues or with two 12 team leagues split into six-team divisions, he pointed out, could mean a return to a 154-game season schedule.

Frick said he had heard the American League has a faction which favors expansion to two six-team leagues in 1962.

Ohio Hunters Hit 4 Million In State Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sportsmen paid nearly $4 million for the privilege of hunting and fishing in Ohio during the bookkeeping year ended last June 30, an annual report by State Auditor James A. Rhodes showed today.

The Division of Wildlife audit showed total revenues of $3.9 million, compared with more than $4.1 million for the previous fiscal year.

Decreased receipts from fishing licenses accounted for most of the drop. They totaled $1.7 million compared with $1.9 million during 1958-59. Another $27,614 was realized from licenses, fines and other revenue from Lake Erie fishing operations.

Hunting and trapping activities for the year yielded $2.13 million against $2.12 million during the previous period.

The number of $5 deer hunting permits showed a slight decrease. A total of 38,428 deer hunters paid $192,140 for licenses during the year, compared with $214,455 from 42,891 hunters in 1958-59.

Violators of fish and game laws paid fines of $55,493 with the penalties about equally divided between fishermen and those who hunt and trap.

Over-all expenditures last year exceeded $3.9 million, with nearly $.9 million of that going for personal service.

Statute limits spending for administration and enforcement purposes to not more than 35 per cent of hunting and trapping fees and 25 per cent of fishing license money. Balances go for propagation and preservation of game.

Ohio Soldier Charged In Murder Of Wife

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A 24-year-old Ft. Benning soldier from Circleville, Ohio, has been charged with murder in the shotgun death of his 24-year-old wife, Mary Catherine. Police would not say if Spec. 4 Robert Hartinger, Ninth Infantry, Second Division, had confessed to killing his wife. He was to be given a preliminary hearing today.

The shooting occurred on the 24th birthday of Mrs. Hartinger, a native of Chillicothe, Ohio. First police officers on the scene found Hartinger's fatigue uniform blood-stained and the soldier in shock. Then they saw the body.

Ohio Soldier Charged In Murder Of Wife

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A 24-year-old Ft. Benning soldier from Circleville, Ohio, has been charged with murder in the shotgun death of his 24-year-old wife, Mary Catherine. Police would not say if Spec. 4 Robert Hartinger, Ninth Infantry, Second Division, had confessed to killing his wife. He was to be given a preliminary hearing today.

The shooting occurred on the 24th birthday of Mrs. Hartinger, a native of Chillicothe, Ohio. First police officers on the scene found Hartinger's fatigue uniform blood-stained and the soldier in shock. Then they saw the body.

Steelers In Trade

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League today traded safety man Bill Butler and offensive tackle Dick Klein to the Pittsburgh Steelers for Dicky Moegle, former Rice All-America.

SANTA and the BOY FISH by Lucrece Hudgins Beale

Michael has found the black pearl aboard the sunken ARADOON and has escaped the Monster of the Deep, who attacked him disguised as a giant squid. The boy slips the precious pearl into his diving mask and prepares to go to the surface when he is confronted by a vicious viper fish.

CHAPTER 16

The 3-eyed viperfish was long and snake-like. It opened and closed its powerful jaws and snapped together its needle-like teeth.

As it drew nearer, Michael saw that one of its three eyes was missing and he knew it was the Monster of the Deep who, destroyed three times, still had two lives left.

For a moment Michael was too frightened to move. The viperfish swam up to his mask as though it knew the black pearl was inside. It opened its jaws to bite through the tube that led to Michael's lung. Michael struck out with his hands and, catching the creature by the tail, yanked it from his face.

The big fish was enraged. It blinked its yellow eyes and tried to shake off the boy. Michael hung stubbornly on. There was a furious fight on the deck of the sunken ship.

The viperfish twisted and looped and snapped its tail but could not shake off Michael. Clouds of sand and debris rose from the deck. Michael could no longer see the creature but he could sense its panic and he knew that if he held on long enough he would win the battle.

—:—

SUDDENLY the fish stopped struggling and took off for the captain's bridge towing Michael behind. The remains of an old rusty cannon were on the bridge and, in desperation, the fish lunged into the cannon's mouth.

Instantly Michael released its tail and, snatching up a cannon ball from the deck, rammed it into the cannon mouth squashing the imprisoned fish.

Michael trembled with relief. He leaned for a moment to rest against the tilted bridge. All the fish who had sped away during the battle now returned eager to see the strange Boy-fish who had bested both squid and, viperfish in one short hour.

It was clear they wanted Michael to stay and be their leader. But Michael had had enough of the ghostly ARADOON.

"I hope I never see it again—gold and all!" he thought fervently. Then, waving to the friendly fish, he kicked off and swam away in the dark blue sea.

The tentacle fastened around his waist.

AS HE glided back toward the Turtle City he could feel the black pearl rolling around inside his face mask. He thought to himself that all was now well for surely the Monster of the Deep, with only one life left would bother him no more.

But he was wrong for, even then, the shadow of a balloon passed overhead and, looking up in surprise, he saw a Portuguese Man-of-War hovering above him.

The bright blue jelly fish was floating on the surface of the water on its balloon-like, air - filled bladder. A stinging tentacle, fifty feet long, dangled from the bladder. Michael knew that the Man-of-War has numerous tentacles and when he saw that this one had only one he knew that the Monster of the Deep had changed his shape again and come to do battle once more.

Michael rushed faster and faster through the water but no matter how fast he swam the balloon above him sailed just as fast until finally the exhausted Boyfish could swim no more. As soon as he stopped, the ever present tentacle fastened around his waist and slowly, drew him out of the sea.

Man Forgets 'Poverty' Pays $31 For Offense

A Fredericktown man who pleaded poverty when arraigned on a traffic offense in Municipal Court Wednesday, winning a continuance until after the holidays, changed his mind a short time later, admitted his guilt and paid a $25 fine plus $6 costs.

The rapid about-face was made by Lester Gamble, cited by the State Highway Patrol Saturday on a charge of reckless driving on Route 170 at Calcutta. At his arraignment, he told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he had only $2. which he would need to provide Christmas cheer for his wife and 3 children. The judge granted a continuance until Jan. 4.

A short time later, Gamble returned to court and entered a guilty plea, explaining he expects to leave on a trip to California soon with a relative. The judge imposed a fine of $25 and costs, which Gamble paid.

Reindeer, Sleigh? No! It's 'Saintnik I' Rocket

MONTROSE, Calif. (AP)—Reindeer? Sleigh? They're outmoded means of travel for Santa in the front yard of John Geraghty's home here.

A tape recording alternates carols with an actual recording of an Atlas missile launch.

Geraghty, an automotive engineer, made the illuminated, animated display of welded oil drums and spare car parts.

Government Says Youngstown Fund Owes $2,391,565

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service claims that the Leon A. Beeghly Fund in Youngstown, Ohio, owes 1956 income taxes totaling $2,391,565.

The fund, whose trustee is the Union National Bank of Youngstown, says it is a tax exempt and thus owes nothing.

The fund, in an appeal filed in U.S. Tax Court, claims to be a trust organized for such purposes as charity, scientific and literary research, and studies of cruelty to children and to animals.

The fund, established by the late Leon A. Beechly, has derived much of its income from royalties on patents of the old Cold Metal Products Co.

In 1956, these royalties were paid into the fund by national Steel Corp., United Engineering & Foundry Co., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and the Thomas Steel Co.

The fund has been involved in a great deal of litigation with the government.

In its petition the fund said it already has paid $2,959,359 on another claimed tax deficiency of $10,280,673.

IRS says $1,040,640 also is due on interest.

Philanthropist Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Frank J. Lewis, 93, Chicago philanthropist who gave millions of dollars to medical and educational institutions, died Wednesday. Lewis, retired industrialist and inventor, was born in Chcago.

Enlists Aid Of Police

Little Arkansas Girl, 11, Out To Find 'Real Santa'

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is a real Santa Claus, a little farm girl from the Arkansas Ozarks is out to find him. She has enlisted the aid of the New York City cops.

Coleta Burns, 11, has decided Santa either doesn't know where she lives, or he's dead. He hasn't called on her in a long time.

"Is there a real Santa in New York?" Coleta wrote in a letter to the Police Department. "You see, if there is a real Santa, he doesn't know where we live. I thought I would write a letter to him, and if he doesn't come this time, I know he must of died."

"You know," she went on chattily, "he hasn't been to our house for a long time. He must have been dead for a lot of years. If he is live, I hope you will read this letter to him."

Then Coleta systematically listed the things her family needs from Santa.

"I hope you have some encycipedias for my big brothers. . . .

"I have two sisters. They are 13 years old. They are twins. They want a old piano so they can learn to play at church.

"I want a pair of cowboy boots and some blue jeans and a cowboy hat.

"I have a little brother and sister. . . . They want a little car that they can ride in.

"I sure hope you are still live, for I hope we can have Christmas at our house this year."

Coleta added that she lives "five miles southwest of Viola, Ark."

"If Santa is dead," she concluded, "will you write and tell me?"

Viola is a town of 196 persons, nestled in the foothills of the Ozarks. Wednesday night most of the town was in church singing Christmas carols. School Supt. Max Harber was there, and he said, sure, he knows Coleta.

"She's in the sixth grade," he said, "and she makes mostly A's and B's. Her family's not very well off, but they're good people, well thought of."

Coleta's letter was turned over to the Police Athletic League, which plays Santa to many New York kids, and deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm answered the child's letter promptly.

"I am sure there is a real Santa," wrote Arm, "not only in New York but everywhere.

"However, he has been very busy and, somehow, he must have overlooked you and your brothers and sisters. . . .

"I hope he gets to Viola by Christmas Day. If not, please be patient—he has a lot of territory to cover."

Michigan State played before 499,703 football fans in nine games during 1960.

King Saud Takes Over Premiership Of Saudi Arabia

CAIRO (AP) — King Saud of Saudi Arabia has relieved his brother, Crown Prince Faisal, as premier and taken back the full powers of government he gave him more than two years ago.

Observers familiar with affairs in Saudi Arabia said hawk-nosed Faisal, 56, apparently antagonized too many people, especially the scores of free-spending, money-loving princes whose subsidies and salaries were cut in Faisal's regime of austerity.

Faisal also was said to have disappointed some supporters who expected him to carry out an energetic program of modernization of the political system.

Mecca Radio broadcast two decrees Wednesday by Saud, 58. The first said, "All ministers are regarded as having resigned after the resignation of the premier."

The second said Saud, "with the aid of Most High God, had taken over all Faisal's jobs himself.

Beside being premier Faisal was foreign, defense and finance minister. The radio gave no reason for the king's action.

Retired Admiral Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Horato G. Gillmor, 90, retired rear admiral of the U. S. Navy, died Wednesday of cancer. Gillmor, who was born in Menomonie, Wis., graduated from the Naval Academy in Annapolis in 1891 and retired in 1934. He was recalled to active duty in World War II and served three years.

Britian's Jets, Rockets Due Under NATO Chief

LONDON (AP)—Britain's fighter command, a force of more than 100 jet fighter planes plus guided missiles, will come under the control of NATO's supreme commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad.

Defense Minister Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons Wednesday night the British fighters will join the North Atlantic alliance's new unified air defense system for Europe. Unification is necessary, he said, because of the speed and range of modern aircraft.

SANTA and the BOY FISH by Lucrece Hudgins Beale

Michael has found the black pearl aboard the sunken ARADOON and has escaped the Monster of the Deep, who attacked him disguised as a giant squid. The boy slips the precious pearl into his diving mask and prepares to go to the surface when he is confronted by a vicious viper fish.

CHAPTER 16

The 3-eyed viperfish was long and snake-like. It opened and closed its powerful jaws and snapped together its needle-like teeth.

As it drew nearer, Michael saw that one of its three eyes was missing and he knew it was the Monster of the Deep who, destroyed three times, still had two lives left.

For a moment Michael was too frightened to move. The viperfish swam up to his mask as though it knew the black pearl was inside. It opened its jaws to bite through the tube that led to Michael's lung. Michael struck out with his hands and, catching the creature by the tail, yanked it from his face.

The big fish was enraged. It blinked its yellow eyes and tried to shake off the boy. Michael hung stubbornly on. There was a furious fight on the deck of the sunken ship.

The viperfish twisted and looped and snapped its tail but could not shake off Michael. Clouds of sand and debris rose from the deck. Michael could no longer see the creature but he could sense its panic and he knew that if he held on long enough he would win the battle.

—:—

SUDDENLY the fish stopped struggling and took off for the captain's bridge towing Michael behind. The remains of an old rusty cannon were on the bridge and, in desperation, the fish lunged into the cannon's mouth.

Instantly Michael released its tail and, snatching up a cannon ball from the deck, rammed it into the cannon mouth squashing the imprisoned fish.

Michael trembled with relief. He leaned for a moment to rest against the tilted bridge. All the fish who had sped away during the battle now returned eager to see the strange Boy-fish who had bested both squid and, viperfish in one short hour.

It was clear they wanted Michael to stay and be their leader. But Michael had had enough of the ghostly ARADOON.

"I hope I never see it again—gold and all!" he thought fervently. Then, waving to the friendly fish, he kicked off and swam away in the dark blue sea.

The tentacle fastened around his waist.

AS HE glided back toward the Turtle City he could feel the black pearl rolling around inside his face mask. He thought to himself that all was now well for surely the Monster of the Deep, with only one life left would bother him no more.

But he was wrong for, even then, the shadow of a balloon passed overhead and, looking up in surprise, he saw a Portuguese Man-of-War hovering above him.

The bright blue jelly fish was floating on the surface of the water on its balloon-like, air - filled bladder. A stinging tentacle, fifty feet long, dangled from the bladder. Michael knew that the Man-of-War has numerous tentacles and when he saw that this one had only one he knew that the Monster of the Deep had changed his shape again and come to do battle once more.

Michael rushed faster and faster through the water but no matter how fast he swam the balloon above him sailed just as fast until finally the exhausted Boyfish could swim no more. As soon as he stopped, the ever present tentacle fastened around his waist and slowly, drew him out of the sea.

Man Forgets 'Poverty' Pays $31 For Offense

A Fredericktown man who pleaded poverty when arraigned on a traffic offense in Municipal Court Wednesday, winning a continuance until after the holidays, changed his mind a short time later, admitted his guilt and paid a $25 fine plus $6 costs.

The rapid about-face was made by Lester Gamble, cited by the State Highway Patrol Saturday on a charge of reckless driving on Route 170 at Calcutta. At his arraignment, he told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he had only $2. which he would need to provide Christmas cheer for his wife and 3 children. The judge granted a continuance until Jan. 4.

A short time later, Gamble returned to court and entered a guilty plea, explaining he expects to leave on a trip to California soon with a relative. The judge imposed a fine of $25 and costs, which Gamble paid.

Reindeer, Sleigh? No! It's 'Saintnik I' Rocket

MONTROSE, Calif. (AP)—Reindeer? Sleigh? They're outmoded means of travel for Santa in the front yard of John Geraghty's home here.

A 40-foot rocket, "Saintnik I," stands poised for takeoff. Elves work at loading it and operate a launch control panel.

A tape recording alternates carols with an actual recording of an Atlas missile launch.

Geraghty, an automotive engineer, made the illuminated, animated display of welded oil drums and spare car parts.

Government Says Youngstown Fund Owes $2,391,565

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service claims that the Leon A. Beeghly Fund in Youngstown, Ohio, owes 1956 income taxes totaling $2,391,565.

The fund, whose trustee is the Union National Bank of Youngstown, says it is a tax exempt and thus owes nothing.

The fund, in an appeal filed in U.S. Tax Court, claims to be a trust organized for such purposes as charity, scientific and literary research, and studies of cruelty to children and to animals.

The fund, established by the late Leon A. Beechly, has derived much of its income from royalties on patents of the old Cold Metal Products Co.

In 1956, these royalties were paid into the fund by national Steel Corp., United Engineering & Foundry Co., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., and the Thomas Steel Co.

The fund has been involved in a great deal of litigation with the government.

In its petition the fund said it already has paid $2,959,359 on another claimed tax deficiency of $10,280,673.

IRS says $1,040,640 also is due on interest.

Enlists Aid Of Police

Little Arkansas Girl, 11, Out To Find 'Real Santa'

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is a real Santa Claus, a little farm girl from the Arkansas Ozarks is out to find him. She has enlisted the aid of the New York City cops.

Coleta Burns, 11, has decided Santa either doesn't know where she lives, or he's dead. He hasn't called on her in a long time.

"Is there a real Santa in New York?" Coleta wrote in a letter to the Police Department. "You see, if there is a real Santa, he doesn't know where we live. I thought I would write a letter to him, and if he doesn't come this time, I know he must of died."

"You know," she went on chattily, "he hasn't been to our house for a long time. He must have been dead for a lot of years. If he is live, I hope you will read this letter to him."

Then Coleta systematically listed the things her family needs from Santa.

"I hope you have some encycipedias for my big brothers. . . .

"I have two sisters. They are 13 years old. They are twins. They want a old piano so they can learn to play at church.

"I want a pair of cowboy boots and some blue jeans and a cowboy hat.

"I have a little brother and sister. . . . They want a little car that they can ride in.

"I sure hope you are still live, for I hope we can have Christmas at our house this year."

Coleta added that she lives "five miles southwest of Viola, Ark."

"If Santa is dead," she concluded, "will you write and tell me?"

Viola is a town of 196 persons, nestled in the foothills of the Ozarks. Wednesday night most of the town was in church singing Christmas carols. School Supt. Max Harber was there, and he said, sure, he knows Coleta.

"She's in the sixth grade," he said, "and she makes mostly A's and B's. Her family's not very well off, but they're good people, well thought of."

Coleta's letter was turned over to the Police Athletic League, which plays Santa to many New York kids, and deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm answered the child's letter promptly.

'Happiest Boy Alive'

Youngster Shoots Rocket He Toiled Over Five Years

By GENE HANDSAKER

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — "I'm the happiest boy alive," a young Minnesotan said after the successful firing of the homemade rocket he had sweated over for nearly five years.

Experts call it the most complex amateur missile ever built. It's the only one built by a layman ever fired from a U.S. naval base. A previous attempt to launch it here fizzled last September because of the failure of a 10-cent connector.

The Navy, more than mildly interested, had 70 technicians get it ready for the launch Wednesday at this mountain-rimmed Naval Ordnance Test Station on the Mojave Desert, 136 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Marshall Kriesel, 20, the ruggedly handsome designer-builder, who has applied for a patent on part of the guidance system, directed the count-down from a concrete blockhouse 500 feet away.

The 11-foot missile, five inches thick, was designed to go 1¼ miles high but ascended only about 2,000 feet.

Success anyway? Yes, say Navy scientists, despite a malfunction in the controlling fins up front.

Robert Blaise, associate head of China Lake's missile propulsion division, said the rocket's liquid propulsion system worked excellently.

Said young Kriesel, "We've demonstrated some new principles."

He'll spend the next 10 days of his Christmas vacation at the base, analyzing data from recording devices including high-speed cameras whose film, slowed down, will stretch the seven-second flight into an hour.

Kriesel is a 6-foot-2, 190-pound, blue-eyed, brown-haired sophomore majoring in aeronautical engineering at the University of Minnesota. No movie concept of an anemic boy scientist, he has played football and basketball and is socially conscious—he has a date with an officer's daughter booked for Monday.

Wellsville Motorist's $5 Fine Is Suspended

Shirley M. Marioneaux, 27, of Wellsville R.D. received a suspended $5 fine at a hearing Wednesday before County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon on a charge of failing to signal a turn.

In other State Highway Patrol cases, Clyde J. Brown, 22, of Lisbon R.D. 1 was fined $10 and costs for parking on the highway.

Raymond H. Oyer, 18, of Kensington forfeited $15 bond for speeding and John L. Austin, 45, of Pittsburgh $20 for crossing the yellow line.

'Happiest Boy Alive'

Youngster Shoots Rocket He Toiled Over Five Years

By GENE HANDSAKER

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP) — "I'm the happiest boy alive," a young Minnesotan said after the successful firing of the homemade rocket he had sweated over for nearly five years.

Experts call it the most complex amateur missile ever built. It's the only one built by a layman ever fired from a U.S. naval base. A previous attempt to launch it here fizzled last September because of the failure of a 10-cent connector.

The Navy, more than mildly interested, had 70 technicians get it ready for the launch Wednesday at this mountain-rimmed Naval Ordnance Test Station on the Mojave Desert, 136 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Marshall Kriesel, 20, the ruggedly handsome designer-builder, who has applied for a patent on part of the guidance system, directed the count-down from a concrete blockhouse 500 feet away.

The 11-foot missile, five inches thick, was designed to go 1¼ miles high but ascended only about 2,000 feet.

Success anyway? Yes, say Navy scientists, despite a malfunction in the controlling fins up front.

Robert Blaise, associate head of China Lake's missile propulsion division, said the rocket's liquid propulsion system worked excellently.

Said young Kriesel, "We've demonstrated some new principles."

He'll spend the next 10 days of his Christmas vacation at the base, analyzing data from recording devices including high-speed cameras whose film, slowed down, will stretch the seven-second flight into an hour.

Kriesel is a 6-foot-2, 190-pound, blue-eyed, brown-haired sophomore majoring in aeronautical engineering at the University of Minnesota. No movie concept of an anemic boy scientist, he has played football and basketball and is socially conscious—he has a date with an officer's daughter booked for Monday.

Wellsville Motorist's $5 Fine Is Suspended

Shirley M. Marioneaux, 27, of Wellsville R.D. received a suspended $5 fine at a hearing Wednesday before County Judge James L. MacDonald at Lisbon on a charge of failing to signal a turn.

In other State Highway Patrol cases, Clyde J. Brown, 22, of Lisbon R.D. 1 was fined $10 and costs for parking on the highway.

Raymond H. Oyer, 18, of Kensington forfeited $15 bond for speeding and John L. Austin, 45, of Pittsburgh $20 for crossing the yellow line.

Relaxation Seen Key To Enjoyment Of Life

Tension is today's No. 1 Gremlin. It can take the joy out of day-to-day living, for when we are tense and nervously tired, it is next to impossible to let go, to relax, to feel at peace, even at this heart-warming season of the year.

By Ida Jean Kain

Office workers with sedentary jobs are apt to be more tense than homemakers. The constant use of small muscles — the muscles of the eyes, fingers and hands — builds up tension, while using the big muscles of the body helps release tensions.

Executives are likely to be more tense than their secretaries, for executives take their problems home with them.

Techniques for relaxing vary from the philosophical approach to dealing directly with the excess tension held in the muscles.

A CLASSIC little book, "A Way Of Life," by Dr. William Osler deals with relaxing from the mental angle. The gist of Dr. Osler's message is a plea to do the day's work and be done with it!

The author emphasizes that the load of tomorrow, added to that of yesterday and carried today, will make the strongest falter. He recommends that we cultivate the habit of living life in day-tight compartments. It takes practice to close a mental door on your work at the close of each day.

But it's a habit, as easy or as hard to adopt as any other habit. Practice shows the way.

Methods of relaxing muscularly also vary. If you have been sitting all day and your muscles feel cramped, rhythmic exercises or a relaxed walk can help you let go. Stretching is also an excellent way to rouse the circulation and ring out tensions. Try it!

If possible, lie down on the floor, on your back and s-t-r-e-t-c-h. Place hands on shoulders, fists clenched. Take a deep breath, lifting the chest. Push back with your head, bending it toward the right, stretching up with the left arm.

Next, bend head toward the left, stretching up strong with the right arm. Stretch and pull and turn, getting the entire body into the movement.

Another method of relaxing calls for deliberate tensing of various muscle groups, followed by methodical "letting-go" of the tensions. The reasoning back of this method is that tension is partly subconscious. By deliberately tensing the muscles and slowly releasing the tension, conscious control is acquired.

—:—

LIE ON YOUR back and close your eyes. You may wish to place a folded towel or soft pillow under the bend of your knees. Start with the muscles of the forehead.

Frown, and feel their tightness. Gently release these muscles. You'll feel the brow smooth out.

Tense your jaw and let go, allowing the jaw to sag. Do this with neck muscles, arms and so on.

With practice you can train the muscles to relax at will. Peace! It's wonderful.

HOLDING HANDS, David P. Rusk, 20, eldest son of Secretary of State-designate Dean Rusk, and his fiancee, Miss Delcia Bence Spinosa, also 20, are shown at a friend's home in Scarsdale, N. Y. Rusk met the Argentine girl when she came here as a foreign exchange student in 1957. Both currently are students at the University of California at Berkeley. Their engagement was announced in Buenos Aires by her parents. (UPI Telephoto)

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Plan Calm Christmas Celebration

Christmas time is often a strenuous ordeal for the mother of young children, even for the children themselves. Let me entreat you mothers to plan for Christmas in a way which will not unduly wear you out and shatter your nerves. Please don't be too ambitious in your planning. Aim to come to Christmas Day poised and reasonably calm and serene. Exercise your best judgment about the number of gifts you are going to make or buy for members of the family; also, the number you are going to make or buy for other relatives or friends.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Some mothers, gifted at making lovely things, will try to make far too many and let themselves be encumbered with hours more of work than they have without robbing their sleep, rest or recreation.

—:—

YOU MAY feel you must invite certain friends or relatives for Christmas. But if you are sensible, you will try to have only your own family on Christmas Day. If a relative comes then with several young children, the strain may be overwhelming for you and your whole family; most of the extra burden will really fall on you.

Your husband, being considerate of you, should try to back you in keeping down the strain on you around Christmas. If friends do come for the day, he should pitch in to help lessen your burden.

Even for your own family alone on Christmas Day, don't plan an overambitious program for the Christmas dinner. The simpler it is, the more all of you can really enjoy the day.

IF YOUR children are of elementary school age, let's hope you have them trained to help in the household chores and that Dad will share in guiding them to help you and will also help himself.

Just before Christmas is hardly a favorable time to have a party for the children. Besides, you need to be careful lest you volunteer too heavily to assist in school, church or community parties during the week before Christmas.

Let us hope you will have planned your program so that you can enjoy with your family some of the more precious experiences related to this special day.

My bulletins, "The Nervous, Jittery Mother" and "Enjoying Our Children", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Burned-Out Families' Aid Is Co-Ordinated

Plans for collecting items donated to four Wellsville families whose homes were destroyed by fire a week ago were outlined at a meeting of various organizations Wednesday night at the Carnegie Library.

Represented were Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647, city Welfare Department and the Red Cross.

The VFW and American Legion Post 70 will collect all the items persons have donated. It was announced no more clothing is needed.

The names of persons who have contacted the Red Cross have been turned over to the VFW. The Red Cross is furnishing a food order, according to James Laughlin, chairman.

After the collection is completed, an appeal will be made for any specific items that are needed, Laughlin said.

City Man Hospitalized After Fall Down Stairs

A city man, hurt in a fall at home, was admitted Wednesday night to City Hospital where a Chester girl was treated after a school mishap.

Harold Salsberry, 26, of Meakin St. is in "good" condition with bruises of the ribs and upper back suffered in a fall down 14 steps at home.

Raette Dippolito, 13, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Dippolito, 240 Carolina Ave., Chester, was treated for a laceration of the right side of the forehead received in a fall against a wall at Chester High School.

Firemen Called By Car Fire And Burned Roast

Firemen answered two alarms Wednesday afternoon, one an auto fire and the other blamed on a forgotten piece of meat.

An overheated transmission caused a fire which damaged wiring in a car owned by Russell Jordan of Davis St. Firemen were called to Davis St. at 3:25 p. m.

The department was called to the home of George O. Welker, 901 Orchard Grove Ave. at 4 p. m. when a roast in an oven went dry and burned up. The fire was out on arrival, firemen said.

No Under Table Tricks In Tennis, Prexy Says

By The Associated Press

"I know of no case in this country where players are paid under the table," the president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association said in reply to comments by Davis Cup player Earl Buchholz on the integrity of the amateur game.

Buchholz, of St. Louis, and Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio signed contracts in Sydney, Australia, Wednesday to play with Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe. The two top U.S. stars were on the team which recently lost the interzone finals to Italy. The contracts promised each at least $50,000 in three years.

In signing the pro contract, Buchholz remarked: "We have been taught to be honest and it is always a very uncomfortable and dirty feeling for us to take money under the table as we do as amateurs."

George E. Barnes of Chicago, USLTA president, visiting in Houston, Tex., said in reply: "I feel sure that Mr. Buchholz is referrng to world tennis and not to tennis in the United States. If that is so, then he is correct. Other countries do not observe the amateur rules as we do. I know of no cases in this country where players are paid under the table."

Barnes said Buchholz and other U.S. Cup team members had been under supervision of the team captain, David L. Freed of Salt Lake City, while in Australia, and observed of Buchholz: "He has received no monies other than the expenses that are approved by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association."

Edward A. Turville of St. Petersburg, Fla., the association's first vice president, said: "If a tennis player wants to take money under the table, by his own act he is showing his dishonesty. I am pleased that they are turning professonal."

Seventh Grade League Games Are Postponed

Four games in the Little Potters Seventh Grade Basketball League scheduled today have been called off. The league will resume Jan. 5.

Slight Damage Occurs When Truck Hits Auto

Minor damage resulted from a collision between a pickup truck and auto on 1st St. at Carolina Ave., Chester, Wednesday afternoon about 2:15, Police Chief Harold Davis reported.

The truck, driven by Kenneth House, 58, of Chester Ave., Wellsville, bumped the rear fender of an auto operated by Roy McCauley, 54, of Newell, Davis said. The chief said the street was slippery.

Air-Conditioning Plan Hampered By Cold Weather

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Cold weather is complicating a $100,000 project to air-condition the 47-year-old Perry Monument at Put-in-Bay, which—contrary to most structures—has the greatest need for air-conditioning when the weather is frigid.

That's because humidity inside the 352-foot-high granite tower goes as high as 95 per cent in the winter and moisture condenses and forms ice layers on the inside walls. When the tons of ice thus formed melt, the water seeps into cracks in the stone, refreezes and widens the cracks.

Robert Burns, superintendent of the monument, said that without the corrective treatment, life of the tower would be drastically shortened. With the air-conditioning project, one of a number of rehabilitation jobs being undertaken by the U.S. National Parks Service, humidity inside the monument will be reduced to about 10 per cent.

The cold weather complications in the project, begun about three weeks ago and scheduled for completion by March, stem from thickening ice in western Lake Erie. Some heavy equipment must be shipped to the island. The Coast Guard has been asked to use one of its ice-cutters to crack a path for the freighter bringing the equipment.

Publisher Claimed

TUCKAHOE, N.Y. (AP)—Frank Mallen, 63, publisher and owner of the Westchester Law Journal, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He formerly was publisher of several weekly newspapers in Westchester and had worked for the old New York City News Association and the old New York Evening Graphic.

Thawing Job Effective But It Leads To Arrest

CINCINNATI (AP) — John H. Bundy's idea for thawing out a frozen outside water faucet presumably was effective Wednedays but it caued his arrest.

Bundy decided to build a fire under the faucet at a frame office building at the Alco Motors. The fire spread up the walls of the building and caused damage estimated at $2,000 including a $400 loss to contents of an upstairs apartment.

Bundy was charged with destruction of property and was cited to a county court under $1,000 bond for a hearing Dec. 29.

Union Files Charges Against Standard Oil

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union filed three unfair labor practice charges against Standard Oil Co. of Ohio Wednesday.

The union said the company has refused to negotiate on a collective bargaining election for No. 1 and No. 2 refineries here and at a plant at Lima. The OCAW seeks to bargain for the 682 employes at the two local refineries and 300 at Lima in one negotiations session. The company wants separate unit-by-unit bargaining.

Liquor Permit Holders Warned On Regulations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It may be New Year's Eve to everyone else, but it will be the same as any other night to liquor control agents.

Ivan W. Smith, chief of the enforcement division of the State Liquor Control Department, warned permit holders not to attempt to bypass regulations New Year's Eve by locking doors and making after-hour sales.

Postmaster Asks Snow Be Cleared From Mail Boxes

Postmaster Sam Brown, "snowed" by the weather and an avalanche of Christmas mail, today appealed to East Liverpool area residents to clear the drifts away from their mail boxes so that delivery trucks can expedite deliveries during the Yule rush.

By clearing the snow from the areas of the mail boxes, residents can help the mailmen deliver as much Christmas mail as possible, the postmaster pointed out.

Snowplows have piled up huge drifts along rural roads, and the mailmen are unable to park their trucks near the boxes, or are forced to wade through the drifts to make the deliveries.

"We would appreciate the homeowners' help by shoveling away the snow from the areas of their mail boxes," Brown explained.

The central Post Office had a record-breaking day Monday with 85,000 cancelations — more than any single day in the past five years. The mailing deposits dropped off a little Tuesday, as the staff made 60,000 cancelations.

By Ida Jean Kain

Office workers with sedentary jobs are apt to be more tense than homemakers. The constant use of small muscles — the muscles of the eyes, fingers and hands — builds up tension, while using the big muscles of the body helps release tensions.

Executives are likely to be more tense than their secretaries, for executives take their problems home with them.

Techniques for relaxing vary from the philosophical approach to dealing directly with the excess tension held in the muscles.

A CLASSIC little book, "A Way Of Life," by Dr. William Osler deals with relaxing from the mental angle. The gist of Dr. Osler's message is a plea to do the day's work and be done with it!

The author emphasizes that the load of tomorrow, added to that of yesterday and carried today, will make the strongest falter. He recommends that we cultivate the habit of living life in day-tight compartments. It takes practice to close a mental door on your work at the close of each day.

But it's a habit, as easy or as hard to adopt as any other habit. Practice shows the way.

Methods of relaxing muscularly also vary. If you have been sitting all day and your muscles feel cramped, rhythmic exercises or a relaxed walk can help you let go. Stretching is also an excellent way to rouse the circulation and ring out tensions. Try it!

If possible, lie down on the floor, on your back and s-t-r-e-t-c-h. Place hands on shoulders, fists clenched. Take a deep breath, lifting the chest. Push back with your head, bending it toward the right, stretching up with the left arm.

Next, bend head toward the left, stretching up strong with the right arm. Stretch and pull and turn, getting the entire body into the movement.

Another method of relaxing calls for deliberate tensing of various muscle groups, followed by methodical "letting-go" of the tensions. The reasoning back of this method is that tension is partly subconscious. By deliberately tensing the muscles and slowly releasing the tension, conscious control is acquired.

—:—

LIE ON YOUR back and close your eyes. You may wish to place a folded towel or soft pillow under the bend of your knees. Start with the muscles of the forehead.

Frown, and feel their tightness. Gently release these muscles. You'll feel the brow smooth out.

Tense your jaw and let go, allowing the jaw to sag. Do this with neck muscles, arms and so on.

With practice you can train the muscles to relax at will. Peace! It's wonderful.

Rusk met the Argentine girl when she came here as a foreign exchange student in 1957. Both currently are students at the University of California at Berkeley. Their engagement was announced in Buenos Aires by her parents. (UPI Telephoto)

Postmaster Asks Snow Be Cleared From Mail Boxes

Postmaster Sam Brown, "snowed" by the weather and an avalanche of Christmas mail, today appealed to East Liverpool area residents to clear the drifts away from their mail boxes so that delivery trucks can expedite deliveries during the Yule rush.

By clearing the snow from the areas of the mail boxes, residents can help the mailmen deliver as much Christmas mail as possible, the postmaster pointed out.

Snowplows have piled up huge drifts along rural roads, and the mailmen are unable to park their trucks near the boxes, or are forced to wade through the drifts to make the deliveries.

"We would appreciate the homeowners' help by shoveling away the snow from the areas of their mail boxes," Brown explained.

The central Post Office had a record-breaking day Monday with 85,000 cancelations — more than any single day in the past five years. The mailing deposits dropped off a little Tuesday, as the staff made 60,000 cancelations.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Plan Calm Christmas Celebration

Christmas time is often a strenuous ordeal for the mother of young children, even for the children themselves. Let me entreat you mothers to plan for Christmas in a way which will not unduly wear you out and shatter your nerves. Please don't be too ambitious in your planning. Aim to come to Christmas Day poised and reasonably calm and serene. Exercise your best judgment about the number of gifts you are going to make or buy for members of the family; also, the number you are going to make or buy for other relatives or friends.

Dr. Garry Meyers

Some mothers, gifted at making lovely things, will try to make far too many and let themselves be encumbered with hours more of work than they have without robbing their sleep, rest or recreation.

—:—

YOU MAY feel you must invite certain friends or relatives for Christmas. But if you are sensible, you will try to have only your own family on Christmas Day. If a relative comes then with several young children, the strain may be overwhelming for you and your whole family; most of the extra burden will really fall on you.

Your husband, being considerate of you, should try to back you in keeping down the strain on you around Christmas. If friends do come for the day, he should pitch in to help lessen your burden.

Even for your own family alone on Christmas Day, don't plan an overambitious program for the Christmas dinner. The simpler it is, the more all of you can really enjoy the day.

IF YOUR children are of elementary school age, let's hope you have them trained to help in the household chores and that Dad will share in guiding them to help you and will also help himself.

Just before Christmas is hardly a favorable time to have a party for the children. Besides, you need to be careful lest you volunteer too heavily to assist in school, church or community parties during the week before Christmas.

Let us hope you will have planned your program so that you can enjoy with your family some of the more precious experiences related to this special day.

My bulletins, "The Nervous, Jittery Mother" and "Enjoying Our Children", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Burned-Out Families' Aid Is Co-Ordinated

Plans for collecting items donated to four Wellsville families whose homes were destroyed by fire a week ago were outlined at a meeting of various organizations Wednesday night at the Carnegie Library.

Represented were Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647, city Welfare Department and the Red Cross.

The VFW and American Legion Post 70 will collect all the items persons have donated. It was announced no more clothing is needed.

The names of persons who have contacted the Red Cross have been turned over to the VFW. The Red Cross is furnishing a food order, according to James Laughlin, chairman.

After the collection is completed, an appeal will be made for any specific items that are needed, Laughlin said.

City Man Hospitalized After Fall Down Stairs

A city man, hurt in a fall at home, was admitted Wednesday night to City Hospital where a Chester girl was treated after a school mishap.

Harold Salsberry, 26, of Meakin St. is in "good" condition with bruises of the ribs and upper back suffered in a fall down 14 steps at home.

Raette Dippolito, 13, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Dippolito, 240 Carolina Ave., Chester, was treated for a laceration of the right side of the forehead received in a fall against a wall at Chester High School.

Firemen Called By Car Fire And Burned Roast

Firemen answered two alarms Wednesday afternoon, one an auto fire and the other blamed on a forgotten piece of meat.

An overheated transmission caused a fire which damaged wiring in a car owned by Russell Jordan of Davis St. Firemen were called to Davis St. at 3:25 p. m.

The department was called to the home of George O. Welker, 901 Orchard Grove Ave. at 4 p. m. when a roast in an oven went dry and burned up. The fire was out on arrival, firemen said.

No Under Table Tricks In Tennis, Prexy Says

By The Associated Press

"I know of no case in this country where players are paid under the table," the president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association said in reply to comments by Davis Cup player Earl Buchholz on the integrity of the amateur game.

Barnes said Buchholz and other U.S. Cup team members had been under supervision of the team captain, David L. Freed of Salt Lake City, while in Australia, and observed of Buchholz: "He has received no monies other than the expenses that are approved by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association."

Edward A. Turville of St. Petersburg, Fla., the association's first vice president, said: "If a tennis player wants to take money under the table, by his own act he is showing his dishonesty. I am pleased that they are turning professonal."

Seventh Grade League Games Are Postponed

Four games in the Little Potters Seventh Grade Basketball League scheduled today have been called off. The league will resume Jan. 5.

Buchholz, of St. Louis, and Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio signed contracts in Sydney, Australia, Wednesday to play with Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe. The two top U.S. stars were on the team which recently lost the interzone finals to Italy. The contracts promised each at least $50,000 in three years.

In signing the pro contract, Buchholz remarked: "We have been taught to be honest and it is always a very uncomfortable and dirty feeling for us to take money under the table as we do as amateurs."

George E. Barnes of Chicago, USLTA president, visiting in Houston, Tex., said in reply: "I feel sure that Mr. Buchholz is referring to world tennis and not to tennis in the United States. If that is so, then he is correct. Other countries do not observe the amateur rules as we do. I know of no cases in this country where players are paid under the table."

Slight Damage Occurs When Truck Hits Auto

Minor damage resulted from a collision between a pickup truck and auto on 1st St. at Carolina Ave., Chester, Wednesday afternoon about 2:15. Police Chief Harold Davis reported.

The truck, driven by Kenneth House, 58, of Chester Ave., Wellsville, bumped the rear fender of an auto operated by Roy McCauley, 54, of Newell, Davis said. The chief said the street was slippery.

Air-Conditioning Plan Hampered By Cold Weather

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Cold weather is complicating a $100,000 project to air-condition the 47-year-old Perry Monument at Put-in-Bay, which—contrary to most structures—has the greatest need for air-conditioning when the weather is frigid.

That's because humidity inside the 352-foot-high granite tower goes as high as 95 per cent in the winter and moisture condenses and forms ice layers on the inside walls. When the tons of ice thus formed melt, the water seeps into cracks in the stone, refreezes and widens the cracks.

Robert Burns, superintendent of the monument, said that without the corrective treatment, life of the tower would be drastically shortened. With the air-conditioning project, one of a number of rehabilitation jobs being undertaken by the U.S. National Parks Service, humidity inside the monument will be reduced to about 10 per cent.

The cold weather complications in the project, begun about three weeks ago and scheduled for completion by March, stem from thickening ice in western Lake Erie. Some heavy equipment must be shipped to the island. The Coast Guard has been asked to use one of its ice-cutters to crack a path for the freighter bringing the equipment.

Publisher Claimed

TUCKAHOE, N.Y. (AP)—Frank Mallen, 63, publisher and owner of the Westchester Law Journal, died Tuesday of a heart attack. He formerly was publisher of several weekly newspapers in Westchester and had worked for the old New York City News Association and the old New York Evening Graphic.

Thawing Job Effective But It Leads To Arrest

CINCINNATI (AP) — John H. Bundy's idea for thawing out a frozen outside water faucet presumably was effective Wednedays but it caued his arrest.

Bundy decided to build a fire under the faucet at a frame office building at the Alco Motors. The fire spread up the walls of the building and caused damage estimated at $2,000 including a $400 loss to contents of an upstairs apartment.

Bundy was charged with destruction of property and was cited to a county court under $1,000 bond for a hearing Dec. 29.

Union Files Charges Against Standard Oil

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union filed three unfair labor practice charges against Standard Oil Co. of Ohio Wednesday.

The union said the company has refused to negotiate on a collective bargaining election for No. 1 and No. 2 refineries here and at a plant at Lima. The OCAW seeks to bargain for the 682 employes at the two local refineries and 300 at Lima in one negotiations session. The company wants separate unit-by-unit bargaining.

Liquor Permit Holders Warned On Regulations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It may be New Year's Eve to everyone else, but it will be the same as any other night to liquor control agents.

Ivan W. Smith, chief of the enforcement division of the State Liquor Control Department, warned permit holders not to attempt to bypass regulations New Year's Eve by locking doors and making after-hour sales.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service-Safety of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, December 30, 1960, for the purchase of a six to seven ton bulldozer for use in the Garbage-Trash Removal Department according to specifications now on file in the office of said Director.

Said bidders shall bid on either or both of the following bases:

(a) With no trade-in of city equipment,

(b) With a simultaneous sale to the bidder of a 1957 Oliver OC 12 with blade now owned by the city (which is no longer fit for public use) with the stipulation that the sale price of the city vehicle be subtracted from the purchase price of the new vehicle as a means of determining the lowest and best bidder and to enter into a single contract for the sale of said city vehicle and purchases of said new vehicle described above.

Each bid must contain the full names of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of 5% of the bid for the new vehicle payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted, a contract shall be entered into and its performance properly secured. Should any bid be rejected such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

Envelopes containing bids should be marked on outside "Bulldozer Bid".

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service-Safety of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, December 30, 1960, for the purchase of a six to seven ton bulldozer for use in the Garbage-Trash Removal Department according to specifications now on file in the office of said Director.

Said bidders shall bid on either or both of the following bases:

(a) With no trade-in of city equipment.

(b) With a simultaneous sale to the bidder of a 1957 Oliver OC 12 with blade now owned by the city (which is no longer fit for public use) with the stipulation that the sale price of the city vehicle be subtracted from the purchase price of the new vehicle as a means of determining the lowest and best bidder and to enter into a single contract for the sale of said city vehicle and purchases of said new vehicle described above.

Each bid must contain the full names of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of 5% of the bid for the new vehicle payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted, a contract shall be entered into and its performance properly secured. Should any bid be rejected such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

Envelopes containing bids should be marked on outside "Bulldozer Bid".

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You never got a letter like this in your life.

I read in your column the other day a list of the things a girl 12 years old should be doing around the house. I'm 14 and my mother won't let me do any of the things you mentioned. I showed her your column and she said, "I don't care what Ann Landers says, I have to do things my own way."

I want to polish silverware, do the dinner dishes, dust and run the vacuum sweeper but Mom won't let me.

She says I don't do things the way she does and she never feels that the dishes are clean when I wash them. Even when I hang up my own clothes in the closet she hangs them over. She's forever "re-straightening" my drawers.

Mom always has to have the last touch. Can you help me? — NOT CAPABLE.

Dear Not Capable: Your mother needs help — not you. She's a perfectionist who can't permit anyone to do anything because she needs the ego satisfaction which comes from doing everything herself.

Tell her you know you can't do things as well as she because you haven't had her years of experience. Try to get her to understand that unless she gives you a chance to practice, you'll never learn.

You should have assigned daily chores. If you don't pass Mom's inspection on the first try do it over until she's satisfied.

Refreshingly Honest

Dear Ann: My husband's business takes him out of the city one week out of every month. Is there something wrong with me because I don't mind? I'm happy to see him leave but I'm also happy to see him come home.

When my friends ask, "How do you get along without your husband all week?" I reply, "Just fine." They look at me as if I were a terrible woman. They seem to think I should be pining my heart out.

The week my husband is away I catch up on the mending, heavy cleaning, reading, visiting with friends he doesn't particularly enjoy — and it's fun. I'm independent. I go to sleep late, get up late and do whatever suits my fancy.

Is there something wrong with me? — QUEER DUCK.

Dear Duck: You sound perfectly normal — and refreshingly honest. I suspect the women who needle you because you don't fold up like an accordion when your husband leaves town, secretly wish their husbands would take off now and then.

Pass Receiver

Dear Ann: I'm a happily married woman with children. I took a job in a department store to make extra money. My supervisor has been making passes at me. He always has something smart to say such as, "I had a wonderful dream about you last night."

He telephones me at home to ask inane questions about the business. I just about collapse when I hear his voice on the phone. He has a reputation for being a ladies man although he's been married for years.

I can't tell my husband because he's not well and I don't want to upset him. What shall I do?—OHIO D.

Dear Ohio: Have you thought of working elsewhere? If this is impractical I recommend that you be blunt with him as you were with me. Warn him if he phones you at home again you'll bang the receiver down in his ear — then do it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jaycees Plan Future Events

Plans for future activities were outlined at a meeting of the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the Carnegie Public Library. Twenty-five attended.

A report was heard on the progress of construction of a pavilion at Hammond Park. The pavilion is being constructed by the Jaycees in co-operation with the Park Commission.

The club voted to purchase Welcome to Wellsville signs to erect at the entrances to the city. Frank Fusco, chairman, reported on the basketball tournament to be held after the high school basketball season in the area. Any teams interested may contact him.

Bill Miller reported on the Christmas parade, which was termed a success. Plans were made to publish a community activity calendar.

A social event will be held in January for members and wives. A gavel will be given to the wives for their work the past year.

Jack Lanam, president, presided. Don Wellington gave the invocation.

Road Needs Surveyed

LISBON — Columbiana County township trustees met Wednesday at the Courthouse with K. Ray Smail of the State Planning and Survey Division, who will study township roads to determine the number of miles each subdivision will receive credit for under the Wheeler Bill, which allocates aid on the basis of mileage. Smail said he will inspect the roads personally for his annual report when weather permits.

Highway Truck Chain Snags Wellsville Car

The snow can be blamed for a freak accident in Wellsville Tuesday night at 10:05, involving a Columbiana County Highway Department truck and a parked car.

Police said a chain on the rear wheels of the truck broke loose and hooked the fender of a car owned by Ilene Milligan, 521 Broadway, which was parked in front of her home.

The truck then pulled the car into a tree, officers said. The truck was being driven by Alex Jenkins, 526 Broadway.

Cars driven by Bill McConnell, 1027 Center St., Wellsville, and Clyde Crook of Hammondsville collided at 4th St. and Riverside Ave. at 4:30 p. m., police said.

How Can I?

Q. Do you have any advice on the turning of men's shirt collars?

A. An easy way is to rip it off at the seam where the band and collar join, not where the band joins the shirt. Then turn and sew it back without having the trouble of making a new buttonhole on the band.

Q. How can I clean off the stains on some of my chinaware?

A. Be sure you're cleaning off the stains only, and not taking off the decorations with them. Instead of scouring powder, which is hard on decorations, use salt and soda to cleanse away the offending spots.

VanHorne Plans Visit To Cleveland College

George VanHorne, executive head of Beaver Local Schools, said today he plans to visit the Carnegie College at Cleveland to determine the scholastic level of the institution for which some Beaver Local seniors have applied for admission.

VanHorne said he had advised students to postpone enrollment until the facilities and status of the college, member of the Affiliated Carnegie Schools, can be determined fully.

The Cleveland school provides courses in medical technology and secretarial study among other instruction. VanHorne said he had no recommendations for or against the institution pending his study of the school.

He said he had already conferred with college representatives who have shown some accreditations.

Ohio Township Scouts Hold Annual Dinner

Ohio Township Girl Scout Troop 110 held its annual spaghetti dinner and Christmas gift exchange Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Rice Jr., leader.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Dawson and Mrs. Eleanor Daniels, committee women. Decorations included red and green streamers.

Next meeting is Jan. 7 at the home of Mrs. Rice.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You never got a letter like this in your life.

I read in your column the other day a list of the things a girl 12 years old should be doing around the house. I'm 14 and my mother won't let me do any of the things you mentioned. I showed her your column and she said, "I don't care what Ann Landers says, I have to do things my own way."

I want to polish silverware, do the dinner dishes, dust and run the vacuum sweeper but Mom won't let me.

She says I don't do things the way she does and she never feels that the dishes are clean when I wash them. Even when I hang up my own clothes in the closet she hangs them over. She's forever "re-straightening" my drawers.

Mom always has to have the last touch. Can you help me? — NOT CAPABLE.

Dear Not Capable: Your mother needs help — not you. She's a perfectionist who can't permit anyone to do anything because she needs the ego satisfaction which comes from doing everything herself.

Tell her you know you can't do things as well as she because you haven't had her years of experience. Try to get her to understand that unless she gives you a chance to practice, you'll never learn.

You should have assigned daily chores. If you don't pass Mom's inspection on the first try do it over until she's satisfied.
